

All hail the 'Earth Mother!'

If just a few hundred students can turn the tide, SF State's next Homecoming Queen will be Jane the Earth Mother, a tall, buxom drama major who will probably be banned from the contest because her sponsor, "the earth," is not an on-campus group.

Flying out of nowhere, yesterday inside a bird cage, the "magic" Jane perched herself atop a garbage can near the coffee shop around 2:30 p.m., sporting a flimsy tiara and waving her "magic wand," a part of a wire coat-hanger.

They all tie in, as she said later during her own presentation on the Speaker's Platform before more than 300 approving listeners.

Birds will be her escort to the Homecoming Ball, she said, and, to prove her amicability with birds, she performed several calls, arousing a goose, flying over the platform, to salute her with a "honk, honk."

Also, "I'm magic," she claimed, while "the other candidates are just people."

Jane is actually a human being herself, named Jane Dornacker, whose records reveal extensive drama experience at her New Mexico high school.

As the "Earth Mother" candidate, she plans to run on a platform fairly shouting, "Give me your poor, your tired, your huddled masses, breathing free — or freely, whichever you prefer."

While hundreds of listeners cried, "We want Jane!" repeatedly, others shook their heads and wondered aloud, "Is she on a jag?"

And her official status as a candidate is yet to be determined. While students will "remember that when you go to the polls, the EARTH is under you," their votes may not officially count.

Meanwhile, Homecoming queen voting, for five finalists out of ten "legit" contestants, closes today, and winners will be announced at a rally tomorrow night.

Striker aid debate

The AS Legislature, meeting today in Ed 207 at 12:15 p.m., will debate a resolution offering support for striking farm workers in Kern and Tulare counties.

Russell Bass, speaker, said yesterday any student can come to the meeting and offer an opinion on the measure.

Dodd denies power-play try

By JERRY TOWNSEND

It was all a misunderstanding. Essentially, this was President Paul Dodd's response to the SF State Foundation Board of Governors' complaints that he was encroaching on their power.

In a telephone interview with the Gater, Dodd attempted to justify his letter to the Board requesting written administrative approval of matters concerning facilities and personnel before finalization and implementation.

"All I am trying to do is create a clear understanding of presidential responsibility for the Board's actions."

"I MUST make sure its doings are compatible with college policies. I'm terribly sorry my intent was misinterpreted."

"The indefinite status of our Bookstore lease agreement with the Foundation makes this certification essential."

The Foundation is a "non-profit" corporation, licensed by the state, and must lease the property for the Bookstore, Commons, and Tubs from the college.

Since the lease expired in November 1964, Foundation director Fred Avilez has repeatedly attempted to obtain a new document acceptable to the Chancellor's office.

That office, however, is in the process of drawing up a "blanket-policy" lease, spelling out procedures for such corporations in all of the 18 colleges.

The President also expressed concern about a "breakdown in communications" between he and the Foundation.

"I have not been fully informed of Board actions and decisions," he said. Dodd admittedly receives a copy of Board minutes, but commented, "There has been a gradual loss of contact between the Foundation and the President."

"My request was not precipitated by any specific action of the Board," he emphasized, "but we need to bridge this gap, fill this vacuum, and provide for presidential regulations."

As an example of the problem he is endeavoring to eliminate, Dodd pointed to the proposed bookstore addition.

"I was shocked to find out last week that plans had already been made without my knowledge."

On June 23, 1964, Dodd seconded a motion approving the financial planning program, which provided for a $38,000 appropriation from surplus funds to finance additional bookstore facilities.

Architectural planning began in February, 1965. The addition was mentioned prominently in Gater news stories on March 5 and April 29 of this year, besides the October 8 story, headlined, "$650,000 Bookstore addition wrapped in red tape: finances."

"There's no conflict of interests between the Foundation and my office, and besides, review takes only a couple of days."

But even Dodd himself doesn't know how long a couple of days will last in the case of the Bookstore addition. He is confined to his home by doctor's orders and can't say how soon he will be allowed to return.

In the meantime, the Foundation's advanced Bookstore planning must be held up. Fred Avilez, Foundation director, has architectural and financial problems worked out and the package is ready for the Board's consideration.

Dodd demands to see it first.

Pop art goes anti-war

Wars, whores and revolution are the subjects of a pop art anti-war musical comedy that will play here today at 12:30 p.m. in the Main Auditorium.

Described as a political pop art production, "Change Over!" deals with such events as civil rights, the war in Vietnam and the India-Pakistan dispute.

The group producing the play calls itself Popstage, and is composed largely of members of the Actor's Workshop and the SF Mime Troupe.

"Change Over!" was written by Fred Hayden, a native of Puerto Rico, who describes it as "one of the country's first pop art pieces conceived for the theatre."

Tickets are now on sale at Hut T-1 and the Vietnam

Letters to the Editor

Blood donations . . .

Editor:
During the last year and a half, my wife and I have received thirteen pints of blood from the San Francisco State College account with the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank.

Next Thursday, November 11, the Bloodmobile will be on campus to accept voluntary donations of blood to the college account.

Both students and faculty helped to replenish the supply that my wife and I received, but the supply drops low enough each year to require a college-wide campaign.

I urge all who can to make appointments for donations on November 5, 8, 9 and 10.

Sincerely yours,
Richard Waidelich

Almost miniscule

Editor:
The coverage that has appeared in the San Francisco newspapers of the current agricultural worker's strike could be charitably described as miniscule. Many Bay Area residents would have remained unaware of the dramatic struggle of the two unions at Delano had it not been for the Gater. A victory at Delano could well inaugurate a new era for California's farm workers, and the Gater is to be commended for having reported it from the beginning.

A life-saver . . .

Editor:
This letter is to express my sincere appreciation for the six pints of blood donated to me so promptly when requested. This generous donation played a major part in saving my wife's life when unforeseen complications arose at the time of the birth of my firstborn son.

Sincerely,

The Only Cause To Die For

Youth is a time for commitment to a cause, for service to humanity, for revolution against the injustices of the day. The trouble with most peace movements, worthy causes, and protest groups is their unrealistic foundations and missing spiritual resources. It is one thing to stir up a storm and quite another to accomplish any lasting results; it is easy to raise question, but harder to effect a cure.

The missing power in many groups, and churches, and movements of reform, is Jesus Christ. The missing "something" in many human hearts, the answer to that human need to "be somebody," is Jesus Christ. It was Jesus Christ who said, "He would find his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for my sake and the gospel's will find it." In a universe where a sovereign God still holds the strings of history it just doesn't pay to serve counterfeit causes or to be content with second best.

Perhaps you've wondered about the zeal of early Christian martyrs or the fire of Wesley, Calvin, Luther and Knox. Do you know that the fire and power of a living Christ are just as available today? If you mean business with God why not rise to the claims of Jesus Christ as Paul did when he found out, "it is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me" (Galatians 2:20). The cause of Christ still is the most dangerous and revolutionary cause the world has ever seen, but it is a cause which is guaranteed not to fail. What every man finds in Jesus Christ he can never lose; a Christian knows, not believes, he possesses eternal life. "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? As it is written, 'For thy sake we are being killed all the day long; we are regarded as sheep to be slaughtered.' No in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 8:35-39).

Experience is the best test of truth, and there is nothing like joining the club to get the inside story. Why not check out the cause of Christ and find out for yourself He really is worth dying for.

Signups for blood drive

The annual SF State blood drive takes place next Thursday, November 11. Students who are willing and able to donate a pint of blood are urged to do so. Signup tables will be in front of the library and Commons tomorrow, November 8, 9 and 10.

The blood will be placed in the SF State account of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank. Charles L. Earlenbaugh, assistant dean of students, explained that the account is for the use of SF State students and their immediate family. The use of the blood is free except for a small processing charge. Students may repay the account but are not required to do so.

Students are needed to man the signup tables. Those who wish to give their time and service to a good cause should contact Earlenbaugh at Ad 114.

Last year's drive netted more than 115 pints of blood. The record in the eight-year-old program is 187 pints donated in 1962. Earlenbaugh said the goal this year is 150 pints.

Of the 158 persons who signed up to donate last year, only 130 kept their appointments with the Blood Mobile and 14 were rejected for medical reasons.

More Gift-Paks may be forthcoming from Los Angeles at a later date, according to Charles Earlenbaugh, assistant to the dean of students and co-ordinator of distributions here.

CAN YOU STUDY

AT THE RATE OF

1000 WORDS PER MINUTE

Many UC law students can. More than 150 of them have completed the course in rapid and perceptive reading given by the internationally famous Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. Some are reading faster than 1,500 words per minute.

- You will see a Reading Dynamics graduate read at amazing speeds from a book he has never seen before and then tell in detail what he has read.
- You will see a documented film that includes actual interviews with Washington Congressmen who have taken the course.
- You will learn how we can help you to faster reading, improved comprehension, greater recall.

HOW IS THIS POSSIBLE?

Eighteen years ago Evelyn Wood, a Utah schoolteacher, made a startling discovery that led to the founding of Reading Dynamics. While working toward a master's degree, she handed a term paper to a professor and watched him read the 80 pages at 6,000 words per minute — with outstanding recall and comprehension. Determined to find the secret behind such rapid reading, she spent the next two years tracking down 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words per minute. She studied their techniques, taught herself to read at these faster rates. Now, after years of experience in public schools and universities, she has made it possible for you to benefit from this great discovery.

IS IT SIMPLY A PROMOTION STUNT?

Over the past eleven years more than 200,000 graduates have been convinced that Reading Dynamics is a proven method. About Reading Dynamics' impact on our nation's legislators, Time Magazine said "Washington has seen nothing like it since the days when Teddy Roosevelt read three books a day and ran the country at the same time."

SENATOR PROXMIRE
Wisconsin

"I must say that this is one of the most useful education experiences I have ever had. It certainly compares favorably with the experience I've had at Yale and Harvard."

SENATOR TALMADGE
Georgia

"It is my opinion that if these techniques were instituted in the public and private schools of our country, it would be the greatest single step which we could take in educational progress."

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450-600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and many go even higher.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times with good comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests.

Mike Mullen stops most of the shots

By RICK GAMBLE

SF State doesn't have the best water polo team in Northern California, but its Mike Mullen may be the best goalie in the area.

The 6'3", 185 lb. senior is one of the main reasons coach Walt Hanson's club has enjoyed a successful season so far.

Coach Hanson says, "Mullen is an outstanding asset to the team. He made some mistakes early in the season, but he has been responsible for much of the success the team has had this year."

Mullen's friends talked him into going out for the high school water polo team in his senior year. He was used as a goalie; the team didn't have anyone else who could play the position.

After high school, Mullen enrolled at American River Junior College. He earned his varsity letter as a freshman, and was named to the Central Valley Conference all-league team.

He entered SF State in the fall of 1964, and lettered last year as a goalie, but it was not until this season that he became an outstanding performer.

A public administration major, Mullen is taking 16 units and working 35 hours a week.

"Water polo is a fantastic team sport," said Mullen, "but there is also individual competition within the totality of the team. I enjoy the game because it gives me personal satisfaction when the team or myself plays a good game."

Mullen has had some outstanding games this season. He held a strong Fresno State team to five goals in a 10-5 Gator victory.

Against Santa Clara, Mullen held the visitors scoreless over the last three quarters and scored one goal himself to lead SF State to a 13-2 victory. He also held Claremont College to two goals in a 4-2 Gator victory.

Despite these fine early season performances, Mullen has been at his best in the last four games, of which the Gators have won two.

In the UC Davis game, Mullen blocked 16 Aggie shots before the undefeated Aggies won an 8-5 overtime victory.

Mullen followed that performance with 20 saves as the Gators defeated University of the Pacific, 6-3.

SF State then played the number one team in the country, Stanford. While Jim Dunn, Rusty Mills, and Fred Kennelly were combining for four first half goals, Mullen was blocking shot after shot, some sensational, and the underdog Gators were ahead, 4-2, at halftime. In the second half, the outmanned Gators succumbed to the Stanford blitz and lost 10-6. But SF State had given the Tribe its toughest game of the season.

In their most recent action, the Gators downed Sacramento State, 7-5, and Mullen has 16 saves.

"The guys on our team have put out so much," he said. "I wouldn't be worth beans if our guards and forwards weren't doing their jobs."

Coach Hanson agreed, adding:

"Our defensive play has been good this season. We have given our goalie better protection than in the past."

He reminded that "Mullen is much improved over his play at the beginning of the season. He has the physical size, he's quick, and is able to cover the large cage very well."

Mullen's ultimate goal may be reached Saturday at Davis when SF State competes for the War Western Conference championship.

"We are going to win it all in Davis," the husky goalie said. "The guys on the team know we can win if we just play consistently."
