Ferdinand Hiller wrote in his "Jonleben" page 174:

"On March 13, shortly before his death, Hummel took me for the second time to see Beethoven. We found his conditionsworse. Shortly before our visit he had received as a gift a picture of the house Hayden was born. He had it near his bed and showed it to us. "It made me a childish pleasure" he said "the cradle of such a great man."

NOTE: Beethoven died on March 26, 1827
