Auxiliaries

The auxiliary corporations are nonprofit public benefit entities organized and operating for the purpose of assisting California State University, Fresno in the attainment of its educational mission. Auxiliary organizations must be self-supporting and do not receive funding from general fund sources. Fresno State has six auxiliary organizations — Associated Students, Inc.; Athletic Corporation; California State University, Fresno Association, Inc.; California State University, Fresno Foundation; the Agricultural Foundation of California State University, Fresno; and Fresno State Programs for Children, Inc. Auxiliary corporations provide direct and indirect services for Fresno State students.

The California State University, Fresno Association, Inc.

This corporation operates the Kennel Bookstore, University Food Services, University Courtyard, and University Student Union. It provides management, accounting, and professional services to other campus auxiliary organization. Through the support of various university projects, the Association is a major contributor to the university.

The Association is governed by a board of directors. Surplus funds generated in excess of required reserves for working capital, capital replacements, and future operations are used for the benefit of the entire campus. When you see the following facilities, think of the California State University, Fresno Association, Inc.:

- The University Student Union, Satellite Student Union, and the Pavilion

Bulldog fans will find many items in the Kennel Bookstore, such as this Fresno State sweatshirt.

- The Save Mart Center (www.savemartcenter.com)

The California State University, Fresno Foundation

The Foundation is responsible for the financial management and administration of grants and contracts, oversight of foundation investments, and operation and management of trust accounts in support of university operations. It is responsible for acceptance and management of all gifts and charitable donations — matching gifts, wills, bequests, trusts, endowments, academic and athletic scholarships, and short-term student loans — made to the university and other auxiliary corporations.

Governed by a board of governors, the Foundation provides the campus community with high-quality financial services while generating funds to support university programs and activities.

The Agricultural Foundation

This auxiliary provides financial support for the management of the University Farm Laboratory and student project program for the College of Agricultural Sciences and Technology. The Agricultural Foundation is governed by a board of directors.

The Agricultural Foundation provides the funding, land, animals, orchards, and vineyards for students to receive practical experience in agriculture. Students raise livestock and grow all types of crops on the University Farm. Many of the products are sold through the campus Farm Market. ♦

Copy services are available downstairs in the Kennel Bookstore next to the Pavilion.
