

You, the students, are the heart and soul of California State University, Fresno. Along with your diverse bloodlines, you bring life to this campus with your endless inquiries and expressions of amazement.

Your diversity – as well as that of the faculty and staff – is easily matched by more than 200 student organizations. In this section, we are spotlighting eight student organizations.

We would have enjoyed shining the light on all of the student groups found on this campus, but obviously that wasn't possible.

Information about student organizations is available at the Student Life Center in the University Student Union. But for now, take a look at CSU Fresno and "meet" some dedicated people who give so much more than they take.
