

ETV apparently unwanted

Educational television (ETV) at SF State may become a multi-million dollar operation — one which a majority of campus departments apparently don't want any part of at this point.

The Academic Senate was handed a report yesterday which reflected faculty opinion of ETV as well as what using ETV at SF State might involve.

The report was requested of all California state colleges by the Board of Trustees last May. However, it does not indicate that SF State will have a full-scale ETV program.

This was guaranteed by the Trustees who stipulated "that the basic decision to be reached on each campus is whether or not educational television will be used."

Before January 2, an Academic Senate committee sent a request to 50 campus departments to outline a prospective ETV program for 1964 to 1970.

Only 29 departments replied. Fifteen favored ETV. Eight opposed it. The other six said they were still studying the situation when the reports were due January 15.

The replies indicate the pro-and-con-ETV sentiments of the various departments.

The World Literature Department was anti-ETV:

"It has been impossible for the World Literature Department to give much time to the request for a departmental report of the ETV Study Report. More important demands have had first priority at this time," a spokesman for the department wrote.

"However, I can report a general sentiment on the part of our department: that we see no applicability of ETV to the work of our department," he added.

Pro-ETV sentiment came from the Math Department:

"As with any teaching aid, the Mathematics Department intends to use ETV wherever and whenever it can be employed to improve the quality of our instruction . . ."

Since more than two-thirds of the campus departments are either anti-ETV or uncommitted, the report is inconclusive.

The projected figures for the 15 pro-ETV departments are:

- The total costs for ETV from 1964 to 1970 is $4.6 million. Equipment accounts for the largest chunk — $3.4 million. Operating expenses gobble up the next biggest share with $848,019.

- The technical staff gets $229,800 and $95,680 goes to the production staff. Both staffs are to be drawn from the campus Radio-TV-Film Department.

- Approximately 8,615 students per semester would use ETV. Out of this figure, about 2,500 students will get their ETV through orientation, as was done for the first time this semester.

- Another 1,100 students will be in the ED 130 series, and the 1580 students from the health, PE and Recreation Department. This only leaves about 3,500 students watching TV from the other 12 departments.

Thirteen of the departments only want to televise portions of courses. Just two departments were willing to televise total courses — Secondary Education with open circuit teacher training, and Physical Science with PS 34 and Astronomy 15.

Physical Science 34 was televised last Spring over closed circuit TV. It was found that more students earned better grades in the TV course than in previous semesters without TV.

This report will soon be forwarded to the Chancellor's office with these recommendations:

- The study should not be considered as a commitment of the college or departments to a definite program.

- That the report be viewed as a very tentative one, subject to change.

SF traffic engineer to visit hazardous campus crossing

San Francisco's Traffic Engineer, Gordon Hanson, will be at SF State this week to observe in person the 19th and Holloway intersection. Hanson said that the danger at the intersection is sufficient to warrant this personal inspection.

He said that the city traffic department was unaware of the hazards of the 19th and Holloway location. However, he has consulted with Orrin Deland, SF State Business Manager, regarding general traffic problems around the campus.

It was at the insistence of Deland that the Muni island on the east side of 19th Ave. was extended by one-third last year.

Also, the possibility of posting additional speed limit signs and "school-slow" signs will be considered.

Stricter enforcement of the speed limit along 19th is forthcoming. The SF State Police Department Traffic Bureau, is expected to keep an eye on speeders.

Conflicting interests

Hearing is delayed

The Board of Permit Appeals delayed making a decision in the hearing between the Lakeside Property Owners Association and the Archdiocese of San Francisco due to a conflict of interest by board president George B. Gillin.

Lakeside homeowners are objecting to a "use permit" granted to the Archdiocese enabling two houses to be converted into religious centers for the SF State Newman Club.

Both contested houses are one block from the campus, at 288 Denslowe Drive and at 50 Banbury Street.

The board will continue the hearing on March 9 allowing the city attorney time to make a decision on a possible conflict of interests.

Gillin is a member of the Property Owners Association and is also a Roman Catholic.

The homeowners argue that converting the two houses to the single dwelling residence religious centers would violate zoning of the area, and would create an unnecessary parking problem.

A spokesman for the homeowners told members of the board that there were two Roman Catholic churches within one mile of SF State. He said that students who wanted religious counseling could "walk a mile for it."

The Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Bowe told the board that the two houses would serve as a chapel and a consultation center.

Humorist? then edit Garter

Today is the deadline for application for the position of editor of Garter, SF State's official humor magazine.

Academic requirement for the post is a 2.25 grade point average or better.

Interested students can apply in AS president Tom Ramsay's office in Hut T-1.

Senate says ETV survey is not final

The Academic Senate voted Tuesday to send a survey of SF State's opinion toward educational television (ETV) to Chancellor Glenn Dumke.

But the Senate made it clear that the study to be submitted is a survey of opinion and not a final report on the subject.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke requested last year that all state colleges prepare a report on the use of ETV. The Senate appointed a committee to meet this request.

The committee led by George Steiner, associate professor of creative arts, surveyed campus opinion and listed department requests, and equipment, budgetary and technical estimates.

The committee said that "the report should be viewed as a very tentative one, subject to change."

To reinforce this position, George Hallowitz, department head of the interdisciplinary center, moved that it be made clear to the Chancellor's office that the study is not a specific report. The motion passed on a voice vote.

Richard Axen, chairman of higher education followed that with a motion directing Stanley F. Paulson, vice president of academic affairs, to find out:

- When the Chancellor's office will submit a report to the Board of Trustees for action.

- How SF State will be represented in the Chancellor's report if no further report is made.

- How the Chancellor's office will take the reports, digest them and reflect the views of the state colleges' to the Trustees.

"This report does leave us vulnerable," Axen said. The motion passed on a voice vote.

Steiner's committee was also directed to continue with development of a plan for educational television that will be sent to the Chancellor's office.

Air Force OTS officer on campus

SF State seniors and graduate students interested in the Air Force, can meet with Captain Burl Weaver, Officer Training School selection officer, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. today in the Placement Office, AD 169.

Marchers to protest jitneys

About 15 SF State students intend to march today in protest of higher prices charged by the Northgate Transit Co. which provides transportation from Westlake to and from campus.

Carol Smith and Shiela Levine, two SF State students, are the leaders of the "jitney" picket.

"There are two reasons why we have to do something about jitneys," said Miss Levine. "For one thing, high school students from Westmoor are allowed a nicker reduction in price while the college student, who is paying for his own education, is required to pay the full fare. Secondly, we believe that they are unsafe because the drivers load their jitneys over the registered maximum capacity of passengers, thus making any type of decent transportation impossible."

sengers, thus making any type of decent transportation impossible."

Two days ago, (Feb. 24) the Northgate Transit Co. raised jitney fares from 15 cents to 20 cents on every weekday, and from 20 cents to 25 cents on Sundays and holidays.

"For about a 15 minute ride," said Miss Smith, "we are being forced to pay 80 cents a day to get to and from SF State. The jitneys are the sole means of transportation from Westlake to our campus, so a student has no opportunity of clearing the situation by going to school somehow else."

The protesters will march today at 3:00 p.m. from Font Blvd. to Lake Merced, and from there to the Westlake Shopping Center.

Letters to the Editor

Not 'four square'

Editor:
I want to correct the misquotation you attributed to me in today's Gater (2/20/64). You said that I came out "four square in favor of the merger plan." In fact, what I said to your reporter was that I would want to see the details of any plan before I could say whether I favored it or not. I said that it would be quite advantageous to have widespread discussion of the idea. To be in favor of discussion is hardly to be "four square" in favor of "the" plan—especially when no specific plan has yet been prepared.

Ban 'Beatlemania'

Editor:
In this present day and age it is fashionable to have an "anti-something" party: anti-integration, anti-Goldwater, anti-war, anti-peace, anti-

Mame, etc. I now propose a new party of this ilk—an anti-Beatle party, dedicated to the proposition that not all beetles are created equal and sworn to the difficult and selfless task of keeping the Beatles and the resultant disease, Beatlemania, from entering our hallowed college grounds.

This party does not propose to attack all beetles, but only the recent importation from England of the Two-legged variety, the most vicious species. There are only four members of this class, but their viciousness stems from the fact that they seem to be more concerned with the spreading of infectious Beatlemania throughout the entire world than with the propagation of their class, as all four members are males.

It behooves me—indeed it forces us to take notice of this dire menace and to do our utmost to prevent the spread of this disease, and to use every means at our disposal to rid ourselves of this pestilence wherever it has struck.

Those students, teachers, and friends who desire to make overt their dormant protests of the Beatles and their complementary Beatlemania should keep their eyes on the Students' Bulletin Board outside BSS 104, where, shortly after the appearance of this notice, will appear a "Take One" pouch which will contain several "Ban the Beatles" badges. These badges will be replaced as the demand dictates and as the supply allows.

Students of the college, arise. Ban the Beatles!

She's Miss SF Chinatown but she still can't believe it

Vivian Lee has to be the most unpretentious young lady in San Francisco.

It was only a week and a half ago at the Masonic Auditorium that the SF State freshman was selected Miss Chinatown San Francisco, but the truth of the matter is that she doesn't believe it yet.

In a growing age of cynicism, she answers all questions with extemporaneous honesty. She thinks, she giggles, she becomes dazed. She bubbles like a freshly opened bottle of champagne.

On the other side, she is voluptuously proportioned with maturity that belies her 18 years of age.

She wraps 34-22-34 around her height of 5-2 and a weight of 100 pounds.

In short, she is the girl every boy would like to take home to mother.

Her victory, which actually is a runner-up position to Miss Chinatown U. S. A., Josie Leong of Sacramento City College, was like a key to the Kingdom of God—to her, that is.

"I just sat there and sat there," she enthusiastically relates. "They went up to the first princess and they hadn't called my name yet."

"So finally they said it. And I just sat there. . . . And then I started screaming. . . ."

"You should have heard me scream!"

"And then I just sat there. They had to help me up. I was shocked."

The science major had been urged for years by her grandparents to enter, and she says her relatives were even more excited than she.

It is doubtful.

"It's just great, but we're all tired," she said. "This is really an experience. I didn't expect this much."

"You know, I woke up the next day and wondered what all the flowers were doing in the room. We're really busy now. They have us going from nine in the morning to midnight."

Certainly, Vivian was not the most accessible girl last week. She didn't attend any classes until Monday.

This reporter rang the Beverly Plaza hotel, where all the queens and princesses were staying, eight or nine times before reaching her at 11:30 p.m.

She was at a normal "coke-tail" party at the normal home of millionaire Milton Shoong.

Before last Saturday's pageant, rehearsals took up the contestant's time. Vivian put on a fashion show, featuring "A Three-Piece Outfit for a Weekend."

It consisted of a basic dress, a full-length skirt and a cape made of gold brocade. Designing, Vivian says, has been her habit for six to seven years.

Since her crowning, which was worth a trip to Hawaii, it's been busy, busy—introductions to sponsors, luncheons, dinners and "coke-tail" parties at the home of millionaires.

Events speed up Friday with the coronation ceremony at the Victory Hall, and then the Coronation Ball at the Fairmont Hotel that evening.

Saturday the girls moved into Louie's on Grant Avenue to perform a fashion show. That night was the apex of Chinese New Year—the colorful parade.

"I just hope it doesn't rain," Vivian offered.

It didn't.

SF State prof host on KPIX Sunday series

SF State assistant professor of radio-TV, John Fell, is program host on KPIX-TV's new series "Worlds of Movies," currently showing Sundays at 1 p.m.

Fell shows classic films from the past and discusses each of them as they relate to the history of cinematic art.

Samples of the film series are: "Night Mail," "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," and "Romance Sentimentale."

Directors such as Hitchcock, Griffith and Eisenstein will be presented and, closing the series, work by new directors at SF State will be shown.

Bookstore wiring fouls friendly fowl

SF State will no longer welcome our fine-feathered friends from San Juan Capistrano.

Why not?

Largely because of a wiring device which serves the function of an anti-swallow bird nest initiator," said Charles Soto, assistant manager of the campus bookstore.

"Last summer," said Soto, "the Bookstore was swarmed with swallows who insisted on building nests on top of the posts, thus we found it necessary to hose off the Bookstore two times each day."

The Bookstore administration was unable to do anything about the situation during the summer, because the SPCA and another organization forbade the destruction of the bird nests.

The note was fake

Joe McNamara found a dent in his car and a note on the windshield February 16. The note was a fake and McNamara is looking for its author.

The SF State student discovered the damage when he was leaving a movie in the dormitory dining room.

The grille of his 1960 Pontiac, which McNamara has owned a month, was smashed and the left front door was damaged. A note was attached to the windshield wiper. It read:

"Please contact me at this number . . ."

The number turned out to be the Broadway Plumbing Co. It had never heard of the accident.

McNamara reasons the note was written because a person witnessed the incident. According to the witness, the other car involved was a light 1955 or '56 Packard. The witness also knows part of the license number.

McNamara's search has the aid of the San Francisco Police Department and the American Automobile Association. Repairs will cost $100.

The victim described himself as a calm person who is working his way through college.

The offender "can save a lot of embarrassment if he turns himself in now," McNamara said. Otherwise, a fine and court appearance await the hit-and-run driver.

"I'll take him to court anyway," he added.

Any witnesses to the incident are asked to contact McNamara's fiancée, who lives at Mary Ward Hall, room 213.

Forms for this purpose are available in the Graduate Division Office.

NO!

DON'T BOTHER TO CARRY AN EXTRA SUPPLY.

New Carefree* tampons promise so much more protection—you can leave the extras at home!

The principle of this superior protection* is simple, natural. Most old-style tampons flatten, thin out, elongate when moisture strikes. This shape simply cannot cover the area of flow properly. Thus embarrassing accidents occur.

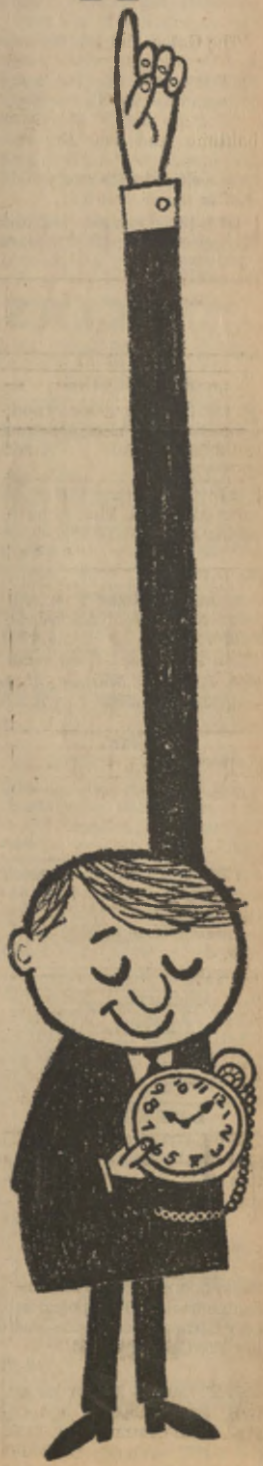

But a Carefree tampon (firmly compressed so it needs no rigid applicator) expands into a natural, round shape that conforms to your own body's structure, responds to your own body's needs. It gives you more comfort than any tampon or napkin ever developed.

Actual use tests proved that the new Carefree tampon absorbs, without leakage, 73% more than the leading tampon—starts to absorb more quickly than any other.

Better protection—longer protection. That's why you can leave that extra supply at home.

*Because Carefree is far more absorbent, there is no need for a Carefree super size. If you are using tampons for the first time, you may wish to try Carefree Slim (the smaller size).

JV cagers break mark--12 in a row

By JERRY LITRELL

Want a recipe for a winning basketball squad?

Take one man who is in his first year as a coach. Blend in about 12 players with the desire to work and win.

Season that squad with a schedule of formidable opponents and the finished product might resemble the record-setting SF State junior varsity basketball squad.

The coach in this case is Frank Verducci, somewhat of a wonder-worker in the physical education department.

From a team that lost its first five out of six, Verducci molded the Gators into a championship team—a team that won its last 12 in a row.

The Gators finished the season on winning notes when they defeated the Cal State JV's and Sacred Heart High.

SF State had a slim 36-33 halftime lead over the Pioneers and the lead changed hands almost with every field goal in the second half.

With three seconds left and the score tied, 59-59, guard

Joe Galbo scored with a 20-foot jumper to give the Staters a 61-59 win.

Last Friday night the Gators trailed by 10 points early in the game against the Cal Aggies but managed to close the gap to five, 35-30, at the half.

Crane led the way with 19 points, as the Gators overtook the Aggies with a torrid second half and won it, 65-59.

Surprisingly, the game Saturday night against Sacred Heart proved to be the toughest one in recent weeks for the Staters.

The Irish, fifth-rated high school team in California, gave the Gators some anxious moments in the first half and left the court at intermission leading, 36-34.

But foul trouble plagued the Irish when three of their first string fouled out in the second half allowing the Staters to go on to a 75-64 victory.

All members of the championship JV squad will be getting a shot at next year's varsity squad.

Gators vs. SJS tonight

SF State's wrestling squad, its record lowered to 5-6, takes on San Jose State tonight at 7:30 in the Men's gym in preparation for the Far Western Conference championship matches this weekend.

Losers of their last three in a row, the Gators will be facing one of the strongest wrestling teams in Northern California when they go against the Spartans.

Last Friday night at Davis the Staters lost to the Aggies, 21-14.

SF State won four of the lighter weight events but fell flat when Davis swept the 190-pound and the heavyweight match.

Bobby Flowers pinned Aggie Jerry McClelland in the 123-pound division while George McNeal won a verdict over David Fickle in the 157-pound match.

The other two Gator wins came when Jim Reed beat Davis star John Grant in the 167-pound event and Jerry Schiffman won over Steve Kucera in the 177-pound battle.

Gator Storm Goranson lost his third in a row when he dropped a decision to Larry Palm in the 191-pound match. Angelo Crudo lost the heavyweight event to Aggie Grover Ford on a decision.

Monday night the Staters again lost, this time to the University of California, 21-11.

The match got off to a disastrous start when the Gators lost the first three events on pins and collected only three wins during the meet.

Reed came through with another victory when he won a decision over Cal's Dave Kuhlman, 167-pound class, while McNeal was also collecting a win, this one over Cal's James Barker.

The only other SF State win came when Schiffman beat Bob Fisher in the 177-pound event.

The championships, which will be at SF State's gym, will include eight different wrestling teams representing colleges from all over the Northern California area.

Frustration

WHO WON? — After beating Santa Clara in the opening game of last weekend's double-header, the Gator baseball squad lost the nightcap, 5-1, for a pretty "nothing" weekend.

THE POWER OF PRAYER

"The Christian worships God when he adores, confesses, praises, and supplicates Him in prayer. This highest activity of which the human spirit is capable may also be thought of as communion with God, so long as due emphasis is laid upon divine initiative. A man prays because God has already touched his spirit. Prayer in the Bible is not a 'natural response' (John 4:24). 'That which is born of the flesh is flesh.' The Lord does not 'hear' every prayer (Is. 1:15, 29:13). The biblical doctrine of prayer emphasizes the character of God, the necessity of man's being in saving or covenant relation with Him, and his entering fully into all the privileges and obligations of that relation with God." The New Bible Dictionary Eerdmans.

Many people pray to an unknown God, yet few experience the power of prayer working in their lives because they lack the right relationship with God. Access to God in prayer is only through Christ.

"I am the way, the truth and the life; no man cometh unto the Father but by me." John 14:6.

"For there is one God, and one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus." 1 Tim. 2:5.

To become reconciled to God, one must first claim Christ as saviour, and sole representative before God in his behalf. He then receives the gift of the Holy Spirit.

"We do not even know how we ought to pray, but through our inarticulate groans the Spirit himself is pleading for us, and God who searches our inmost being knows what the Spirit means, because he pleads for God's own people in God's own way; and in everything, as we know, he cooperates for good with those who love God and are called according to his purpose." Rom. 8:26-28.

Prayer is, to the Christian, a two-way communication link with God. Rather than ask God for special favors and privileges, the Christian should pray in order to learn God's will in his life. Sincerity and humility are most important, and mere words and phrases repeated thoughtlessly do not constitute true prayer.

"But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do; for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him." Matt. 6:7-8.

Unconfessed sin interferes with a Christian's fellowship with God. Mere admission of sin does not constitute repentance. To repent means to forsake and turn from sin, as well as to apologize.

The power of prayer is limited only by lack of faith. "The things which are impossible with men are possible with God." Luke 18:27.

"And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight." 1 John 3:22.

"And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it." John 14:13-14.

If prayer is not bringing results in your life or if you have never learned to pray, you are missing out on a close daily relationship with God which can change your life and influence lives around you.
