

Her ^{New} Cat

The morning young and still;
my sleeping beauty rests at will;
I go now in search of my wish;
to bring this beauty some ^{tremendous} fish;

and when the bell strikes P.M. seven,
this beauty I shall hold in glorious heaven;
the silent water my presence beckons;
sleep my beauty 'til these ^{precious} seconds.

The wind and I