Dear Jane:

Thank you for your letter asking for the names of those women who have been of great assistance to me in my campaign for the State Assembly. I am most appreciative of any recognition you may give to them.

There are many fine people who worked in my behalf, and I realize that my success was due in large part to the support of my friends. My personal thanks to you, Jane, for the help and advice that you have given.

You will find a list of those who have given assistance enclosed herewith. I hope that we will continue to work together in the interest of good government. I will appreciate your viewpoints in all matters, and hope we can maintain good communication together.

Sincerely,

J. K. Mac Donald
