

Long Ago

Long ago when the horses were not alone because the people had no cars, they rode their horses near and far.

Lots of people wore glasses. Some people were old and mama made cakes and pies when it was cold.

In the morning they had breakfast. At night they slept warm and tight.

Michele Serros