Enjoying it less? People might, after seeing the American Cancer Society's mobile display here yesterday.

Cancer society mobile outlook grim for persistent smokers

The way to cure cancer is to catch it in time. This was stressed at the American Cancer Society's mobile exhibit on display at SF State yesterday.

Open to students and the public, the exhibit consisted of displays that depicted several aspects of the disease.

Cancer's 7 warning signals, the growth of a cancerous cell, and the most common sites of cancer in men and women, were among subjects illustrated by charts and graphs that filled the red and white trailer.

Cross sections of the human lungs illustrated the correlation between smoking and lung cancer. The normal lung was a light red while the cross section of a smoker's lung was almost black with impurities.

The last of three specimens was of a cancerous lung. It was as dark as the smoker's lung except for the whitish cancer that infested it. A sign, hanging at the entrance of the exhibit, read, "No smoking, cancer control in progress."

On hand to answer questions and to pass out ACS literature were students of the College Department of Nursing.

The exhibit will be at Sears and Roebuck, Army and Mission Sts., today and tomorrow.

Mediation; picket bypass?

By JACK HUBBARD

What is the alternate channel for complaints of job discrimination besides picketing and demonstrations?

This issue becomes urgent as a result of demonstrations at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel which threaten to continue if negotiations of the Hotel Employees Association and the Ad Hoc Committee to end Discrimination break down today.

There are agencies in San Francisco—state and private—which are set up to handle complaints in discrimination through mediation between employers and person who have job complaints.

The main agency is the Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC), which is administered by the State of California.

The FEPC is specifically set up to handle complaints in job discrimination by individuals, but will also investigate information by organizations pertaining to hiring practices.

Fred Gunsky, information officer for the FEPC, said that about one third of the complaints made to the FEPC by individuals are valid.

"The validity of a complaint is determined by an investigation to see if there is actual discrimination," Gunsky said.

"If there has been discrimination, then conciliation between the employer and the prospective employee is undertaken. If the employer fails to meet a reasonable demand, then a public hearing is called."

Gunsky said that the FEPC has been successful in many cases.

The FEPC has had 1628 cases in its four and a half years and has brought solutions via mediation for over half of them, according to Gunsky. The agency also handles complaints under the Rumford Fair Housing Act.

Gunsky also said that no complaint was filed in either the Lucky Market picketing or the Sheraton-Palace demonstration.

Tracy Sims, chairman for the Ad Hoc committee doubts the effectiveness of the FEPC, or any other agency to handle the discrimination problem. (Other agencies in San Francisco that have been involved in the past with civil rights complaints include the Urban League, and the San Francisco Council for Civic Unity.)

"There is no effective agency in the city to mediate and solve job discrimination problems," she said yesterday.

A proposal is being sent to Mayor Shelley's office by James P. Mitchell proposing a board be set up by the city to listen to and help solve complaints.

Mitchell was the chief mediator last November when the Direct Action Group picketed Mel's Drive-ins and the Red Roof Restaurants.

Senate subcommittee ok's $59.5 million UC budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A $59.5 million capital outlay budget for the University of California has been approved by a Senate Finance subcommittee.

None of the items asked for in Gov. Brown's UC budget request were deleted, but $24.3 million worth of projects were recommended for special review by the legislature.

Projects approved included $3.9 million for an addition to the Engineering Materials Laboratory on the Berkeley campus:

$3.9 million for a new engineering building at Davis.

$2.9 million for utilities and site improvement at Irvine.

$2 million for a law building at Los Angeles.

$7.4 million for hospital and clinical units at Los Angeles.

$2.8 million for an agricultural sciences building at Riverside.

$3.3 million for a building at San Diego.

$3 million for an engineering unit at Santa Barbara.

$2.5 million for a library at Santa Cruz.

The subcommittee also approved $5,000 for a new bakery floor at the California School for the Deaf, Berkeley.

Voice of West reduced to gurgle

Although the San Francisco Chronicle got their stories to press, and in print yesterday, dissemination of news bogged down — not because of big business control, but because of uncontrolled little business.

In the Chronicle pay dispenser located near the south side of the International Room beyond the door, a malfunction prevented copies from being taken out of the plastic case. Several dimes could not free the news, and the dimes were not returned.

Uncontrolled little business controlled the news after all, that is, 26 copies of it.

Better parking has 'slim chance' here

San Francisco traffic officials agreed that there was a chance to do something about the parking ticket problem—but only a slim chance.

In a meeting Tuesday to discuss SF State traffic problems, William Marconi, senior traffic engineer for San Francisco, told college officials the city would need the agreement of the Parkmerced management in order to change the parking limits around the campus.

But because of the "political situation," he said, he believed there would be little chance to get their help.

Marconi said that his office was opposed to the idea of restricting parking around the campus.

"We resisted the program of time limits, because all it did was move the problem somewhere else."

Orrin DeLand, college business manager, suggested a policy of short to medium parking limits, of two or three hours around the campus. This would enable students to attend a two-hour block of classes or spend some time in the library without being forced to park long distances from the campus.

Marconi said his office would look into that as a possible solution, but he indicated that it might mean limiting parking in non-private areas, such as on Holloway Ave. on the north side of the campus.

Muni reviews need for stop

The San Francisco Municipal Railway may begin to pull out the stops—at 19th and Denslowe, that is.

As part of the plan to alleviate traffic problems around the campus, Senior Traffic Engineer William Marconi said that he "will investigate the desirability of retaining a streetcar stop" opposite the PE practice field on 19th Ave.

According to Frank Schiefeler, Muni assistant transportation supervisor, the use of that streetcar stop was discontinued until the residents of the area protested. It is presently being used, but is regarded as a traffic hazard due to the lack of warning for motorists that the area is used as an access to the Muni islands.

Schiefeler also explained that it would be impossible to increase "M" car service to the college because "we don't own enough cars."

He said the city owns 105 streetcars, 100 of which were scheduled and five of which were being serviced.

He suggested that more students make use of the "17 express" service from Market and Second Sts. That bus, he said, would bring students to Holloway Ave. and Tapia Drive.

Letters to the Editor

Unhappy about what?

Editor:
For over a week now, you have been pushing an editorial point with great vigor and no taste on your front page in the best tradition of William Randolph "give me the pictures and I'll give you the war" Hearst. Are there not better examples of editorial policy in San Francisco than the Examiner after which to pattern a college paper?

As erstwhile editor of a high school paper with at least the editorial scrupulousness not to blatantly and purposefully editorialize any news of common interest, I can testify that there are other ways to sell papers. (And who's selling papers, anyway?) A paper as widely read as the Gater with a circulation among intelligent and liberal students has a greater obligation than to sensationally talk down to over ten thousand students.

This trash has got to stop. Had I the option to save money by not reading the Ga-ter, there can be little doubt in my mind what I'd do. Does no one else in such a sizable student body give enough of a damn to see that we can have a paper we can be proud of?

Sufferings Of The Saviour

Crucifixion is considered by many medical experts to be the most agonizing form of torture known, for the victim slowly suffocates to death while enduring excruciating pain. During the time of Christ's earthly ministry, death on the cross was the most shameful mode of punishment, reserved for the worst criminals and the most despised men.

We shall never comprehend the inner sufferings of Jesus on the cross of Calvary as "He who knew no sin was made to be sin for us"; for He voluntarily bore in His body the sins of the entire world so that a way to eternal life might be opened up between lost mankind and a God who is holy and just. Through the Inspiration of the Holy Spirit, the Psalmist foresaw the crucifixion of Jesus almost 1000 years before it occurred and vividly portrayed His great sacrifice for us:

"My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Why art thou so far from helping me and from the words of my roaring? O my God, I cry in the daytime but thou hearest me not; and in the night season, and am not silent. But thou art holy, O thou that inhabitest the praises of Israel. Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliver them. They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded. But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and despised of the people. All they that see me laugh me to scorn: They shoot out the lip, they shake the head, saying, He trusted on the Lord that he would deliver him: let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him. But thou art he that took me out of the womb; thou didst make me hope when I was upon my mother's belly. Be not far from me; for trouble is near; for there is none to help. Many bulls have compassed me: strong bulls of Bashan have beset me round. They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion. I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint: my heart is like wax; it is melted in the midst of my bowels. My strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws; and thou hast brought me into the dust of death. For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have enclosed me; they pierced my hands and my feet. I may tell all my bones: they look and stare upon me. They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture. But be not thou far from me, O Lord: O my strength, haste thee to help me." Psalm 22:1-19.

Many people deny the fact that it was man's disobedience to God which made necessary the substitutionary atoning sacrifice of Christ. However, prophecies of Christ's death for our sins appear throughout the Old Testament and are fulfilled in the New Testament.

"Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form or comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him. He is despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not. Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all. He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth. He was taken from prison and from judgment: and who shall declare his generation? for he was cut out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken. And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth. Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief: when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand." Isaiah 53:1-10.

"Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; . . . how Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures." I Corinthians 15:1-4.

How does Christ's atoning death apply to us today? God is satisfied with Christ's sacrifice and has reconciled the world to Himself. But, as in every reconciliation, both parties must agree to reconcile. Therefore, "We beseech you . . . be ye reconciled to God."

Ramsay challenges Folberg to debate

The Forensics Union will sponsor a town meeting today at noon on the speakers platform. The topic of the meeting is "What is wrong with student government?"

Jay Folberg, former AS president, has been challenged by Tom Ramsay, AS president, to appear at the meeting and present his views on student government. Recently, Folberg has been criticizing the Ramsay administration through the Gater.

Folberg and Ramsay will be given eight minutes to present their views. "The Forensics Union also wants to give other people a chance to speak. Anyone besides Ramsay and Folberg will be allowed five minutes to speak," Hans Anderson, the Forensics Union president, stated.

Chinese Peasants Party leader speaks here today

S. T. Tung, leader of China's "non-Communist" left, Chinese Peasants Party, will speak here on "Can There Be Two Chinas?" in the Gallery Lounge at 12:30 p.m. today.

Tung's appearance is sponsored by SF State's Young Americans for Freedom.

Tung, who lectured here last spring, received his doctorate degree from Cornell and went on to become president of Peking and Kiangsi agricultural colleges.

Tung will speak on the implications of U. S. foreign policy in view of French recognition of Peking.

Tung authored "Secret Diary From Red China," published in 1961.

An open letter to the community

Lucky Stores and responsible community leaders have reached an agreement providing for wider publicity respecting Lucky's Equal Opportunity employment policy and establishing certain steps to be taken to implement that policy. No agreement had existed previously, and it was desirable to clarify Lucky's Equal Opportunity policy by making this agreement at this time.

Lucky's established policy is and has been that persons must be given job opportunities in accordance with ability rather than in accordance with race or color. Accordingly, Lucky declined to establish racial quotas. The agreement expressly provides that NO HIRING QUOTA IS ESTABLISHED, and reiterates the policy of the company to hire in all job categories without regard to race or color.

Lucky will emphasize on-the-job training in an endeavor to develop job skills, affording individuals of all races the opportunity for promotion, based on ability and willingness to prepare themselves for greater responsibility.

The community has rejected shop-in tactics, as Lucky had confidence it would upon seeing the destructive effect of these tactics upon the whole community. We trust that this experience has shown all, including the demonstrators, that these methods do not further the cause of minority groups and are unacceptable to the people of California. We regret that our customers have been inconvenienced by these demonstrations, and we welcome the opportunity now to serve the public without such interference.

'Cousin' Gator diamondmen lambasted by Bears, 15-0

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

The California Bears jumped on their SF State cousins Tuesday with deceptive pitching and a 14-hit attack to win, 15-0.

Bear pitcher Jack Colton went seven innings for the win, striking out seven and walking six. He gave up five hits, two of which he can deduct from his 1964 income tax as charitable contributions.

Low lights of the game included:

Flyboys ace out Gators

Despite the fact that SF State's Dennis Drucker was match medalist with a one-under-par 71, the Gator Golfers lost to a strong Hamilton Air Force Base squad, 14½-12½, last Tuesday.

Although having an off day, Mike Morairity shot a 76 to tie Hamilton's number one man.

Hoping to get back on the winning road, the Gators open their Far Western Conference match season today against Sonoma State College at Harding Park. Starting time is 3 p.m.

in the third and eight in the sixth;

Nine unearned Bear runs, thanks to four Gator wild pitches, three passed balls and two errors;

Gator center fielder Mike Liddell dropping the third out in the second inning to let in three unearned runs;

Shortstop Bob Cavalli getting thrown out of the game in the eighth.

It was clear from the start that coach Bob Rodrigo wanted to win a game the Gators weren't about to win.

Rodrigo used pitchers Terry Christman and Mike Campas in relief of starter John Walker. Each had just two days of rest and neither was up to the task.

After scoring four runs in the second inning, Cal put the game in its pocket with another five runs in the third.

Christman walked Bear centerfielder Craig Morton with one out. He went to second on a passed ball by Mickey Corso, the catcher in the wry. After right fielder Lou Cosso walked, he and Morton moved up a base when Christman, the pitcher in the soup, threw a wild pitch.

Bear shortstop Mike Wickershaw walked, but Morton scored when the fourth ball went wild. First baseman Bill Bawley singled to left, after Colton walked, and two more runs scored.

After Wickershaw and Bawley each moved up a base when Cavalli threw the relay over Corso's head, second baseman Bob McCarn drove in the last two runs of the inning with a single to left.

The Bears kept the scoring barrage going, scoring four runs in the sixth and one each in the eighth and ninth.

SF State came its closest to scoring when it got third baseman Larry Sheppard to third in the fourth inning with two out. But he stayed there when second baseman Rich Jefferies fled out to center.

The Gators try again today when they travel to the University of San Francisco to play the Dons. Wes Greenwood will be the probable starting pitcher.

'We are the greatest'

Jerry Werthimer, manager of the Humanities softball squad, shouts with unrestrained glee as he claims his squad won its first game last Friday because the other team neglected to show up.

"I feel that Werthimer is inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity," Outland speculated.

"I am willing to meet Werthimer on the field of honor to defend my squad," said Pentony.
