Dear Jane:

The Christian Nationalist Crusade is Gerald L. K. Smith's outfit and has been purveying the vilest kind of hate literature, bordering on the pornographic, for a good many years. The only candidate Mr. Smith would support would be Orville Faubus, Lar Daly, Strom Thurmond or possibly Barry Goldwater. Mr. Smith and his ilk consider Dwight D. Eisenhower a left wing radical and undoubtedly are most unhappy with Tricky Dick Nixon's attempts to convince the public that he is in favor of civil rights and progress. For many years Smith and his cohorts have been trying to convince the American public that F.D.R.'s name really was Rosenfeldt and that Eisenhower also is Jewish, that Earl Warren is a communist or the tool of communists, etc.

I suggest that you ignore his material and advise anyone who receives it to do the same.

If you want documentation of what I have said hereinabove or samples of Smith's literature, please let me know and I will be happy to send it to you.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Rudy", with a large, stylized loop at the end.
