Images

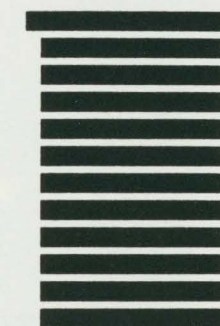

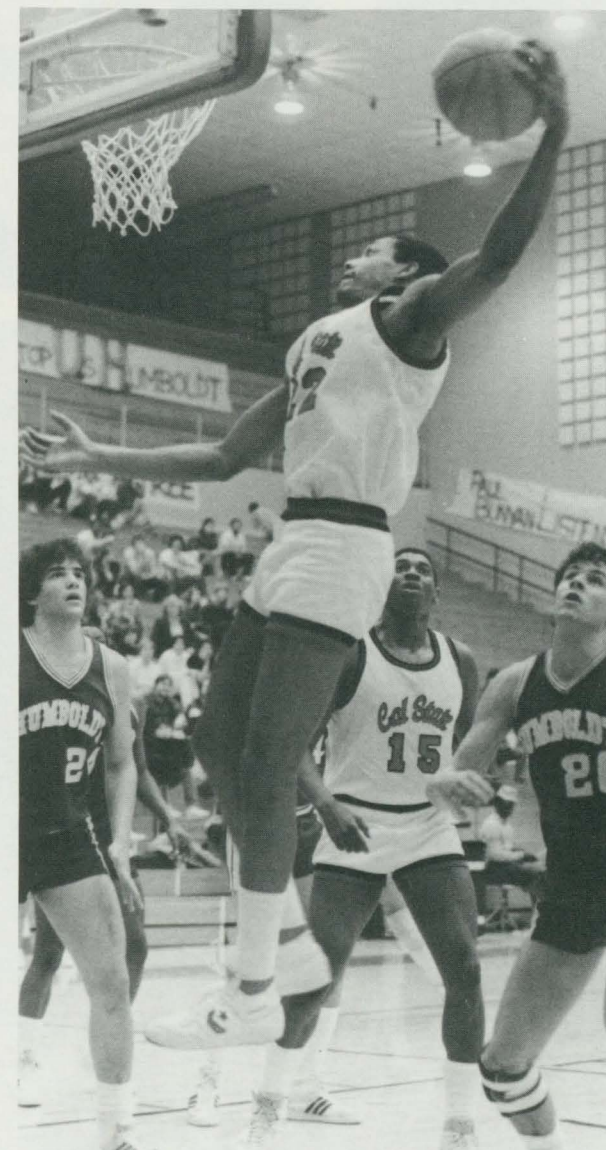

Change

Cal State Hayward's changing image is apparent in the new look of the Student Union building, a championship basketball team, and a new school logo.

CAL STATE

1985 saw the completion of the Student Union building (opposite left), (upper right). A new school image was represented in a logo depicting E. Guy Warren Hall (middle), while the Cal State men's basketball team put up a tough fight all year long (bottom) and won the NCAC championship.

Fine Arts

Fine Arts

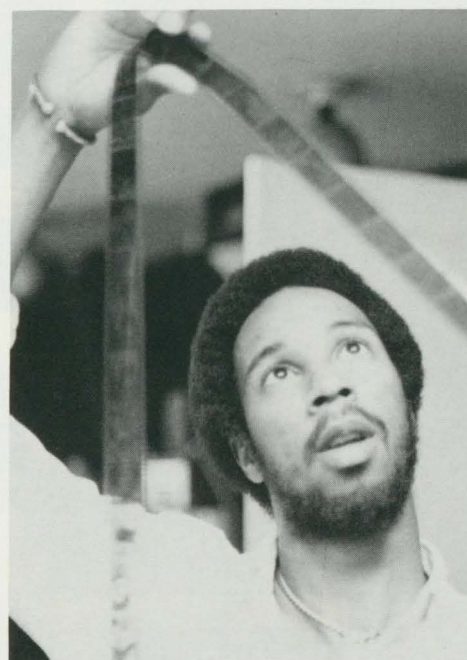

Right: The Anthropology Department "Give Peace A Chance," an exhibit of children's art work on the topic of peace, during winter quarter. Bottom: Susan Siggy plays the flute with the CSUH Symphony.

!! Activities !?

The Associated Students and the Interclub Council sponsored several activities throughout the year. They also helped fund several club-sponsored events on campus. The Spirit Squad, Tri-Sigma Sorority and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority co-sponsored a traditional Homecoming celebration complete with a king and queen contest. Eight women and four men competed in the contest "just for the fun of it," said King George O'Neil. A proposed mascot change from the Pioneers to the Vampires prompted new enthusiasm for the University community to rally behind the commuter campus. During the spring election, however, the students, faculty and staff voted to retain the old mascot.

Below: Head Cheerleader Carrie Rohlfing drops a poster with the message, "Fang you Davis," while the Spirit Squad performs during homecoming half-time.

The Associated Students sponsored several "College Night" socials at such local restaurants as Casa Carlita's and Round Table Pizza. A "Back to School" dance was held in the Meiklejohn Hall courtyard which more than 500 students attended. The annual "Love Boat" dinner/dance in February sold out and gave students a chance to enjoy a cruise on the San Francisco Bay. Business clubs, such as the American Marketing Association and the Data Processing Management Association, continued to sponsor monthly wine and cheese socials and "Meet the Firms" events to give students a chance to network corporations.

Cultural events were co-sponsored by Interclub Council and various campus organizations. The Black Student Union organized Black History Month in February and hosted guest speakers, a dance and musical performances. The Asian Student Union held a Chinese New Year celebration complete with a dancing dragon, fireworks and free food. The club got together with the Philipino-American Student Association to sponsor Asian Pacific Heritage week in May. M.E. Ch.A co-sponsored the annual Cinco de Mayo celebration in front of the new University Union. Some Cal State students and professors also supported the state-wide CSU system boycott during the Anti-Apartheid Rally to show support for divestment against American companies investing in segregated South Africa.

Right: Milton Freeman encourages the Cal State community to wear a red ribbon in support of divestment of U.S. companies in South Africa during a noon rally in May.

Above: A.S. President Damone Hale enjoys the spring luau sponsored by Movement in Time (dance club) and the Asian Business Association.

Pardi Gras '85 was held the week of May 28-June 4. Various clubs, including Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., Asian Students Union, Spirit Squad, and the Italian Travel Club participated. Tri-Sigma Sorority sponsored an end of the year dance that was moved from Meiklejohn courtyard to the temporary Union because of the threat of spring showers.

Top: Associated Students sponsored several noon time concerts including this group, "The Ha Ha's".

Activities

Right: Women of Sigma, Sigma, Sigma Sorority release purple and white balloons during a noon membership drive.

Below: Darryl Moses of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., leads a tour of high school students through Cal State during AS sponsored "College Info Day".

Sports

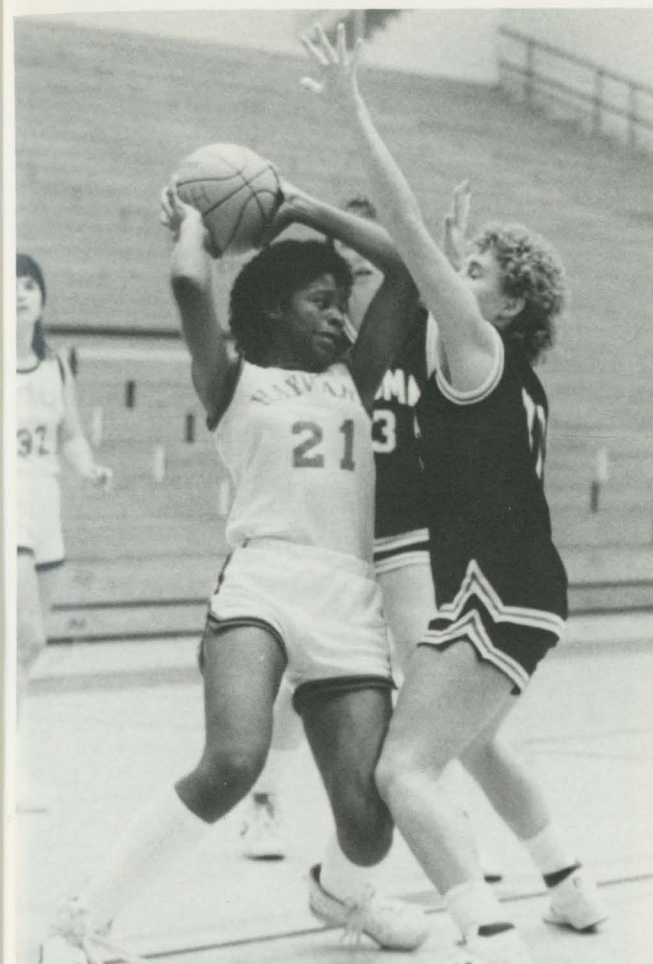

Cal State enjoyed a championship season this year as they had a combined record of 149-102-6. Gary Hulst (below left) gave everyone plenty to cheer about with his basketball team, while Dawn Hilgenberg (left) turned the softball team around. Cye Adams (below right) came all the way from New York to drive the hoopsters to the top.

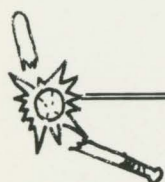

Sports

Some of Cal State's women's sports teams reached for glory this year while others didn't reach their potential. The women's tennis team, with new stars like Tricia Gallagher (right), fought hard under a new coach. The gymnastics team found a freshmen sensation in Melody Hillier (below). The softball team (bottom) experienced the most success by winning Northern California Athletic Conference title.

Sports

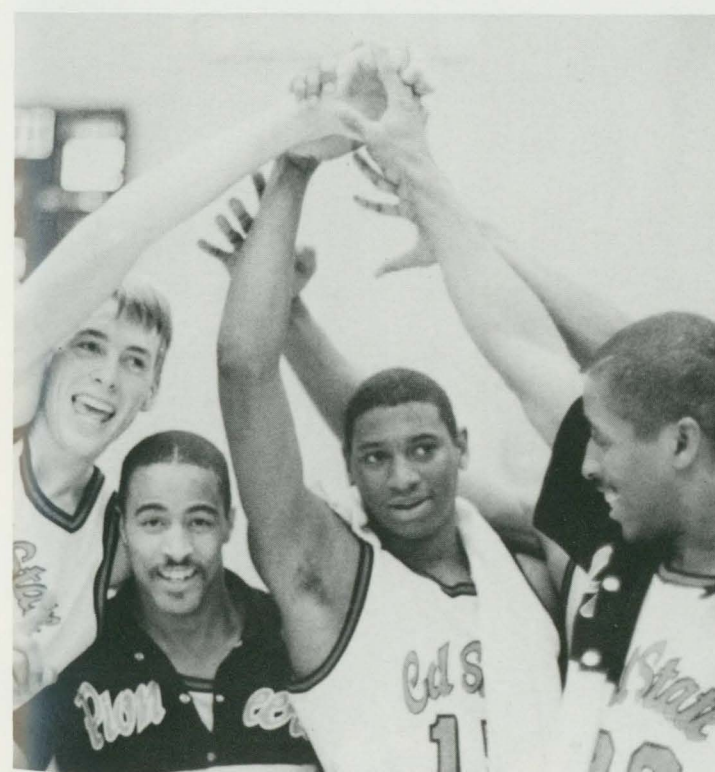

Cal State fans were thrilled by the success the men's basketball and tennis teams had this year. Both teams brought Northern California Athletic Conference titles home to Cal State.

The men's basketball team was the most successful Cal State ever as the Pioneers won the NCAC and the division II western regionals.

Coach Tierney saw the Pioneers through one of the most successful seasons ever. The locals lost a heartbreaker to U.C. Davis, 13-12. Two conversion points and CSUH would have had the league crown.
