FOREWORD

With this completed book, the staff of the 1937 La Torre presents its work to you. They hope that it faithfully fulfills the purpose for which it is intended: a permanent record of the college year and of college friends and a constant reminder of the memories of the seventy-fifth year of San Jose State College. If the book does this, the staff feels that their efforts have been fully repaid.

Welcome to the celebration of the Seventy-fifth Birthday of San Jose State College. We hope you enjoy our Diamond Jubilee program, an expression of pride in our institution, in its honorable history and splendid accomplishments. During these three days of ceremony and festivity the college is on parade for you; the campus is yours. Visit the classrooms, the exhibits. Attend the general sessions in the Civic Auditorium, the symphony concert, the play "Peer Gynt," the Grand Ball. And then, when the Jubilee is over, come back and see us again. You are always welcome at San Jose State College.

HISTORY

It has been seventy-five years since Principal Ahira Holmes greeted the "one gentleman and five ladies" who came one June morning to a dingy little room on the ground floor of a San Francisco high school building to register for the opening of the Normal School of the State of California, created a month previously by an act of the state legislature. The year was 1862.

Three-quarters of a century later the Normal School of the State of California, now San Jose State College, looks back with pride and satisfaction upon its growth and accomplishments. Its initial enrollment of six has grown to a student body of three thousand. From one-room rural schools to the presidency of Carnegie Foundation, its alumni have contributed substantially, often brilliantly, to the cause of education. Its history has been colorful, impressive.

In 1871 the school moved from San Francisco to San Jose. Ten years later its fine new building was destroyed by fire. A second building, of brick, was destroyed by the great earthquake of 1906. Its third permanent building still stands as part of the greatly expanded San Jose State College of today.

NORMAL

Many ladies but few gentlemen attended the old Normal School, as the above pictures show.

In the diamond is pictured the first Normal School building, erected in San Jose in 1870. Destroyed by fire ten years later, it was replaced by the brick building shown lower right, which in turn was destroyed by the great earthquake of 1906.

Lower left is the Old Training School, dear to the hearts of many Normalites, now only a memory.

STATE COLLEGE

Three-quarters of a century later the student body is no longer dominated by women; beautiful buildings, spacious lawns, stately trees have replaced the single wooden building in the center of a barren field.

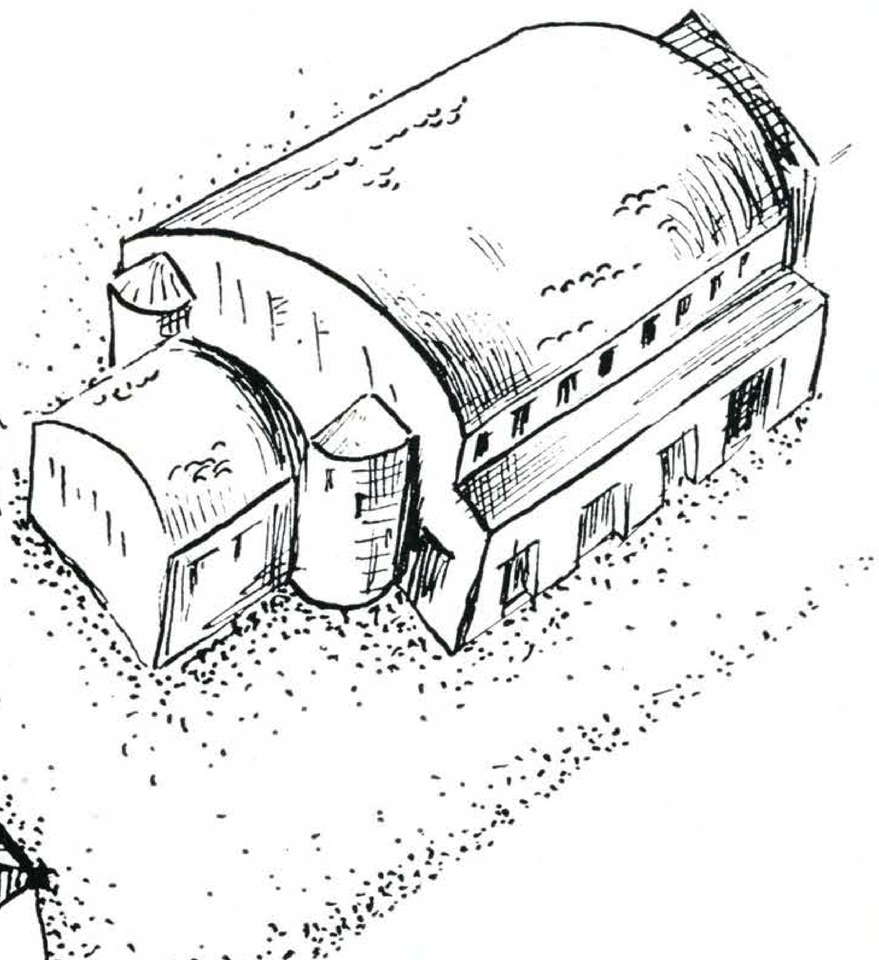
ABOUT THE COLLEGE

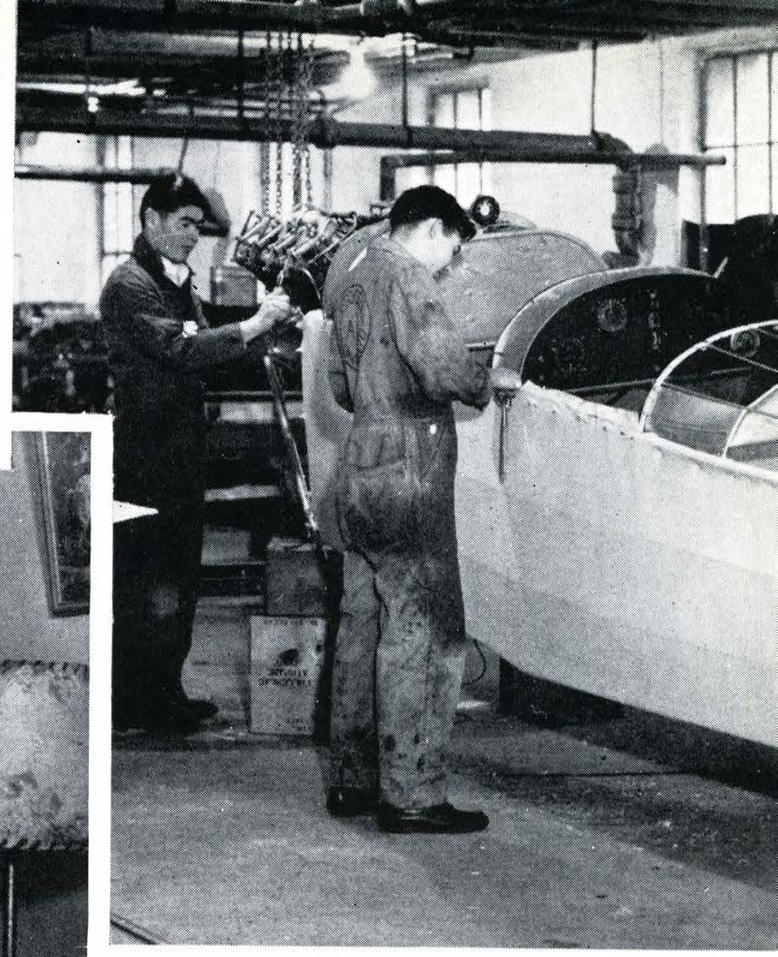
San Jose State College was created a "normal school," until 1935 was still known as a "teachers college." The change of name to "State College," however, suggests the broadening of objectives, the enriched curriculum which characterizes the school today.

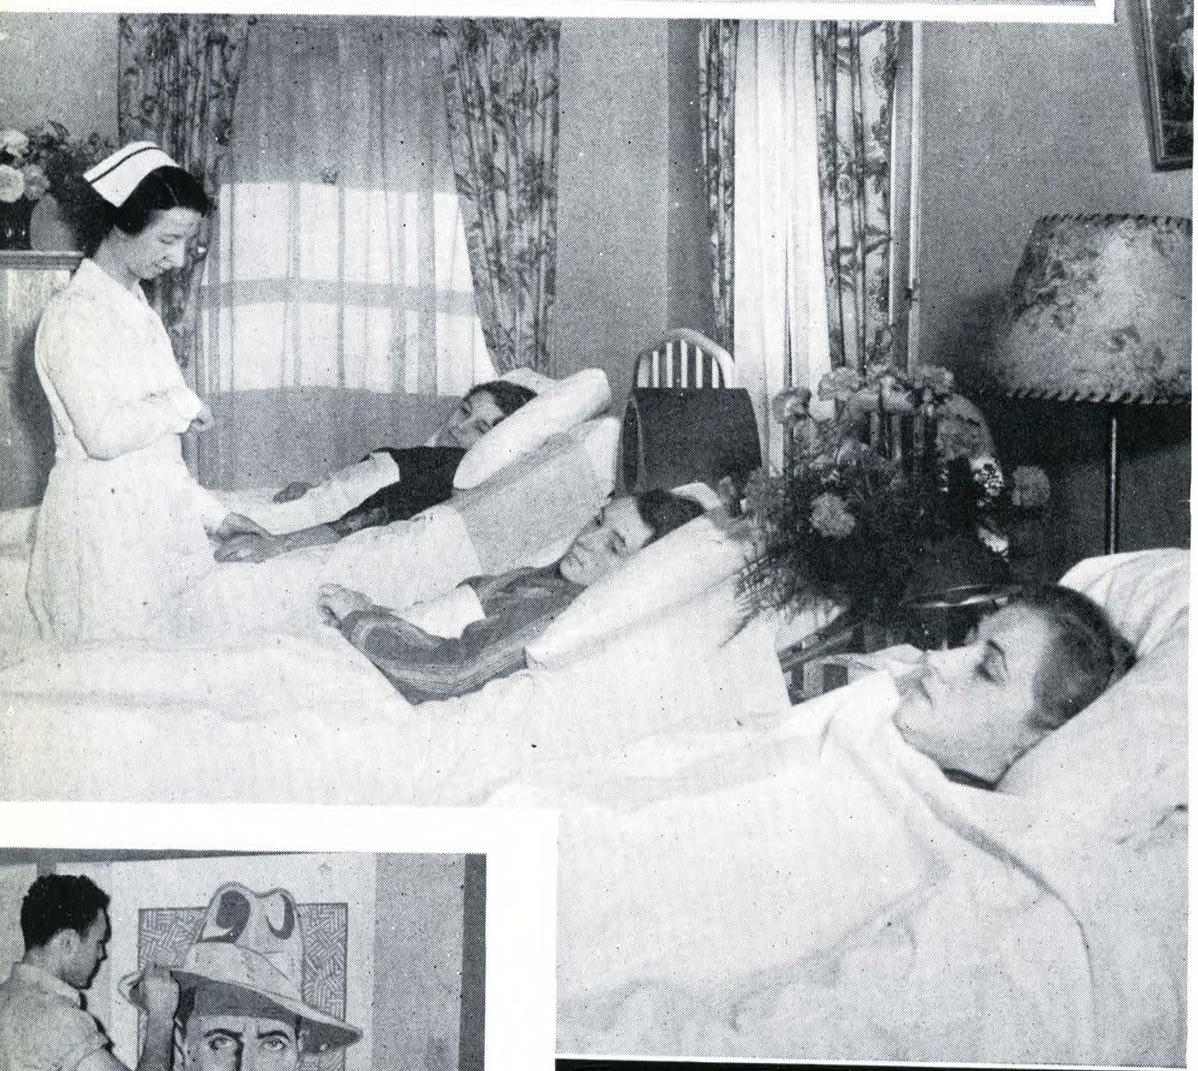
There are nineteen departments of the college, most of them offering preparation for vocations within their own fields as well as teacher-training and liberal arts courses. With the addition of a junior college featuring two-year technical training for the semi-professions, the institution has come to think of itself primarily as a vocational school.

Growth of the college to its present size is a striking aspect of its history. An original enrollment of six, seventy-five years ago, has grown to a present registration of three thousand. A single room on the ground floor of a high school building in San Francisco has expanded into the present college plant on Washington Square. An original faculty of one man is now an instructional staff of more than one hundred and fifty.

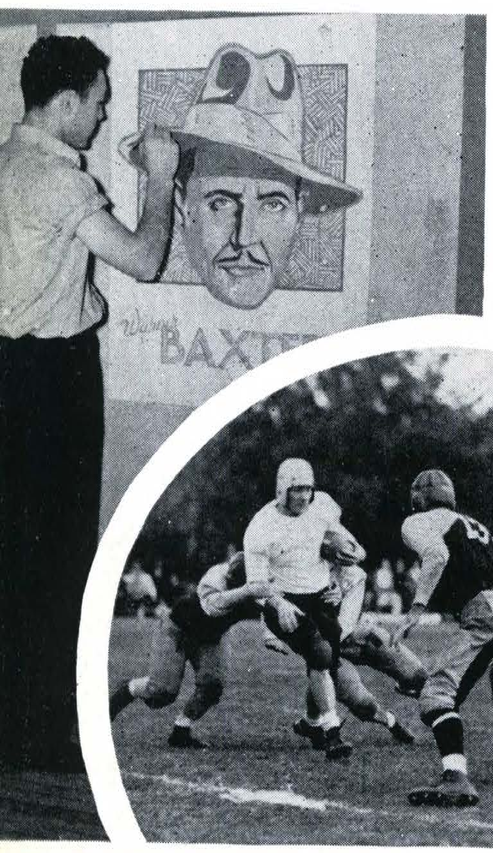
San Jose State College prides itself upon its democracy, its academic freedom, the opportunities it offers to serious-minded young men and women. It faces the future with a confidence born of seventy-five years of useful achievement.

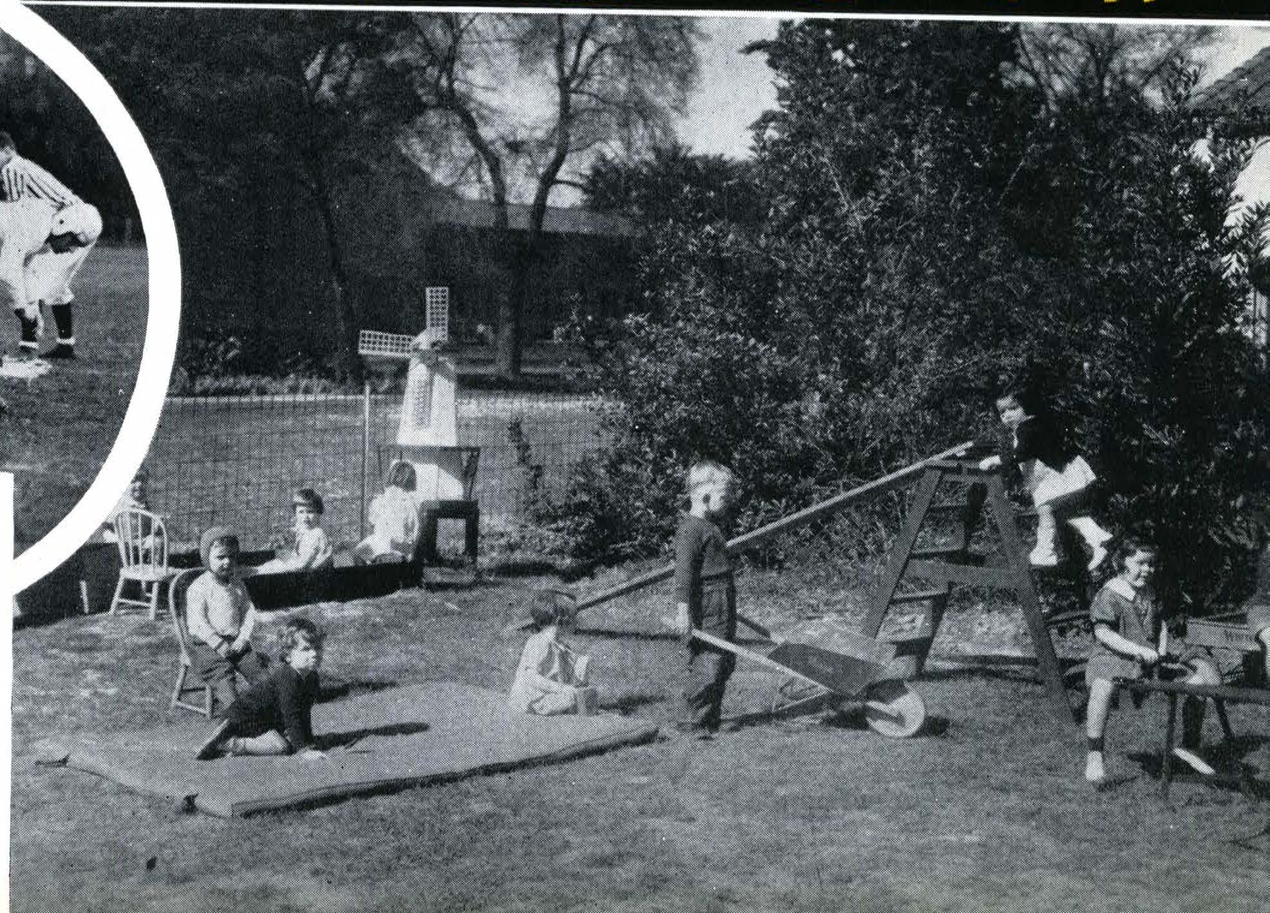


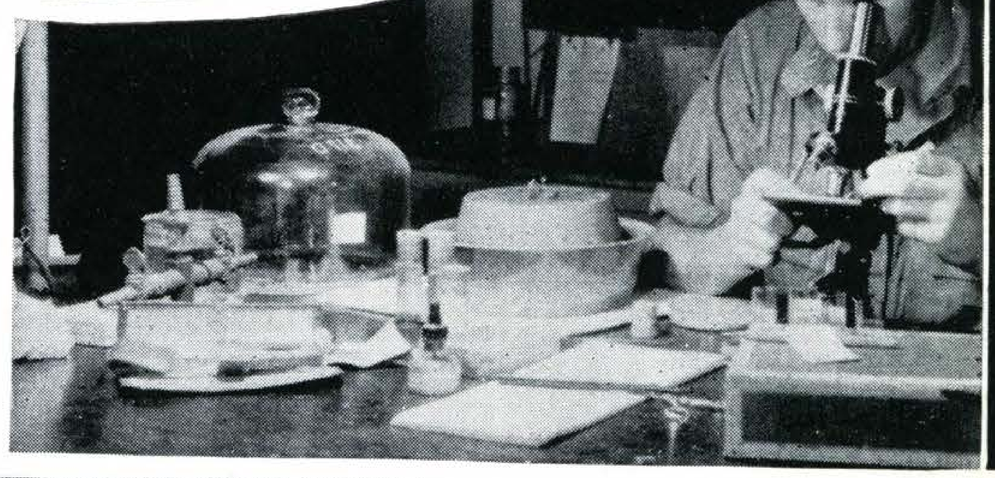


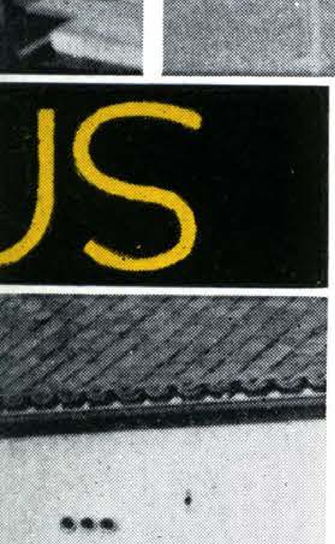


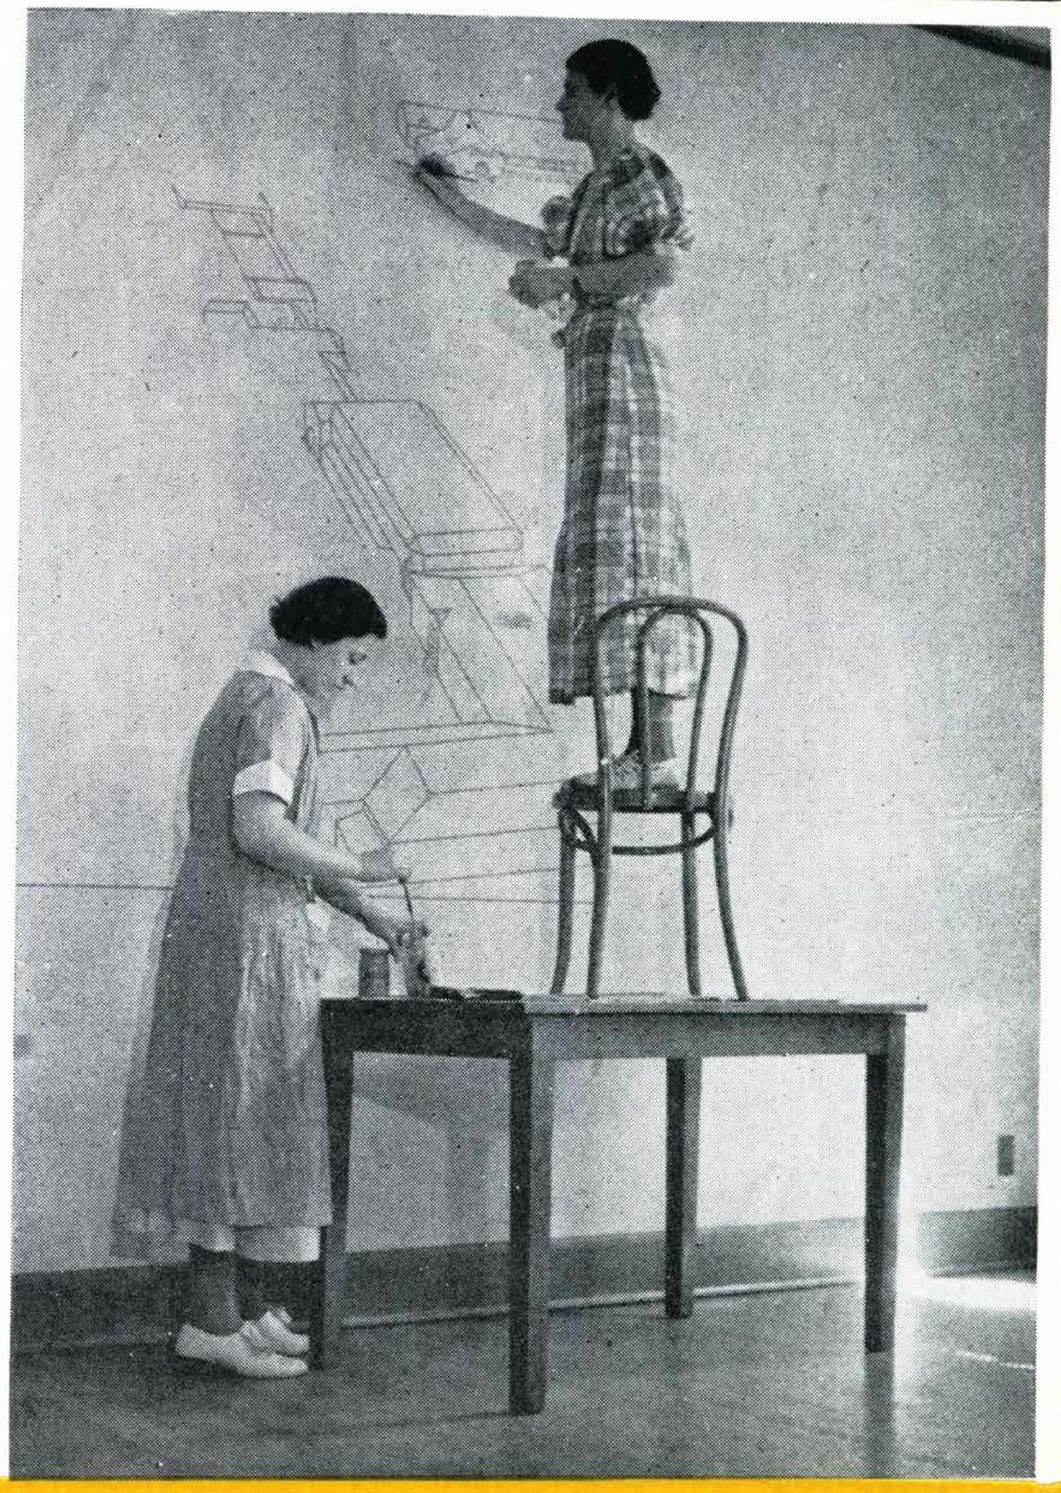
CANDID CAMPU











Although San Jose State College is still primarily a teacher-training institution, teacher-training no longer dominates the curriculum. Activities in a wide variety of fields are offered the 1937 student. Some of them, pictured above, are stagecraft and dramatics, aeronautics, draftsmanship, physical education, science, art, music. A scene at the student Health Cottage and the Nursery School operated by the Home Economics department are also shown.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

California, in the month of May, 1862. Lincoln was President. The Civil War was on, increasing in fury. The hoof beats of the Pony Express had but recently died out on the Western plains, and the strident cry of "Gold!" still echoed in the mountain valleys. The ox cart and the horseman were frequent incidents of the dusty roads, while the gay personality of Spain continued to lend color and spirit to an otherwise drab society.

In such a setting, a band of pioneer teachers finally convinced a pioneer legislature that the new state should begin immediately the training of teachers for the public schools.

Thus, seventy-five years ago, San Jose State College was born.

DRAMA

This year's dramatic season included four modern dramas and was splendidly climaxed by the presentation of Henrik Ibsen's immortal drama "Peer Gynt."

"Joyous Season" was offered as the annual Christmas show which is presented for the general public. Leading roles were portrayed by Lorraine Callander, Bill Gordon, Diane Wood, June Chestnut, and Gary Simpson.

The second offering which was the first of the winter quarter was a gay, rollicking comedy by Phillip Barry, "Spring Dance." Important in the cast were Vivien Wood, Gary Simpson, Etta Green, Ona Hardy, Lavelle Smith, and June Chestnut.

"Cassillis Engagement" by Sir John Hankin was also presented during the winter quarter and was well received. In the leading roles were Bill Gilson as the young English nobleman who became engaged to a chorus girl, and Virginia Range as the chorus girl, with Grace McBurney and Jean Holloway in outstanding supporting roles.

DRAMA

The regular Players season was brought to a successful close in the early weeks of the spring quarter by the presentation of "A Murder Has Been Arranged," by Emlyn Williams. Harold Randle gave a very capable performance in the role of Maurice Mullins and was adequately supported by Diane Wood, Burton Abbott, Jim Bailey, and Lorraine Callander.

Climaxing the brilliant season was the spectacular performance of Henrik Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" produced in conjunction with the Diamond Jubilee celebration.

More than five hundred persons were engaged in preparation for the most outstanding production in the history of the College. The San Jose State College presentation of "Peer Gynt" is the first production of this play west of Chicago.

The actual presentation was flawless in every detail with acting, directing, costuming, stage settings, and lighting effects combining to contribute to its perfection.

Jim Clancy was superb in the leading role of Peer, and to Hugh Gillis, as the director, go the highest honors.

ORCHESIS

Orchesis, the honorary dance group, completed the most successful season in their history under the direction of Miss Margaret Jewell. They opened their activities with the presentation of the "Juggler of Notre Dame" before a capacity audience in the Little Theater early in the winter quarter, and then inaugurated the first of a series of annual High School Dance Symposiums. Over two hundred girls attended and nine high schools were represented.

The annual dance recital was given by the organization on April 28, and was most enthusiastically received. Other programs presented included one at the San Francisco Museum of Art and a demonstration at Salinas Junior College. The membership of the group is composed of Miss Margaret Jewell, Janet Cameron, president, Lillian Brown, Betty Bruch, Florence Churin, Muriel Ernst, Ellree Ferguson, Marie Fleck, Doris Frost, Carmelita Gilcrest, Charlotte Jennings, Virginia Jennings, Dorothea Jordan, Jean Myers, Evelyn Pinkham, Jo Poor, Lillian Radivoj, Evelyn Rydberg, Frances Scott, Dorothy Tonietti, Agnes Trinchero, June Wright, with John Andrews and Jean Stirling Long, accompanists.

THE ATHLETIC YEAR

Under the able generalship of Coach Dud DeGroot as chief of staff, the athletic teams of San Jose State have just completed a year to which every student and alumnus of the College can look with pride. Dud has maintained his policy of building men as well as teams and should be heartily congratulated on his fine work as an educator.

The football team had the toughest schedule in its history, encountering some of the best independent teams on the coast. While the team didn't win them all, their opponents knew they had been through a real battle. This year a cross-city rivalry was inaugurated when the Spartans met Santa Clara, Sugar Bowl Champions, in the Spartan Stadium and held them to a 20-0 decision. Twenty-seven footballers made the trip to the Hawaiian Islands and played two benefit games with the University of Hawaii and Kamehameha Alumni which they won very decisively.

The Basketball team joined the newly formed Northern California Intercollegiate Basketball Conference which includes Santa Clara, Saint Marys, U. S. F., and the College of Pacific. We placed fourth in the Conference, but won a game from Saint Marys, Conference champions. Ivor Thomas, the Spartan's star center, was the high scorer of the circuit.

Baseball and track each saw new coaches take the helm and produce outstanding squads, while Coach Portal developed new champions who added new titles to the boxing team's impressive record. Coach Gene Gratton, local attorney, who this year again donated his services as coach of the wrestling team, guided his athletes to several new championships and victories over the best teams on West coast.

The golf and tennis teams also joined the Northern California Intercollegiate Conference, the tennis team emerging as champions, and the golf team only losing out in the final playoff to U. S. F.

The swimming, water polo, and soccer teams all had successful seasons and in all cases proved themselves to be good sportsmen.

The Freshmen teams found many promising prospects who will next year come up to strengthen the varsity squads.

FOOTBALL

UNIVERSITY OF SAN FRANCISCO

OCTOBER 3

University of San Francisco's Dons, fresh from victories over St. Mary's of Texas and Fresno State, spoiled San Jose State's 1937 grid opener by bringing with them a superlative driving fullback, veteran Ray Peterson, who led his teammates to a somewhat lackadaisical 13-0 victory over the Spartans.

Outweighed and out-experienced, San Jose State's only offensive threats were displayed by Fullback Bill "Bull" Lewis and Gene Rocchi. One hundred and forty pound Rocchi, playing the safety position, showed well with several lengthy punt returns.

While the Gold and White lacked an offense, Coach DeGroot commented favorably upon its defense.

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

OCTOBER 10

San Jose's greatest football rivals, the College of Pacific, yielded again to the sway of a three-year jinx, and Coach Alonzo Stagg's Bengal Tigers again rode back to Stockton, victims of an 8-0 decision suffered at the hands of the Spartans.

Sparta struck twice in the last half of the fourth quarter, once when Herb Hudson and Jack Martin smeared Tiger punter Coe behind his goal line for a safety, and a second time when Rocchi sped off left tackle for a perfectly executed reverse, 46 yards, and a touchdown.

UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA

OCTOBER 17

The Santa Clara Broncos, Sugar Bowl Champions and one of the strongest teams on the Pacific Coast, took to the air in the second half after an inspired San Jose team had worried Coach Buck Shaw no little, and ended the first football rivalry between the two schools with a decisive 20-0 victory.

Riddled with injuries, the Spartans gave way in the second half only after superior Bronco reserves and an excellent passing attack showed Santa Clara to be the stronger team.

Walt McPherson, a made-over end, showed well in fullback position, getting off several nice punts and passes.

FOOTBALL

SAN DIEGO STATE

OCTOBER 24

The San Diego Aztecs, penetrating an early first quarter advance which held them for four downs on the one yard line, came back later in that period and again in the third quarter to defeat the traveling Spartans, 14-6.

San Jose State's lone tally came directly after the period between halves, the culmination of a concerted 85 yard drive and a scoring pass, Collins to Baldwin.

While State's defense was ragged in the opening periods, the play of George Cannell and Bob Drexel, along with the offensive display of Tony Merino and Walt McPherson, kept the Staters very much in the ball game.

HUMBOLDT STATE

NOVEMBER 7

San Jose State's most humiliating defeat of an up-and-down season was supplied by Humboldt State College when they dumped the Spartans 20-0.

Led by Earl Meneweather, Negro backfield ace, Humboldt had things pretty much their own way as Sparta bogged in its tracks. All scores came in the first half, and through passes.

The Washington Square squad threatened seriously in the closing minutes of the game, driving to the 6 yard line, where the gun ended further progress.

REDLANDS UNIVERSITY

NOVEMBER 11

The San Jose State varsity eleven rose up in all its might to smite a clever University of Redlands squad 40-6 in a brilliant display of second half offense before an Armistice Day crowd of 7000 in Spartan Stadium.

Scoring on the third play by means of the publicized "rassle-dazzle" system, Redlands looked for a while as if the local eleven was going to have to search elsewhere for a winning attack.

San Jose came back in the middle of the second period when Luke Argilla threw a pass to Don Baldwin for State's initial score. From then on, everything was San Jose's.

FOOTBALL

NOVEMBER 26

The Turkey Day classic was a pleasing finale to a rather tame mainland schedule. DeGroot's Warner attack, as it has for the past three years, began functioning as the season ended. Deception and power, seen only seldom before in the season, was present, and it was only a matter of the number of points the Spartans would be able to ring up against the hard-fighting but light Arizona invaders.

The "old reliable" pass play, Collins to Baldwin, clicked for 23 yards for the first touchdown. From there on Bob Wing, Bob Stone, Bruce Daily, Bull Lewis, and Walt McPherson were very impressive in their offensive and defensive tactics.

In the fourth quarter, Arizona decided that things were getting too one-sided; so a drive sparked by Phillips, Palmer, and Schafer culminated in the Bulldog's lone score, with the final score standing at 33 to 6 in San Jose's favor.

HAWAII UNIVERSITY

DECEMBER 11

With the Hawaiians nabbing the lead early in the first quarter with 8 points, the Spartans scored their first touchdown in the second quarter on a 33 yard run, followed by a 33 yard pass which was good for a touchdown by End Wattenbarger. In the third period, a series of line plays moved the ball 50 yards to Hawaii's 30, where Walt McPherson knifed through center to a score. The tilt ended with the Spartans on the long end of a 13 to 8 score.

KAMEHAMEHA ALUMNI

DECEMBER 16

Kamehameha grabbed a 6 point lead in the first quarter on a wind-ridden 58 yard pass, but the hard charging Spartans quickly tied the score when Bull Lewis climaxed a 75 yard march by plunging over from the three yard stripe. Luke Argilla carried the ball over twice in the third period to clinch the game. In the fourth quarter Don Baldwin and Jack Hilton scored on pass plays. The final score stood at 33-6 in favor of the Spartans.

BASKETBALL

Under the leadership of Captain Mel DeSelle and Coach Bill Hubbard, the 1937 edition of the Spartan Basketball team entered a newly formed Northern California Intercollegiate Basketball Conference, consisting of Santa Clara, Saint Marys, University of San Francisco, and College of Pacific. Although the Spartans only took fourth place in the Conference, they had the circuit's high scorer in Ivor Thomas, spidery Spartan center.

The basketballers opened the season with a practice game in which they held the Stanford Cardinals, Pacific Coast Conference Champiors, to a 31-24 score.

After eight practice tilts, the Spartans opened their own conference series against Pacific in the Bengals' home pavilion and won 42 to 19. They then moved down to the Civic Auditorium where they were the guests of the Santa Clara Broncos and lost a close 38 to 36 decision in a thrilling last minute climax.

The Olympic Club game and a return tilt with the Bengals were then taken in stride. The Spartans were then defeated by Saint Marys, U. S. F., and the Y. M. I. before returning to the win column by beating the Nevada Wolfpack on the Spartan Pavilion. They then lost return games to Santa Clara and U. S. F. In a happy climax to the season the locals won from Saint Marys in an extra session game on our own floor, thus causing a playoff between Santa Clara and Saint Marys for high conference honors in which the Gaels won the championship.

The 1937 varsity baseball team, under the able coaching of Gill Bishop, completed a highly successful season by winning nine out of fourteen starts.

The locals looked very impressive in losing to California, the P. C. C. champions, by the close score of 5 to 7 with Burt Watson on the mound. Les Carpenter proved to be the hero of the game as he drove out a home run with two men on base.

During the Spring vacation, the team traveled south to Arizona to divide a pair of games with strong Arizona University and to beat Arizona State by the score of 13 to 3. On the same trip the Spartans handed Taft J. C. a 10 to 1 licking.

Dicky Main and Carpenter led the season's batting average with .349 and .348 respectively.

The freshman baseball team, coached by Franny Pura, won a large percentage of their games and proved that the future teams on the Washington Square will be of number one caliber.

TRACK

Under the tutorage of Coach Tiny Hartranft the 1937 Track Team has improved greatly over last year's aggregation. Led by Captain Carl Cammock were several individual stars who helped to elevate the school in the world of track and field. The most outstanding of these was Javelin Thrower Lowell Todd who placed second in the Drake relays and broke the school record with a throw of 216 feet. Hal Fosberg has done consistently well in the discus and shotput events. Owen Collins did better than a 50 second quarter all season, while the Relay Team of Collins, Sawtelle, Taylor, and Thurman broke the school record for the mile relay, and Broad-jumpers Bendeich and Parr approached the 24 foot mark in the pit. Even brighter are the prospects for the team next year with many outstanding men coming up from the Freshman squad.
