The Speech Communication Department offers courses leading to a bachelor of arts degree with a major or minor in speech communication and master of arts degree in speech arts.

The curriculum is designed to provide courses appropriate to prepare students for careers in teaching, law, communication professions, public service and administration, and industrial communication management. The departmental major and minor requirements include courses relating to rhetorical and communication theories. The department affords the student majoring in fields other than speech many courses which focus upon communication factors as they apply to any field of study. Students planning to pursue graduate work in speech communication should consult their advisers and the graduate schools of their choice regarding requirements for admission and should plan to use their electives within the major largely to satisfy such requirements.

In addition to departmental programs, many courses are offered which fulfill general education requirements and which provide the knowledge and background necessary to enjoy and contribute to our free society.

* No more than 3 units of Spch 15-115 can count toward fulfillment of these 12 units.

Note: In consultation with your departmental adviser, you may use these electives to fit your particular interests and professional aspirations. The following directions are examples of uses that the Speech Communication Department recommends and in which our students have shown interest.

Public Administration: PI Si 3, 181, and one upper division political science course from each of the following areas: Political Theory, American Government, Local Government (see Political Science Department course offerings). Free electives should be used to gain additional work in communication and public administration or work in personnel management and public relations. See your adviser.

Credential Program: For information on the current credential program consult departmental advisers and the School of Education; see the section on Public School Credentials.

Prelegal. In consultation with your departmental adviser, courses from the choices listed above in the Major should be carefully selected, as should appropriate electives. Speech 105 is strongly recommended as an elective course. See also the catalog's general Prelegal description under Preprofessional Preparation.
