LA TORRE

PUBLISHED BY THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA ✣ ✣ NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FORTY-ONE

Dedication . . .

To the memory of Eugene B. Grattan, who was killed in an automobile accident October 3, 1940, this 1941 La Torre is dedicated.

"Genial Gene" was San Jose State's only unpaid coach; he gave his services to amateur wrestling, the sport he loved, and developed many championship wrestling teams for San Jose.

A native of Iowa, Gene graduated from the law school of the University of Iowa in 1927, and came to San Jose in 1928. In addition to his coaching, and a large law practice, he found time to participate in boys work with the Y. M. C. A., Kiwanis Club, Sea Scouts, Boy Scouts, and contributed to a camping program for under-privileged children.

Despite his many responsibilities he was never too busy to help a boy in need.

Perhaps the most fitting tribute ever paid to him came from one of these hundreds of boys whom he befriended, who said:

"Gene was like a father to a lot of us fellows. I guess he was one of the greatest fellows that ever lived."

President's Message . . .

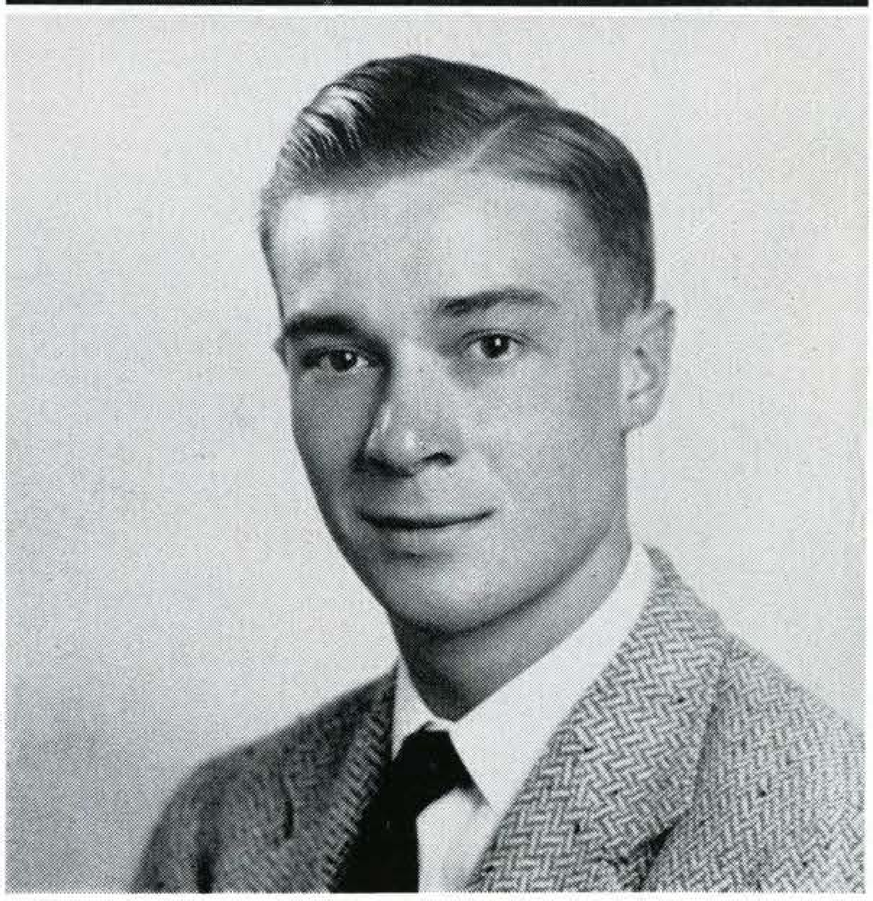

War, war, war—but we must not lose our sense of values. We must do our duty as citizens, fight, if necessary, to defend democracy, but let us not forget that the good old virtues, honesty, decency, industry, and kindliness, are still fundamental to human happiness. Wars come and go, but eternal truth still threads its way through the ages.

In Retrospect

The Texas A. and I. football game on registration day marked the beginning of a busy year at San Jose State. The "Flying Spartans" again brought to San Jose fans a thrilling and successful football season. Student body dances, football games and excursions, and sorority and fraternity pledging occupied most of the students' time during the fall quarter.

Innovations at State this year were the frequent pep rallies and outdoor student body meetings. The latent school spirit came forth in the many and various class activities, the Sophomore Hop and Junior Prom being acknowledged as the best ever given.

With the opening of the ice rink in San Jose, ice-skating became one of State's most popular recreational sports. Both individual and coeducational classes as well as the Ice Carnival sponsored by the Art department proved to be highlights of the year. Winter sports also came into their own this year with San Jose State entering its first ski team in the Intercollegiate meet at Yosemite.

San Jose was fortunate in having many of the major meets and conventions here this year. Outstanding in the Winter quarter was the Far Western Wrestling Tournament. The Far Western Music Educators' Conference in April gave the San Jose students an opportunity to hear and play for some of the finest musicians in the west. On our own campus the A.W.A. welcomed 300 girls to the A.W.A.-A.W.S. convention. The annual Swim Extravaganza, which was presented for these girls, carried out the Hawaiian theme of the convention. A.W.A. at San Jose State is something new in women's organizations and has proven to be highly successful this past year.

And then on May 2, Sparta's most prized possession . . . . . Spardi Gras. Though rains threatened, the carnival celebrating its twelfth anniversary continued in all its traditional glory . . . Dee Portal and his bearskin coat, coronation ceremonies, big-foot contest for the boys as well as cinderella contest for girls, evening dinner in the East quad, a brief time out to change costumes to street wear and on to Revelries and the dances in the Men's and Women's gymnasiums.

The excitement and bustle of Spardi Gras had scarcely subsided when the Junior-Senior rivalry began. With kidnaping banned this year, all attention was turned to the "sneak." The seniors "snuk" to camp Tuesday night and on to the Coast Wednesday morning where they were greatly surprised to find the Juniors waiting for them. The two caravans joined and continued to the beach where all had plenty of fun and the Juniors for the first time in years won ALL the points.

Following the sneak week were many class, fraternity, and the Intersociety beach parties. The Spring Organization dinner was followed by Recognition Day where many honor awards were presented. Senior Week with its receptions, the Mt. Hamilton trip, Homecoming Day, the Senior Ball at the Olympic Club, and Baccalaureate services, ended with Commencement on June 13. And thus we come to the end of a grand year. Many of you will return, some of you will enter the army or navy, and some will enter your chosen profession. We hope that wherever you are, this 1941 La Torre will help you to recall your days at San Jose State.

A. W

The Associated Women's Activities has for its governing body a Council composed of elected officers and representatives from every women's organization on the campus. It is now the one unit governing co-ed activities, since the former A. W. S. and W. A. A. groups merged into A. W. A. this year.

The opening event was the Freshman Tea, where new students met their "Big Sisters"; also sponsored autumn quarter were the Jamboree and the annual formal Christmas banquet. Other outstanding activities were the Women's Jinx, Fashion Show, Hobo Barbecue and High School Day.

The most important affair this year was the A. W. S. - W. A. A. convention of girls, deans and advisors from California Junior Colleges, held in April. A.W.A. entertained two hundred guests at teas, luncheons, discussions, banquets, and a dance, carrying out their Hawaiian theme, "Beyond the Blue Horizon."

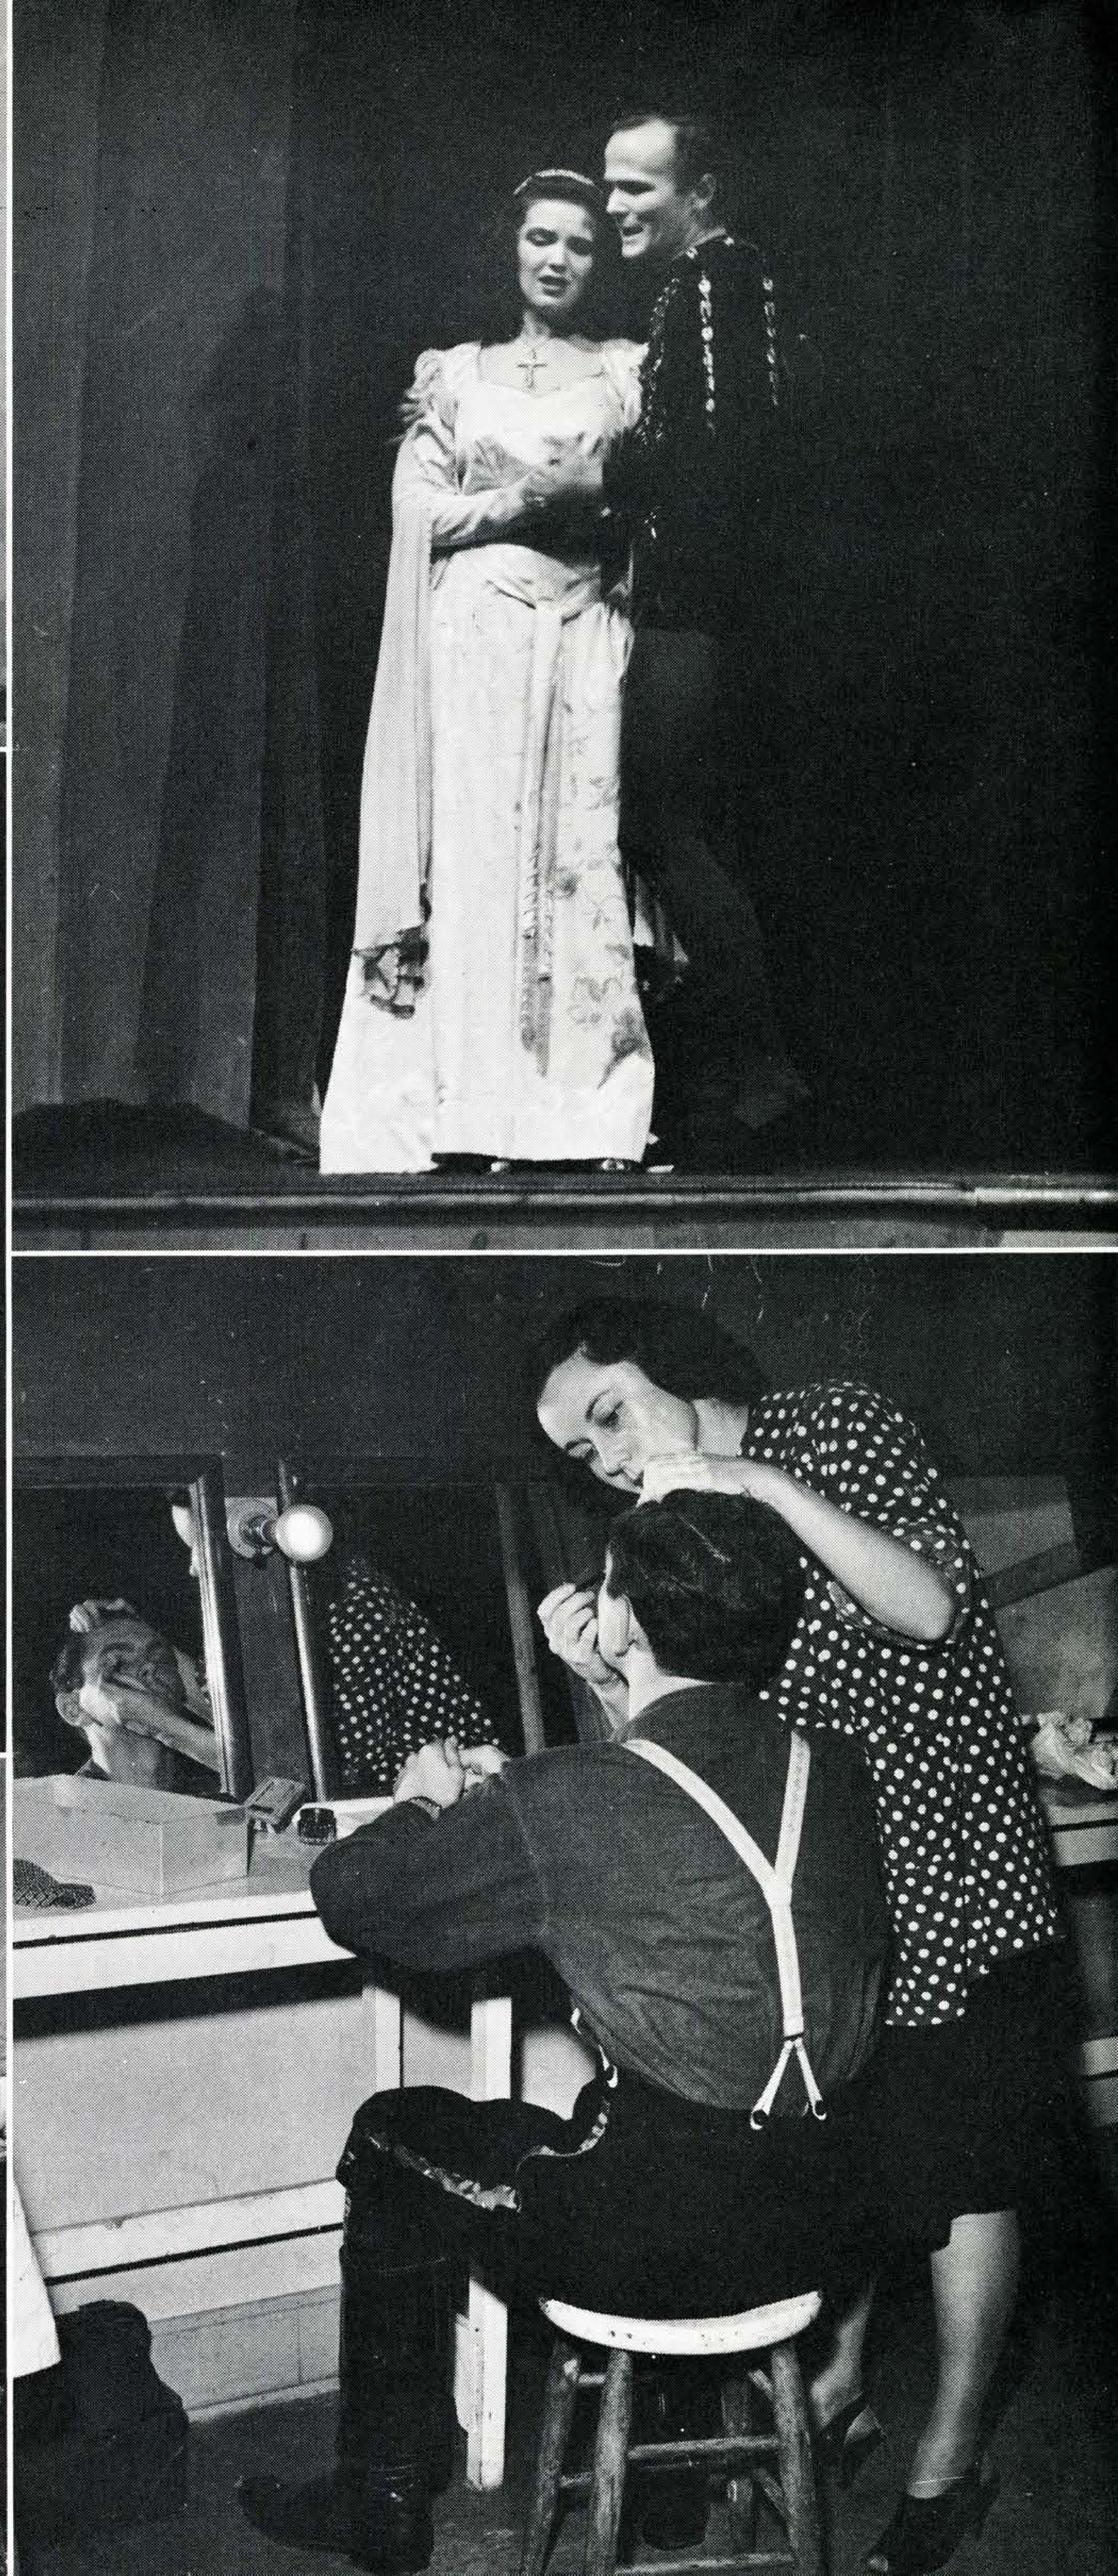

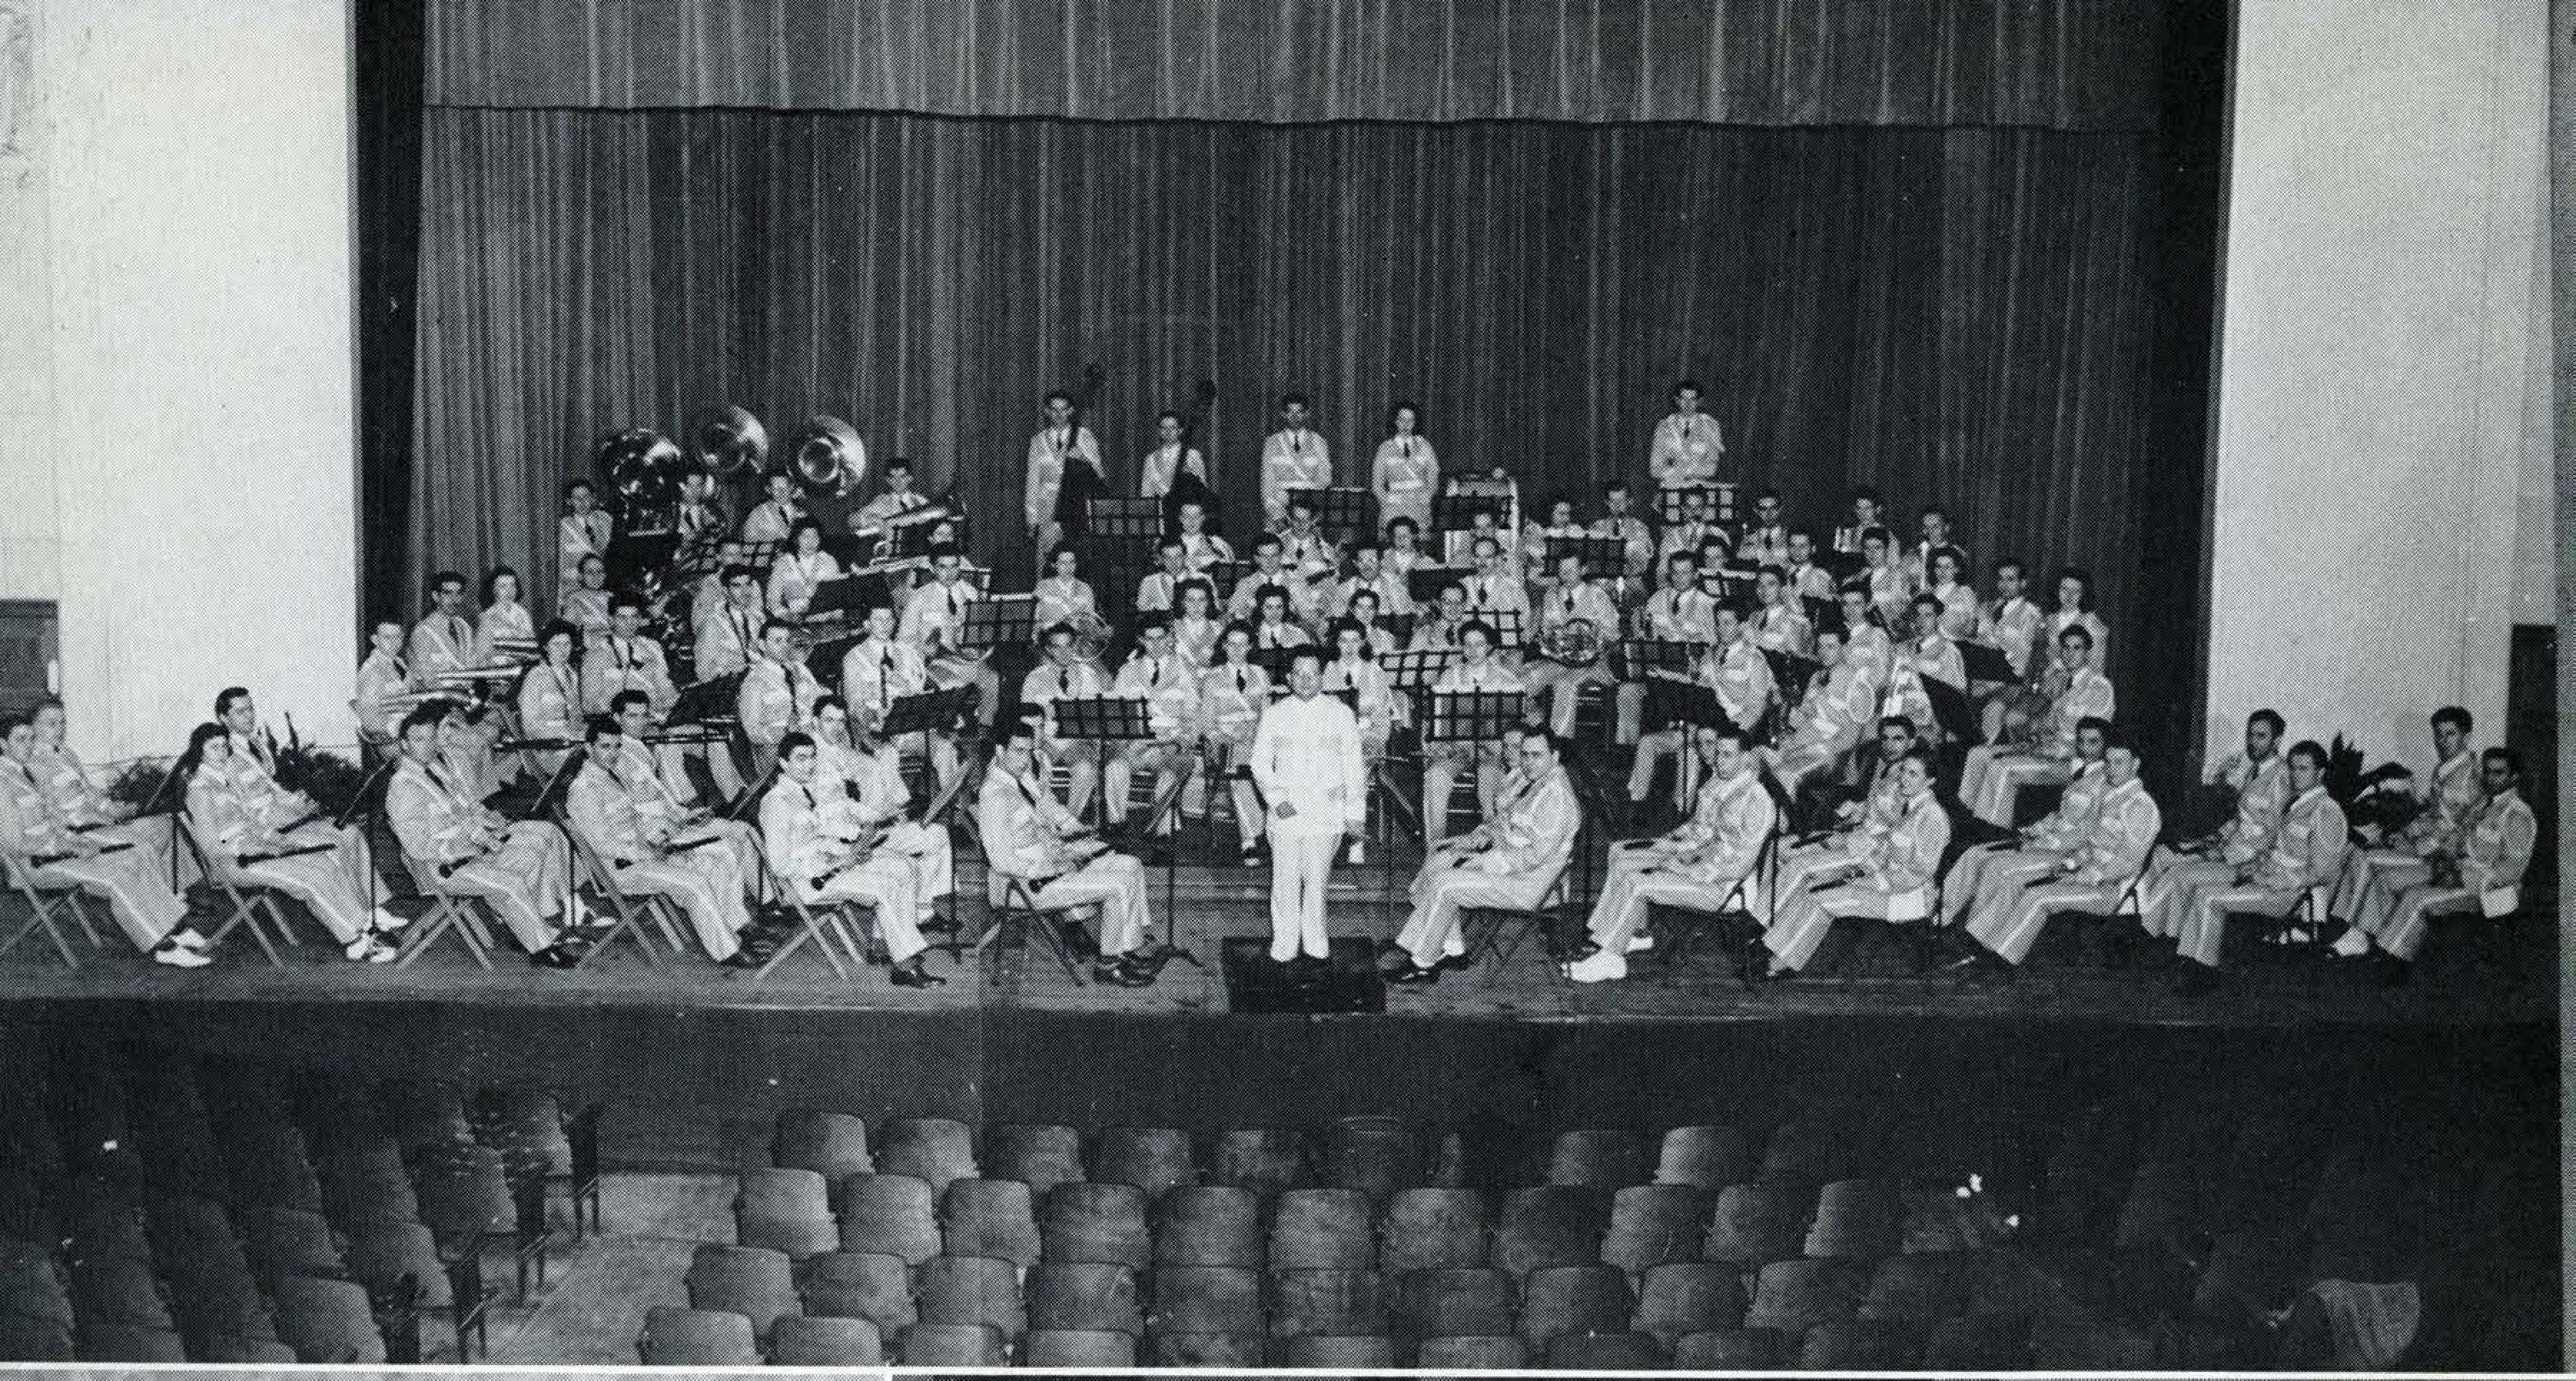

Symphony Orchestra

Under the direction of Adolph W. Otterstein the San Jose State Symphony Orchestra closed its most successful season. Presented to full houses were the three annual concerts with Benning Dexter, State College Piano faculty; Ina Mae Spink, flutist, and Sidney Voight violinist, college students as soloists

Highlight of the year was the nation-wide hook-up broadcast on the series "Music, and American youth," over the NBC networks, April 6. The program was an integrated program and combined the work of the English and Speech Departments. The orchestra also played for the California-Western Music Educators Conference, appearing on the same program with the Los Angeles City College A Capella Choir.

The three Symphonies that were played this season were: Beethoven's Fifth, Tschaikowsky's Fifth and Sibelius's Second Symphony.

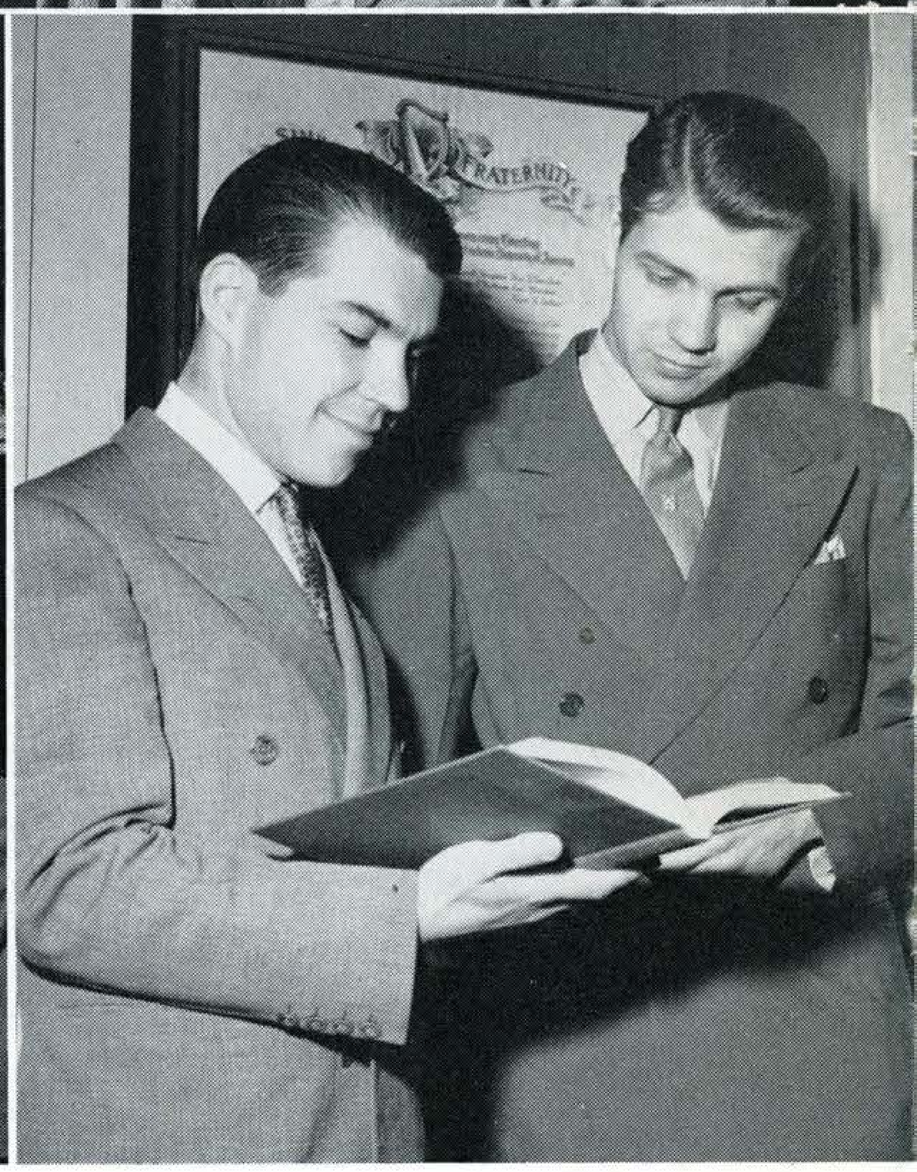

Symphonic Band

The Symphonic Band under the direction of Thomas E. Eagan is the finest organization of its kind on the Pacific Coast. It offers to interested students an opportunity for ensemble playing in both classical and modern music. Highlights of the season were the program for the California-Western Music Educators Conference and the fifth annual formal concert in April. Featured this year was Melvin Buffo, oboe soloist, college student.

Many recordings were made this year, wherein fine instrumentation was achieved through a large personnel of one hundred students. These records were sent to some of the nation's leading band conductors for criticism. Especially in demand this year were the records made by the marching unit. Unique in that it has a membership of one hundred and fifty students, the marching band played for football games, rallies, student body meetings and any function that needed its rhythm and pep. A vote of thanks is due these musicians for their programs this year.

A Capella Choir

Introducing a year of widespread activities, San Jose State's A Capella Choir presented a concert before the Santa Clara County Teachers' Institute at the Montgomery Hotel. Other outstanding performances during the year included the Christmas Vespers in Morris Daily Auditorium, with other campus choral groups participating; concerts at the Stanford Memorial Church, at the Civic Auditorium before a Christian Missionary Mass Meeting with an audience of 3500, and again at the Civic Auditorium for the California Conference of Methodist Churches. The A Capella Choir performed also at the Baccalaureate Services on June 8, 1941.

Not the least of the Choir's many activities was the annual tour, May 12 to May 16, which covered 600 miles and included performances at Salinas Junior College, Monterey Union High School, the All Saints Episcopal Church in Carmel, the Sunset School in Carmel, Coalinga High School, East Bakersfield High School, Livingston High School, and the Methodist Church in Turlock.

The Choir's principal social event of the year was a barbecue at Alum Rock Park, held for the purpose of "remembering" the annual tour.

Brass Choir

The Brass Choir under the direction of Frank Elsass, former solo coronetist with Franko Goldman, enjoyed a mast successful season. The choir appeared at the Home of Benevolence and at the Patrons Association of San Jose State College Banquet.

A highlight of the season was the formal concert in the winter quarter. A special honor was accorded when the choir played at the Richards' Club Annual concert in the San Jose Civic Auditorium.

The four day tour was a great success and acknowledged as the best tour ever taken by the choir.

Woodwind Choir

The San Jose State College Woodwind Choir is the only group in this country which has music especially arranged for them. Directed by Thomas E. Eagan, this fine instrumental ensemble is in demand for campus and off-campus performances.

Admission into the group is very selective. Try-outs are held and the competition is keen.

Activities of the year include programs for the Teachers' Institute in the Fall, the Music Educators' Conference in April, and the annual formal concert in the Spring. Highlight this year was the Annual Spring tour in the valley cities during Spring vacation.

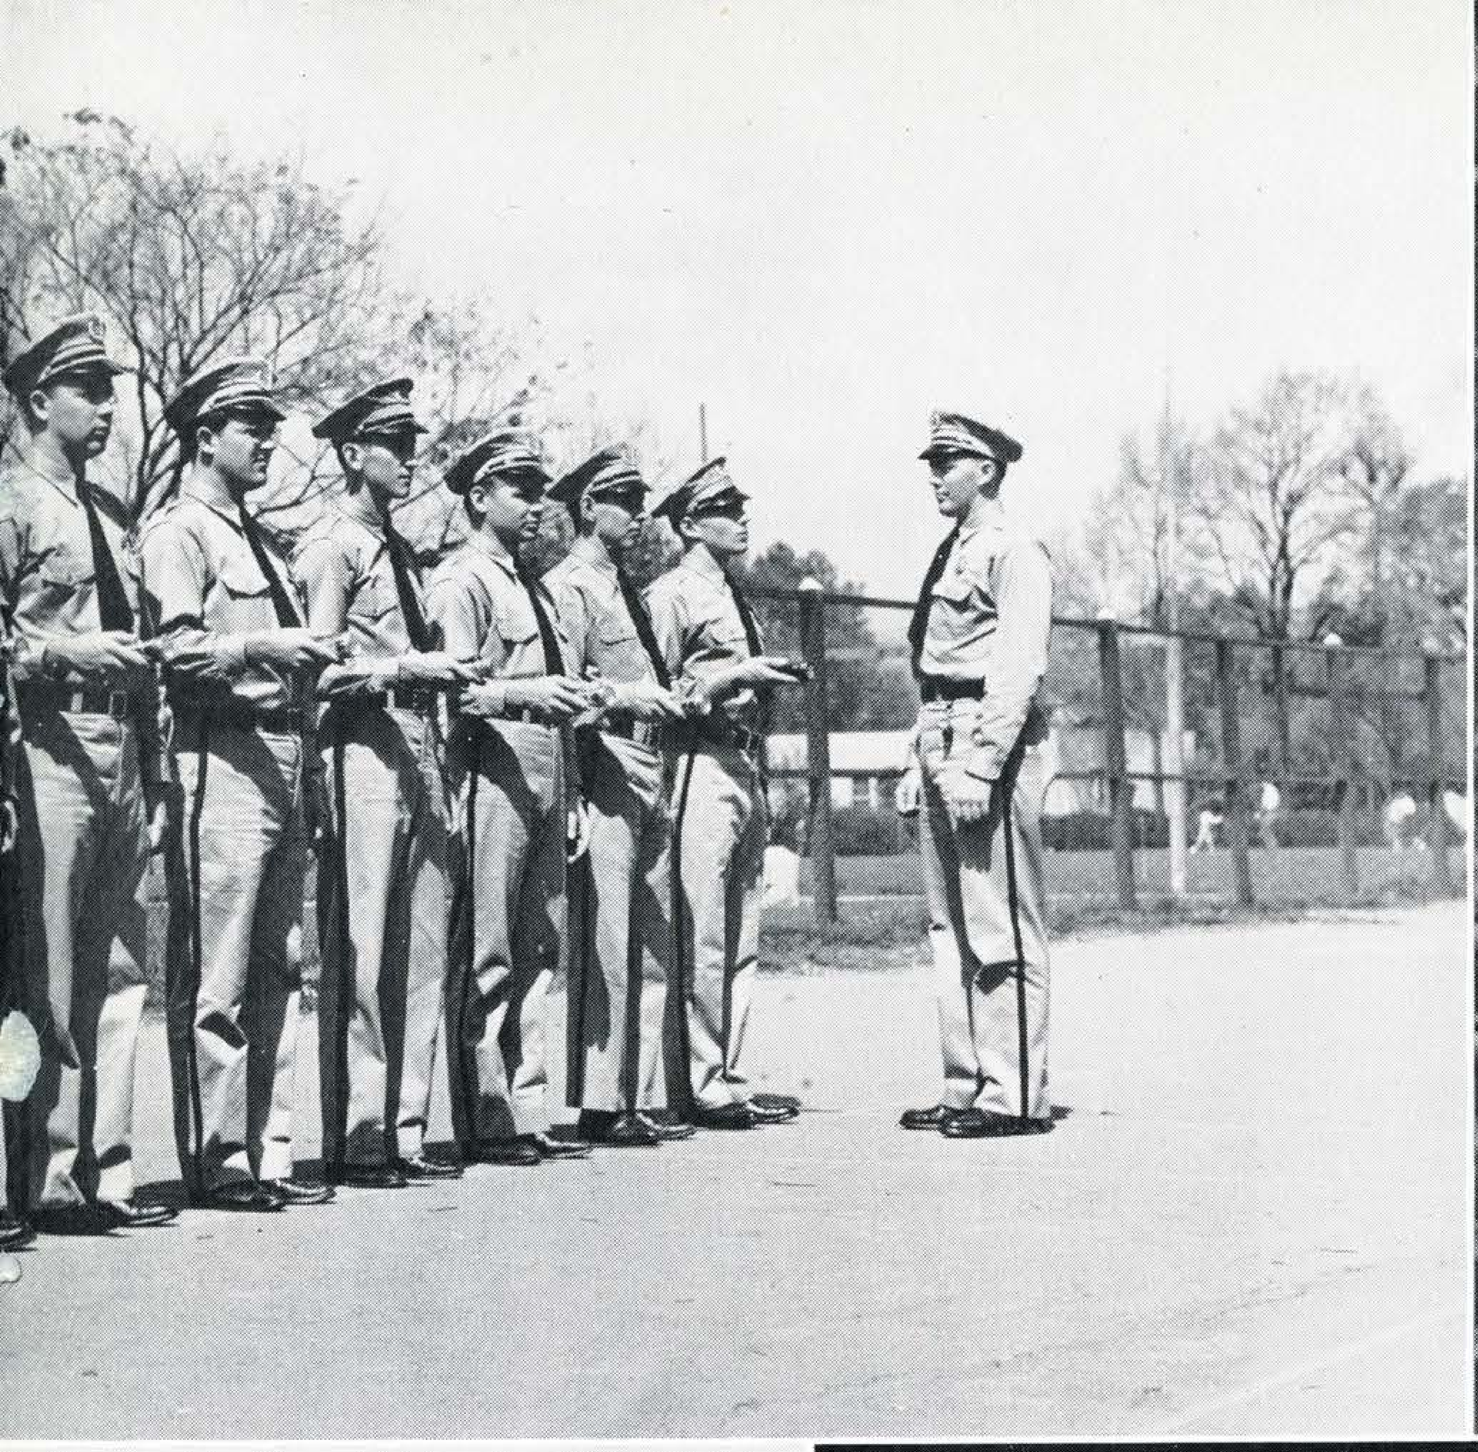

POL

The passage of time always brings about changes and in ten years the Police school has progressed from the Social Science department to a two-year technical school, and thence to its present status of a four-year course in the specialized field leading to an A. B. degree. Students are being given a practical view of police work and the staff is made up of specialists in the police field and instructors in other departments of the college.

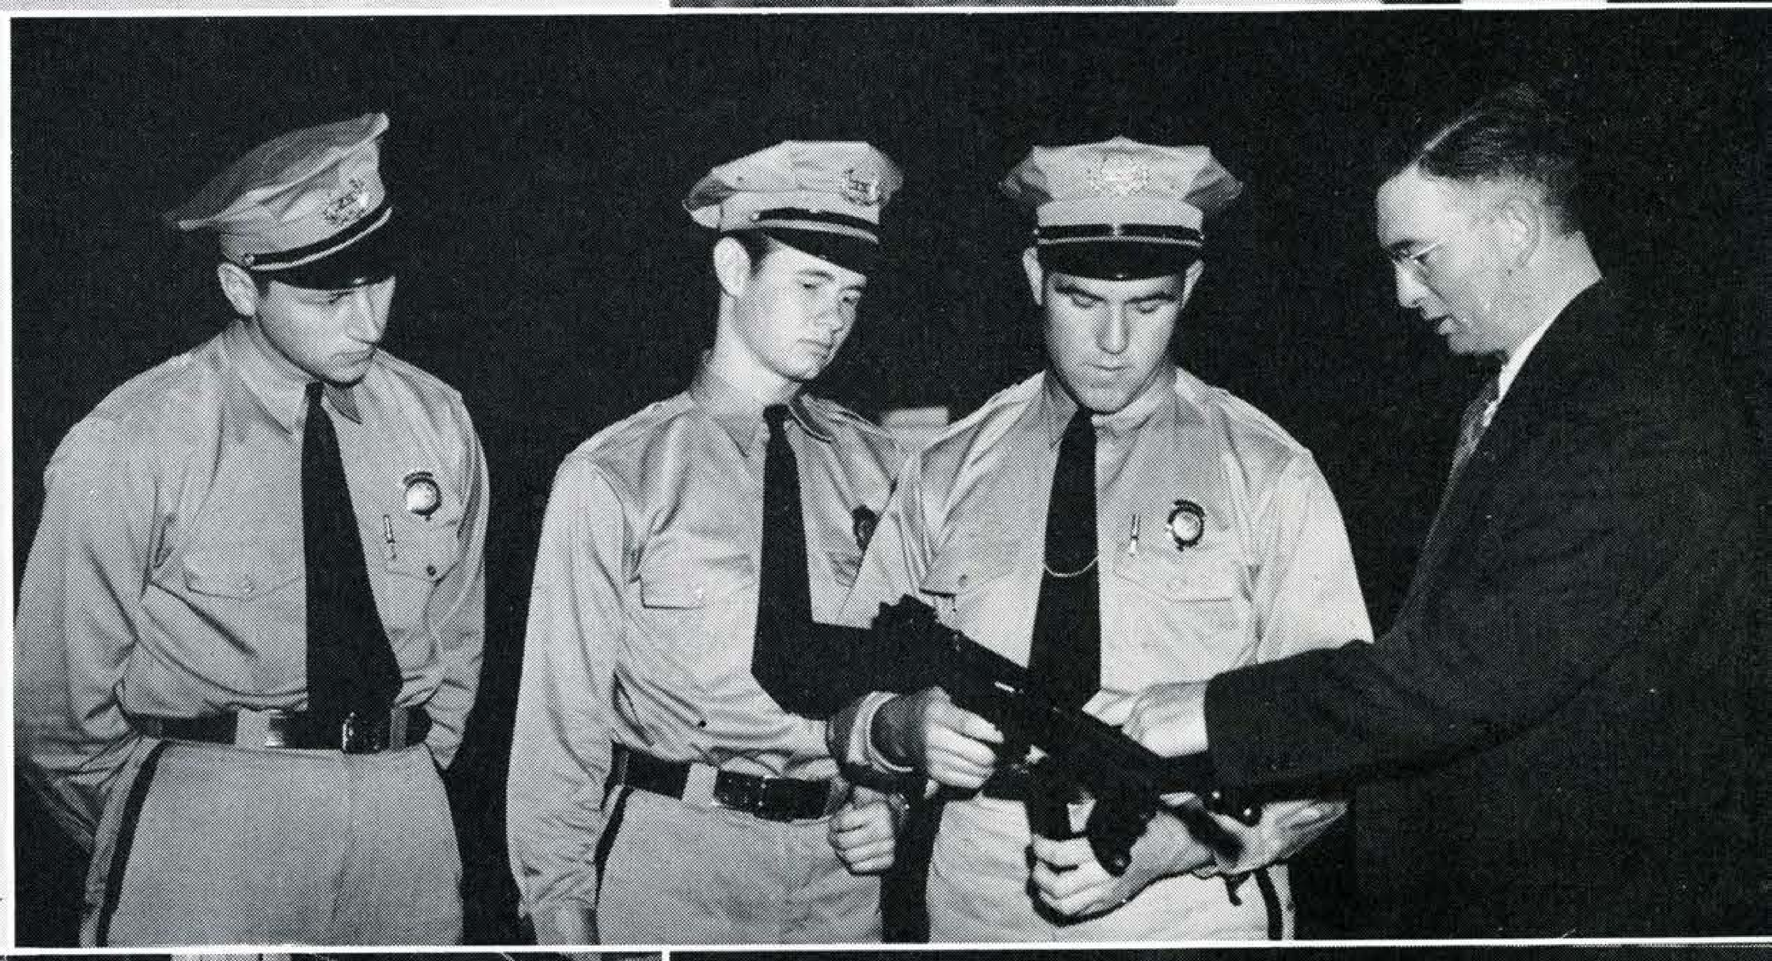

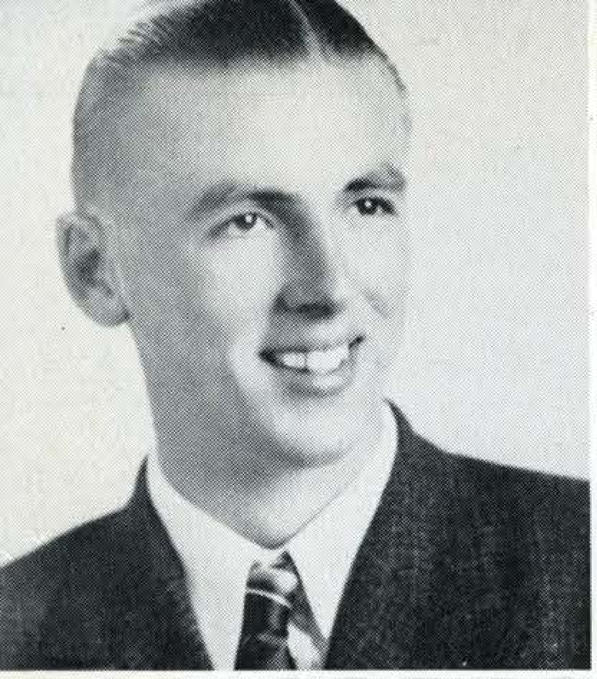

ICE

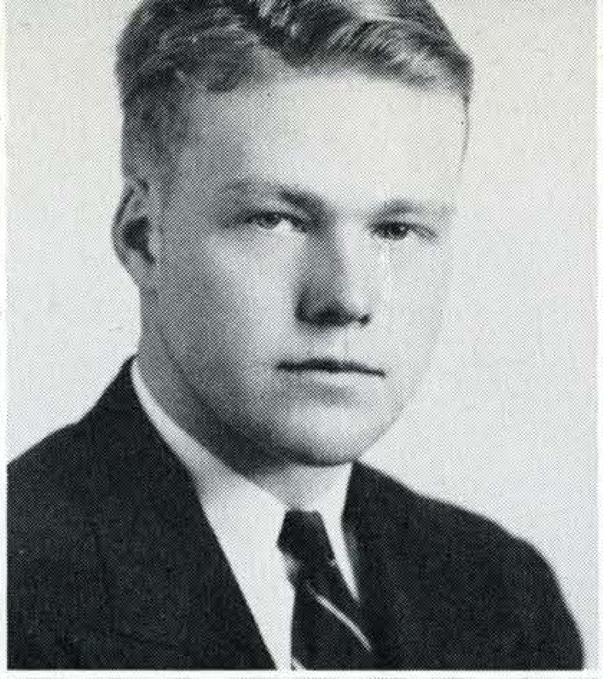

San Jose State may well be considered the pioneer in the Police school movement and even today there are only a few schools in the country that offer a four-year police major course. The future of America lies in its law enforcers and San Jose State is turning out men that are capable of protecting the best interests of all concerned. It is truly a tribute to the growth of the college.

Established on campus two years ago, Eta chapter of Alpha Eta Rho, national aviation fraternity, is sponsored by the rapidly-growing and improving Aviation department. Its aim is to promote the welfare of aviation and its personnel. There are thirty active members, all able pilots, with F. F. Petersen as faculty adviser.

Also under sponsorship of the Aviation department is the State Flying Club, composed of five units, each a separate group. Each unit of 20 members has its own airplane, each member in turn owning one-twentieth of the plane. Main activity is 150 flying hours a month in each unit. All members are working toward private or commercial pilot's licenses.

Flight training for 100 students a year under the Civilian Flight Training Program is given under sponsorship of the college. F. F. Petersen directs this program and the training is done at Mountain View.

SPORTS

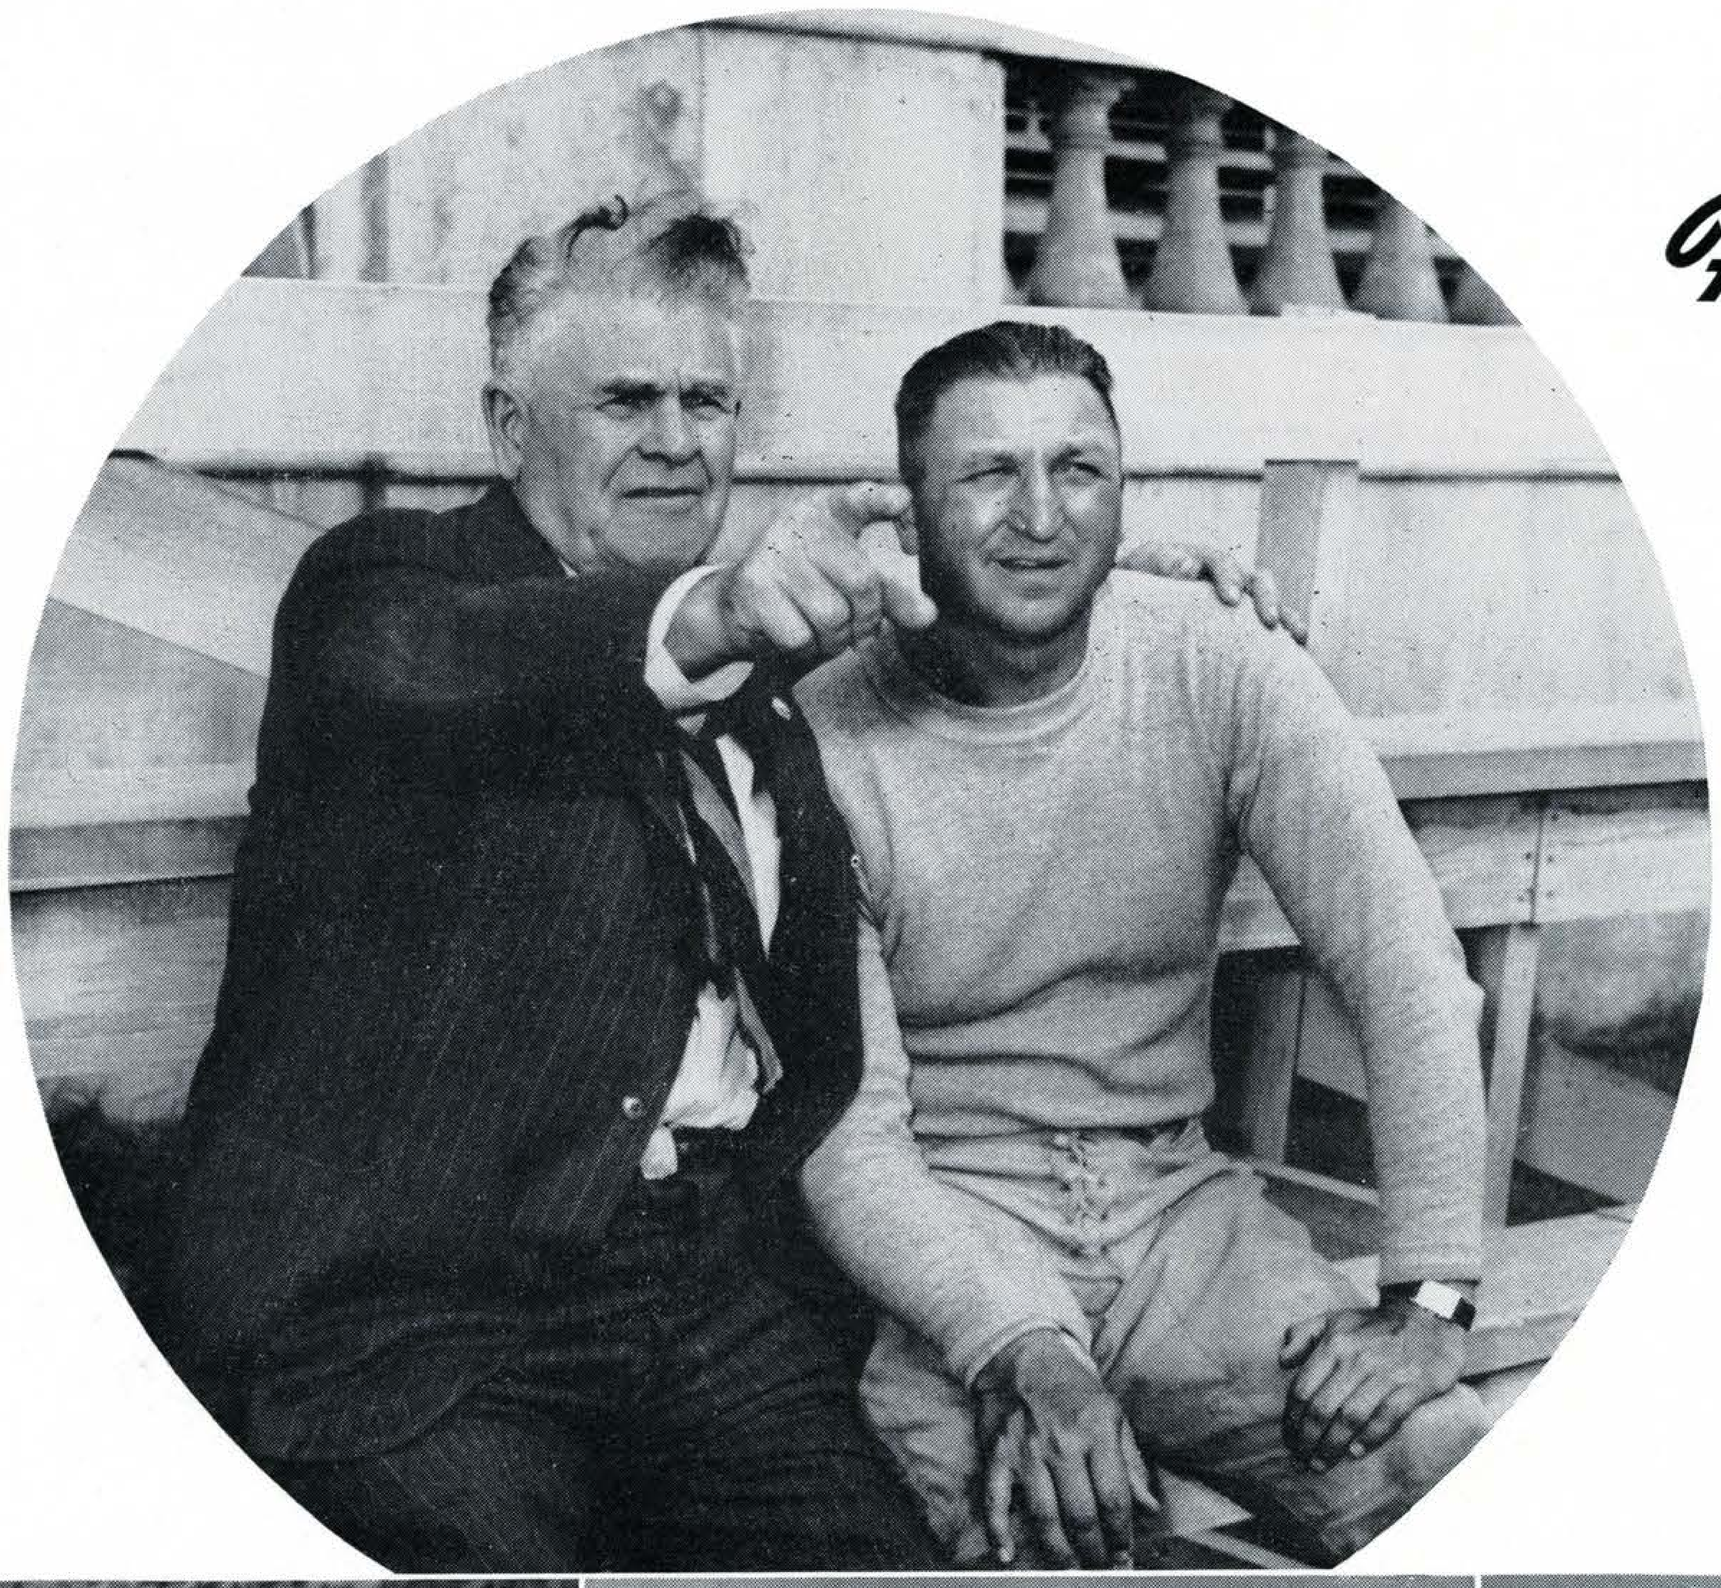

Football

For a coach to win eleven football games in his first season of coaching isn't hay. And that's just what Spartan Mentor Ben Winkelman did in his opening season as head man at San Jose State. It took his 1941 varsity a little time to get started, but when it did move into high gear the powerhouse juggernaut from the Garden City rolled on to eleven consecutive triumphs after suffering a 10-0 setback at the hands of Texas A&I in the season's opener.

The Ben Winkelman-Pop Warner grid machine managed to roll up 263 points in touchdownland while holding their opponents to a mere 63. Paced by the Pacific Coast's leading scorer, Bud Nygren, who garnered 54 points, the "Flying Spartans" crushed all CCAA competition to rule that conference for the second straight year. Strange as it may seem, second scoring honors on the varsity went to Captain Kenny Cook who plays a guard spot. Cook booted two field goals and twenty-five extra points to amass 31 all told. He just nosed out fullback Truck Tornell who chalked up five touchdowns for 30 points.

All in all, the State machine ploughed through enemy lines for a grand total of 3740 yards. In the last four years, San Jose football squads have won forty-six, lost four and tied one.

It's over the line and directly into the waiting arms of a USF tackler as Dick Hubbell (69) tries to roll for yardage in the USF game.

There's no charge for it so John Woffington carries a would-be-tackler for 10 yards on his back before he is brought down to the turf.

Jack Sarkisian (56) prostrate on the turf gives Cowboy Rex Pursell perfect blocking as he rambles for yardage in the Elks Boystown game against South Dakota State.

IN REVIEW:

The "Flying Spartans" just couldn't "take off" in their opener against the Texas A&I outfit and bad weather combined to plaster them with a 10-0 defeat . . . Against Montana State, Spartan backs ran hog wild to run up a 34-0 score . . . The San Jose "Golden Bombers" invaded the Cache Valley in Utah and when the smoke of the battle had cleared away San Jose had won 19-0 . . . Unhampered by a mud-splashed turf at Willamette, the Spartans rolled on to a 21-0 victory . . . Next on the purge parade proved San Diego State who succumbed 10-0 . . . The football fans of San Francisco still can't believe it but the State grid machine made a brilliant second half comeback to defeat the highly favored USF eleven by the margin of Ken Cook's educated toe—7-6 . . . Santa Barbara State fell next by a 33-6 margin . . . Before 10,000 Los Angeles fans the grid machine roared to a 27-12 triumph over Loyola . . . COP was next and the Tigers succumbed 28-0 . . . Behind effective blocking, scooter Aubrey Minter starts for the races with Texas A & I men in pursuit. Minter managed to go for 12 yards before being dropped.

This business of being a first year coach seems to have a pretty good effect on the morale of the squad. In the first place, Ben Winkelman's football squad wins eleven straight games and then not to be outdone the 1940-41 basketball squad turns right around and ties for the coveted CCAA conference title for Coach Walt McPherson in his first season as head mentor.

They played basketball a-la thrills when San Diego's Aztecs, defending champions, and San Jose State clashed in the deciding games which found the indominatable will of the San Joesans winning out by scores of 53-48 and 41-37. Only an upset defeat at the hands of Fresno State kept the Spartans from claiming the crown by themselves.

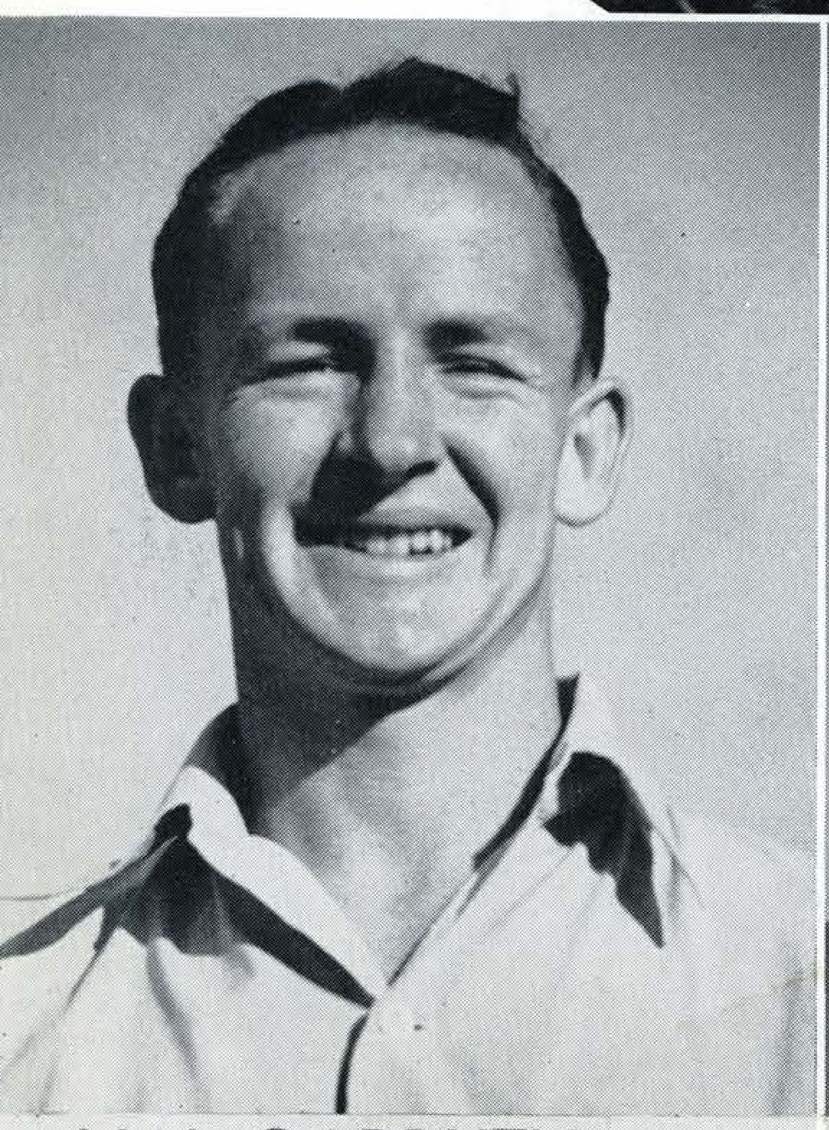

It was an elongated, animated skyscraper called Menno Seibert that paced the Spartans through the season. Seibert's offensive power plus the defensive greatness of Johnny Allen were main factors in State's climb to the top.

Supporting Seibert and Allen were Captain Hal Carruth, Ernie Allen, Stu Carter, John Woffington, Duke Tornell, Roy Diedricksen and Bert Robinson.

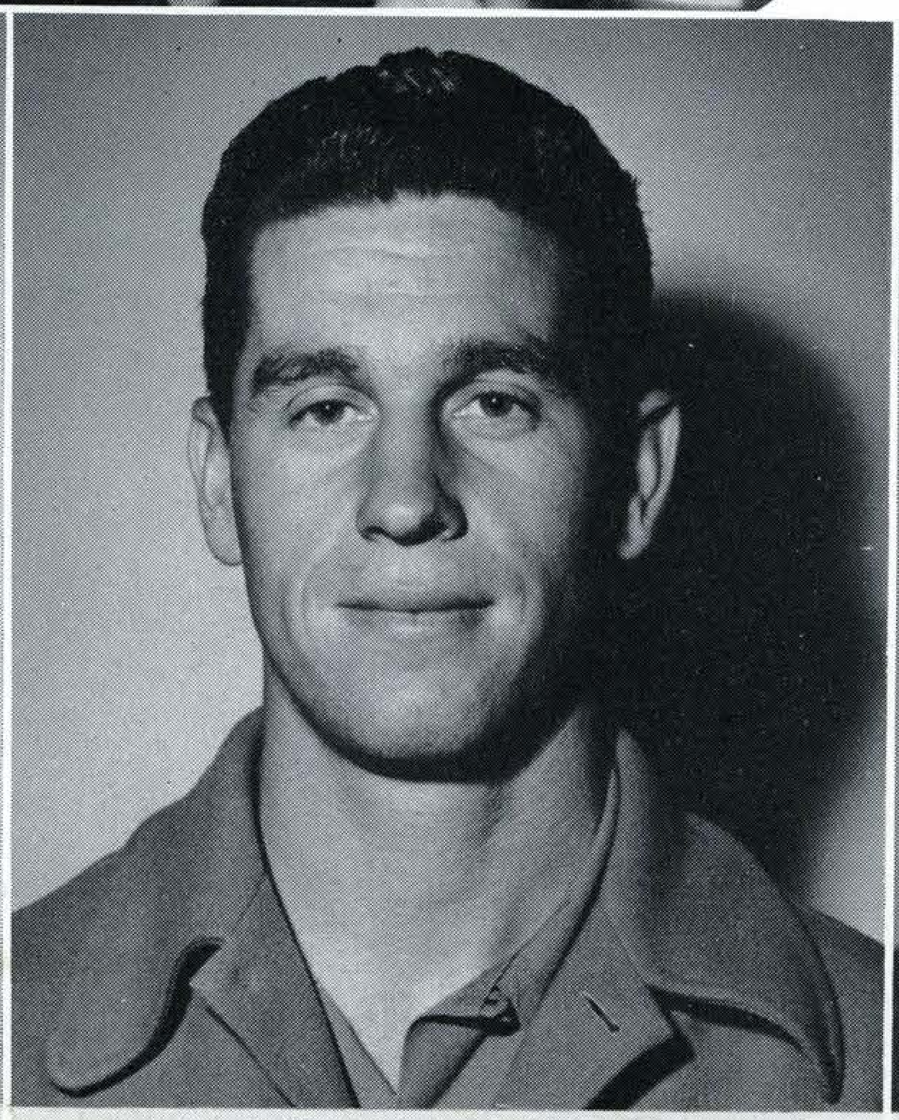

Sparta's win over San Diego gives them some kind of a claim to the national title inasmuch as the Aztecs captured the national intercollegiate title.

If you will look on the record books, you will at least find that the Spartan track team is consistent. For San Jose trackmen tried to win five times and five times they came back on the short end. The gold and white track team was broken into by inclement weather in the early season and had its progress retarded.

Chief of the Spartan threats were John Dierker and Captain Jim Kerr. Dierker, ace javelin tosser, garnered most of the State honors, throwing on two occasions 202 feet. In the Senior PAA he took fourth behind the nation's best. Kerr hovered around the fifty-second mark consistently in the 440 and wound up his collegiate career by competing in the Los Angeles Relays.

Next year the Spartans should be stronger with varsity candidates having more experience.

As far as the record books are concerned, it doesn't look like the Spartan baseball season can be called a standout one. In the CCAA conference race, San Jose State wound up as the rear guard of the pack. Despite the fact that they finished so low, three Spartans were selected on the all-conference teams picked by the four coaches. Ben Frizzi, Captain, was given an outfield berth and Bill Donnelly was selected as catcher. John Allen was chosen second string.

The case of why the Spartans failed to click in the early part of the season may be attributed to the fact that they played minus the services of Carl Stubenrauch, John Allen, Ed Hunt, Ray Cressio and Bill Donnelly. Highlight of the season was the twin victory turned in over the St. Mary's ball club.

Paced by undefeated Ivan Olsen at 135 pounds, and Far Western Champion Dave Hines, wrestling Coach Sam Della Maggiore's matmen went through an undefeated season of dual meets. The Spartan matmen garnered wins over UCLA, Cal Aggies, University of Nevada, San Francisco YMCA, and the University of California. Backing up Hines and Olsen were Con Lacy, Yosh Uchida, Capt. Bob Riddle, Charlie Smith, Vic Gorin, and Dave Kawamoto.

Championship crown of the Northern California Intercollegiate conference is in the hands of the San Jose State Soccer team for the second consecutive year. Hovey McDonald, coach, guided the Spartan soccer aggregation through an eight game schedule without defeat, the first perfect record ever set up by a Spartan soccer squad. Center forward Art Tindall paced the scorers with eleven goals. Also playing outstanding ball were Capt. Fred Albright, Mert Crockett, Roy Diedricksen and Ray Fahn.

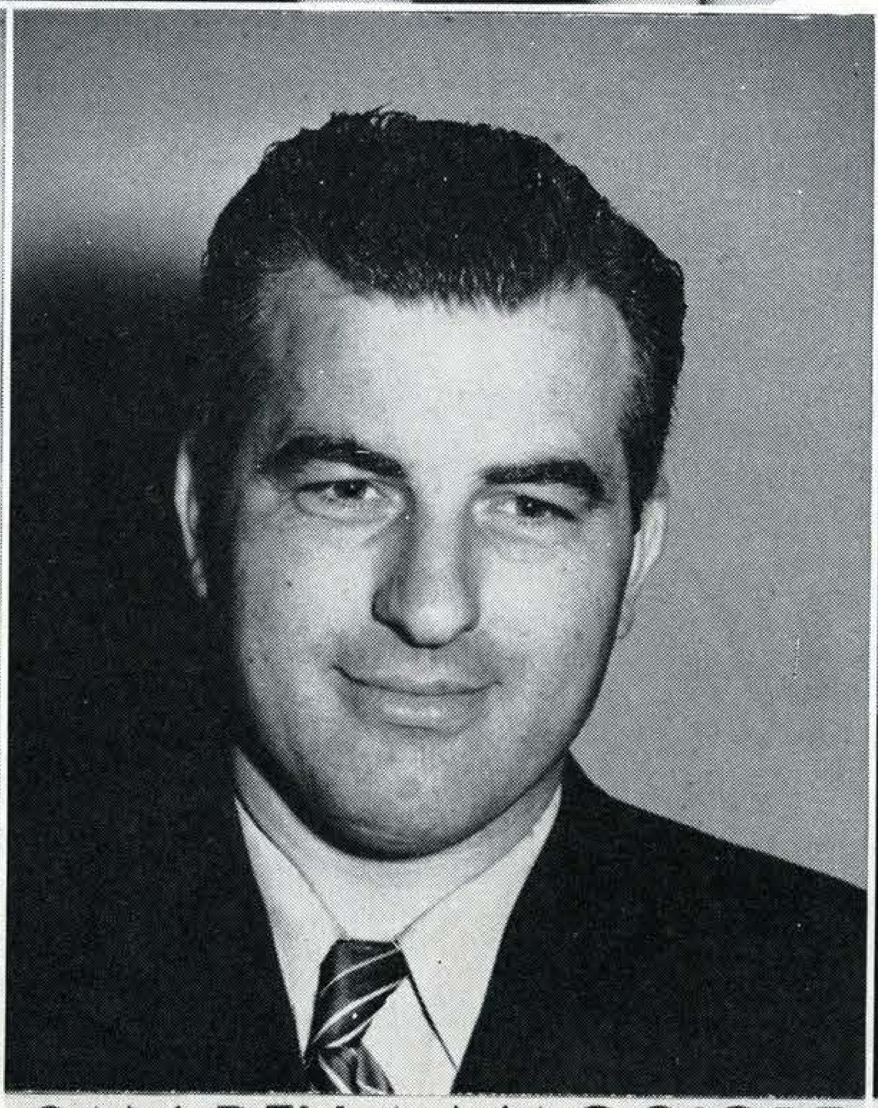

San Jose's boxing team had trouble winning meets this year but their opponents could do little better. For the Spartan boxers fought more ties than they did losses and wins. Outstanding for State were Bill Sellers, Dick Miyagawa, Bill Moulden, Jack Kemper, Bob Webber, Mark Guerra, Stan Smith, Jack Sarkisian and Tony Nasimento. Webber and Miyagawa finished third and fourth respectfully in the Nationals.

Top ranking Ronald Edwards, who captured the CCAA singles crown, paced tennis Coach T. Erwin Blesh's racquet swingers to an impressive season. In Northern California Intercollegiate Tennis Conference play, the Spartan aggregation won five matches while being set back in two.

When more swimming records are to be broken, Coach Charley Walker's paddlers will do it. Turning in one of their greatest seasons, the Spartan mermen captured eight meets and dropped two. Going by the boards were school records in the 300 yard medley relay, 300 yard medley swim, and 400 yard free style relay.

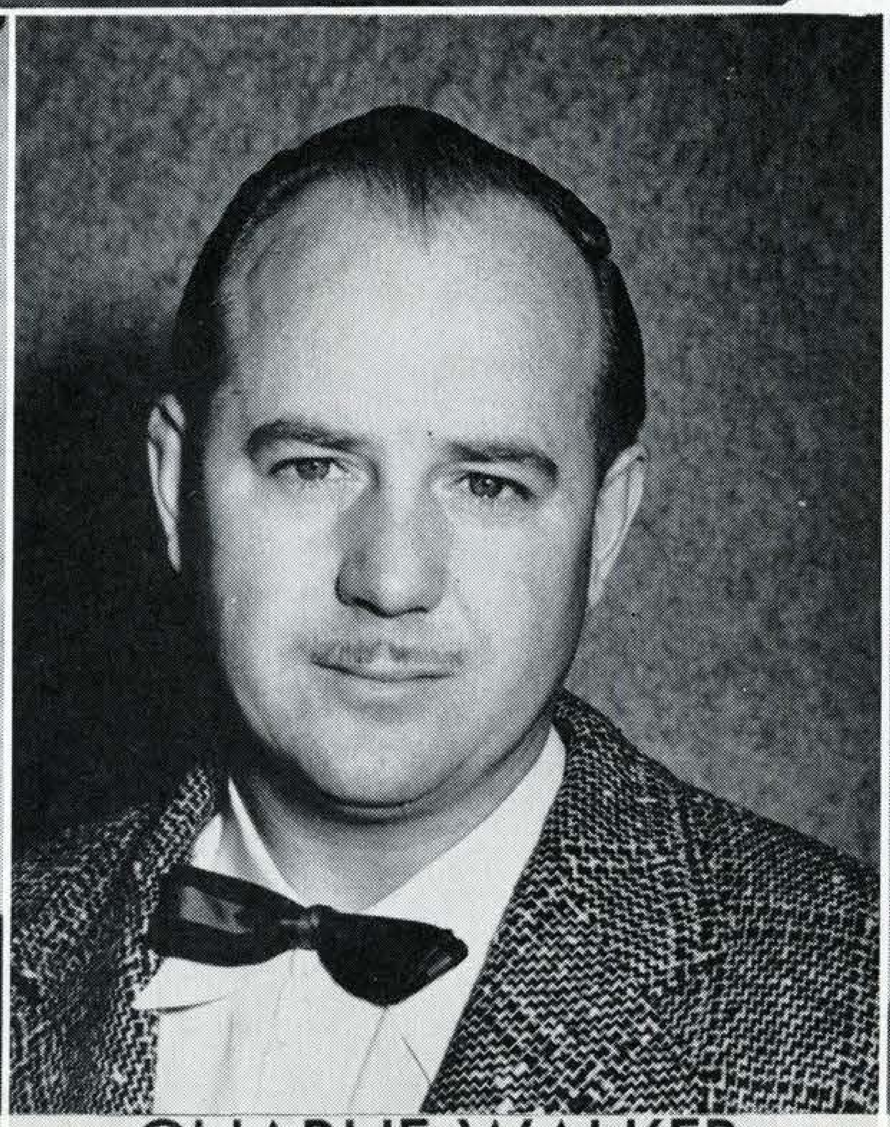

As far as golf competition is concerned, the Spartans are CCAA champions. Paced by Jack Bariteau and Warner Keeley, Walt McPherson's divot diggers had a successful season, capturing six matches while dropping two.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

The highly organized women's athletic program offers to interested students participation in almost every type of sport. Headed by Dr. Palmer, the faculty of eight instructors works with the students and aids them each in the perfection of individual techniques. This instructional program is arranged to meet all student needs: students who have poor health rating, may be excused from an active sport but must gain credit for rest periods spent in gym; every other woman student is required to take six quarters of activity, including swimming and fundamental rhythms. Women students who major in physical education may take one of two courses, each of which will fit the graduate for a different position. P. E. majors may either earn an AB in Physical Education which does not give them a teacher's credential, or she may earn a credential that will enable her to teach.

This year saw the joining of the Women's Athletic Association with the Associated Women Students in forming the Associated Women's Activities. All recreational activities formerly carried on by the P. E. department and W. A. A. are now controlled by A. W. A. There has been a noticeable swing back to posture work this year, as well as new interest in archery, badminton, and ice skating.
