Kapers ducats are going fast: Smith

This year's version of the campus Kapers, the annual $ sponsored all-campus musical revue, opens tomorrow night to an expected sell-out house, according to Richard Smith, Kapers' Business Manager.

Smith informed the Gater that tickets for this Saturday's performance are already gone, as are most seats for the following weekend's performance. "But good seats are still available for the Wednesday and Thursday performances," Smith said, "but we don't promise for how long."

The Creative Arts Box Office is doing an average daily business of $600, according to Smith. Larry Sturges, Kapers' publicity head, said that this year's increase of 300 per cent over last year's advance ticket buying.

Kampus Kapers '63 will present six performances, starting tonight, Saturday night, and from Wednesday, February 20 through Saturday, February 23. The performances begin at 8:30 p.m. and tickets are available at $2 for center row seats, and $1.50 for aisle seats.

Cambridge girl calm about bare chest in revue

Cambridge, England (UPI) — Diane "Call Me Dilly" Thomas, 18, sees no reason to get excited because she and five other Cambridge girl students pose seminude in a play.

"I can't see what all the fuss is about, we are only naked from the waist up," Miss Thomas said Tuesday night before the opening performance.

The coed and her five partners are from the Cambridge College of Art and Technology.

They appear briefly in the college production of "Expresso Bongo."

"Only people with nasty minds would object," the blonde Miss Thomas said.

The show opened to a full house and cheers.

Spring recitals to begin

The duet from the first act of Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Rigoletto" will highlight the first Recital Hour of the spring semester, and will be presented by the Creative Arts department of music tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Main Auditorium.

Featured in the act from "Rigoletto" will be Bonna-Bloom as "Gilda," Alva

Henderson portraying "Rigoletto," with Lloyd Carroll at the piano and staging by Alva Henderson.

"Sonata No. 3 in A Minor" by Antonio Vivaldi will be performed by violincelloist John Bennett and pianist Anne Turley.

Soprano Merrilee Stucke and harpist Beverly Bellows will present "Two Songs" based on the poems of Robert Frost and written by Stu-

Peaceful integration

Student bill praises Clemson

SF State's Associated Student Legislature conducted its first session of the spring semester Tuesday.

A resolution was passed commending the students of Clemson College for their "peaceful" conduct during the recent integration of the South Carolina school.

During the hour-long debate concerning the wording of the document, the legislators argued over alleged de-facto segregation at SF State and the general racial climate in San Francisco proper.

A question was raised concerning the second part of the resolution which encouraged correspondence between the students of SF State and Clemson on possible solutions to racial discrimination in the states of California and South Carolina.

AS treasurer Tom Ramsey explained that there was a valid reason to admit that there were areas of segregation on campus. He cited the seating patterns in the cafeteria and the racial make-up of the fraternities as proof of his point.

When passed, the resolution contained an invitation for correspondence on racial problems and expressed praise for the actions of the Clemson students and commended them for their mature approach to integration.

Academic Senate wins faculty okay

By PHYLLIS RECORD

Faculty members of the California State Colleges voted an overwhelming majority for approval of a proposed constitution of a statewide Academic Senate. The approval came at a board of trustees meeting last Friday at San Jose.

The Academic Senate, requested by Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, will act in an advisory capacity in curriculum development, academic policy and promotion and tenure of faculty.

The proposed Senate has weathered much controversy since its inception:

Heading this controversy is the dividing up of academic divisions among various colleges. For instance, the Senate would have the authority to make recommendations to establish a department of education solely at SF State College.

In this case, State college students wishing to obtain an AB in education would be required to come to SF State College.

If any such changes are considered, they will become effective only after several years.

One of the primary advantages of the proposed Senate will be that of establishing a closer interrelationship between the Chancellor and state college faculty. The Chancellor and Trustees would receive and consider recommendations made by the Academic Senate, composed of representative members of the various state colleges.

The trustees will meet in Sacramento on March 7-8 to begin action to establish the Senate.

Mexican tour on bus planned by College 'Y'

Students and faculty members interested in the College Y sponsored tour of Mexico must file applications before Feb. 21.

The six week tour, from July 13 to August 24, is priced at approximately $400.

The group will travel by chartered bus down the coast into Mexico City and back into the United States by the eastern route.

Applications are in the College Y, Hut T-2. A $100 deposit is due before February 21. The deposit may be made at the cashier's office, Hut T-1.

A fifty mile hike

WHAT THIS SCHOOL needs is a 50 mile hike. What better way to prove leadership, authority, and executive ability than to engage in a marathon expedition?

The hike could be used to solve all the school's problems: faculty office space, closed classes, and other details which are now settled according to who has the most power.

WITH ADMINISTRATION, faculty, and students participating, a single race would settle the entire affair. AS president Jay Folberg could race President Paul Dodd for the title to the Tubs. What faculty office space is available could be allotted on a basis of where faculty members finished in the race.

Early finishing students could be given precedent in selecting classes. Collections to pay their tuition could be taken up as well.

THE BEAUTY OF THIS plan is that the many different ways of deciding this sort of thing which exist now would be all consolidated and taken care of in one week-end. And it would be just as fair because it is just as arbitrary.

More money could be raised this way. Besides charging an entry fee equivalent to the present registration fee, a lottery could be held. The money raised this way could help finance a college union.

ALL THIS IS QUITE silly, but it's the sort of thing with which the Kennedy Administration has been occupying the country this week.

In the meantime, a report by a special committee of the Organization of American States which contradicts Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's estimate of Soviet weapons in Cuba is kept secret.

WE DO NOT BELIEVE this country is in any danger from Cuba, but we do believe in a free flow of information. Kennedy abuses his responsibility to the nation by simply denying reports which contradict his official pronouncements and then turning the spotlight on something as silly as a 50 mile hike.

Despite White House claims that the President doesn't really like this sort of publicity, Kennedy himself has done nothing to discourage it.

"The truth of the matter is, the only 'safe amount' for humans is . . . none at all!"

Letters to the Editor

Liberian thanks

Editor:

On behalf of the Liberian students of San Francisco State College, I wish to extend our appreciation and gratitude to President Dodd, the faculty members and wives and also to the Associated Students for making our Christmas meaningful by honoring us at the Christmas dinner. It is an unforgettable event in our lives.

The female students in particular, thank the nurses at the Student Health Center for the wonderful treat given them on Thursday, January 14.

Our stay at this college is most delightful.

Georgia Beatrice Williams

Poor man's Poland

Editor:

Would you and your staff please initiate a collection campaign to enable me to continue attending SF State?

I'm hoping that you can persuade Jay Folberg to take up my cause in the name of the Associated Students. Admittedly, my qualifications as a recipient of student charity are doubtful.

I am opposed to selling contraceptives in the Bookstore.

I am full of equally bourgeois opinions.

I have never been in jail.

I have never gone on a hunger strike (unless you are willing to count one such protest when I was six years old).

I have never picked lettuce.

Worst of all, I have a steady, part-time job.

However, I am willing to renounce my old ways, quit my job, and devote myself exclusively to giving impetus to a wider spectrum of ideas among the students. For a start, I shall propose that the dorms be fully integrated as to the sexes (all three of them) and that double beds be installed in all rooms. The students themselves should decide who will sleep with whom, with no discrimination against men who choose to sleep together. ("To each his own" is my motto.)

All I ask is that the student body reciprocate by paying my way through college. I hope I can count on your support.

AS government study

Frosh instruction offered

The office of Freshman Personnel and Training, under the direction of Guy Wright, has initiated a program designed to give the freshman a "complete perspective of student government on the SF State campus."

The program, open to all interested incoming freshmen, will be separated into a survey of student government theory as it operates in the AS and practical work experience in the various departments.

The theory survey will include a series of lectures inspecting the SF State AS Constitution and a complete breakdown of the AS as it operates on this campus.

A second group of lectures and discussion groups in the various areas of student government on campus will follow the first series.

In addition to the theory program, the freshman will be given his choice of working in the activities of any of the AS offices or departments. The program will involve approximately five hours per week.

Applications are being taken for interested students in annex D, the Personnel and Training office.

The first lectures will be scheduled when all class programs are filed.

Basketballers travel

Continuing their mid-season road trip the SF State basketball team swings east for a crucial game with second place University of Nevada at Reno Friday and an encounter with the Sacramento Hornets Saturday.

Head coach Paul Rundell is looking forward to this weekend's game with optimism.

The Gators handed Nevada its only league loss early in the year with a 81-53 thumping, but the Wolfpack isn't to be taken lightly as it is coming off an 11 point victory last weekend over the Cal Aggies.

SF State will face a healthier Hornet squad in Sacramento Saturday night, as the capitol-city men were hampered early in the season by injuries. Coach Ev Shelton's five will be back at full strength with the return of forward Ron Rohrer, the NC-AA College-Division Most Valuable Player in 1962, to the starting lineup.

Sport shorts

RICH KENNEALY, JOHN MCCLURG, DICK LANGSDORF, and ART ATKINSON will make up the Gator mile relay team entered in the first annual Golden Gate Invitational Meet at the Cow Palace Saturday. The team is SF State's first entry in indoor competition.

BILL DENYER, intramurals director, announced Wednesday that sign-ups have started for next week's four day basketball tournament. Competition starts on Monday, and sign-ups will be taken until 10 a.m. that day.

Tennis team 'best in last five years'

Five returning lettermen, including Bill Vaughn, No. 1 man on last year's team, and at least four new candidates add up to a varsity tennis team which "has the best prospects of any team at SF State in the last four or five years," predicted Coach Dan Farmer.

SF State finished second to Sacramento State in league play last year and Coach Farmer expects the roughest competition to come from the Hornets again this season.

The coach emphasized that no man's position is secure as the system of the challenge ladder will be used to determine the six team members.

The team will practice from 2-4 daily and anyone who has played competitive tennis is invited to try out. The first match will be at SFSC February 20th against USF.
