WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

January 3, 1989

Dear Dan and Jane,

Thank you so much for thinking of me during this Holiday Season. I returned to Washington yesterday from California and found your Season's thoughtfulness. I want you to know how much I appreciated hearing from you.

Today a new Senate was installed with a new Majority Leader, George Mitchell of Maine. In a few days we will have a new President. The challenges we confront in 1989 are enormous. But I am confident -- indeed, optimistic -- about the future.

The idea of Peace on Earth is the essence of the Holiday Season, and this season has been notable because the prospects for a secure peace seem brighter than anytime in my memory.

May 1989 build on the spirit of peace and rejoicing with which we begin the year.

Ever,

Alan Cranston
