VENEREAL DISEASE

and for Very Dangerous. There are several venereal diseases, all very dangerous, but the two most common in the United States are syphilis and gonorrhea.

WHAT IS SYPHILIS

Syphilis is a disease caused by a germ called treponema pallidum. Millions of people have syphilis. It has been causing insanity, paralysis, blindness, deformity, deafness and death all over the world for hundreds of years.

HOW IS SYPHILIS SPREAD?

Syphilis is catching. It is spread from person to person by sexual relations or by other close physical contact like kissing. It is not spread from toilet seats or towels or door knobs.

WHAT ARE THE SIGNS OF SYPHILIS?

THE FIRST SIGN is usually a sore which appears 12 to 40 days after the syphilis germs enter the body. It appears at the point the germs entered the body (usually the sex organs) and lasts about a month. The first sore of syphilis is called a chancre (pronounced shanker). It may look like a pimple, blister or open sore. Sometimes the sore is so small or hidden that it isn't noticed. This is often true in girls because the sore may be concealed in the sex parts. The first sore of syphilis will go away, even without treatment, but the germs do not go away.

THE SECOND SIGNS may show three to six weeks after the first sore. They might be a rash on any part of the body, sores in the mouth, fever, headache, sore throat, falling hair, or all of these.

This is the secondary stage of syphilis. Sometimes the signs are slight. They may not be noticed, and they will go away without treatment. But the syphilis germs still remain in the body, and the disease can be spread to other people, and cause later trouble.

IS SYPHILIS HEREDITARY?

Syphilis is not hereditary, but it is often passed from an infected mother to her child before it is born. If the mother is given proper treatment, the child will be born without syphilis. But if the mother is not treated, the child may be born deaf or blind or mentally retarded. It may seem to be sound at birth, but later develop the crippling signs of syphilis.

WHAT HAPPENS IF SYPHILIS IS NOT TREATED?

When the warning signs go away, as they always do, without treatment, the germs are still alive. They are carried by the blood stream to all parts of the body where they can do great damage. It may take from five to twenty or more years for the damage to show up. When it does it may be in the form of blindness, insanity, heart disease, paralysis, or deformity.

CAN SYPHILIS BE CURED?

Yes. If it is treated early enough, syphilis can be cured by penicillin before any permanent damage is done to the body. But people who have been cured of syphilis can catch it again if they are exposed to a person who has the disease.

CAN YOU TREAT YOURSELF?

No! It just doesn't work. Only a doctor can make the examinations to find out if you have syphilis. Only a doctor can give you adequate treatment. Remember, syphilis does not go away by itself, although the early signs always do.

WHAT IF YOU HAVE NO DOCTOR?

If you haven't a doctor, check with your local medical society or go to your local Health Department. At the Health Department, you will be given a free blood test for syphilis and treatment if you need it.

IS GONORRHEA THE SAME AS SYPHILIS?

No, it isn't. Gonorrhea and syphilis are two different diseases. Different germs cause them. They affect people in different ways but they are caught in the same way.

WHAT IS GONORRHEA

It is a painful and dangerous disease caused by a germ called gonococcus. Every year about a million people in the United States get it.

HOW IS GONORRHEA SPREAD?

Gonorrhea is spread from person to person by sexual relations as syphilis is. Gonorrhea is not a strain from lifting heavy things, it is not caught from toilet seats, or towels, and it is not hereditary.

WHAT ARE THE SIGNS OF GONORRHEA?

A few days after the infection there is usually itching and burning of the sex parts, particularly while urinating. About the same time, a discharge develops which boys will notice but which girls often may not notice.

WHAT HAPPENS IF GONORRHEA IS NOT TREATED?

In a boy gonorrhea may damage the important sex glands and make it impossible for him to become a father. In a girl gonorrhea can spread through the womb into the tubes and ovaries and make it impossible for her to have children. It can cause blindness in newborn babies. And, unless it is treated, gonorrhea can lead to arthritis or heart trouble.

CAN GONORRHEA BE CURED?

Yes. Penicillin will cure gonorrhea. But treatment must be given early if the disease is to be stopped from doing damage to the body. Penicillin cannot repair the damage once it is done.

CAN YOU TREAT YOURSELF?

No! Only a doctor can decide whether or not you have gonorrhea. And only a doctor knows what treatment is necessary.

WHAT IF YOU HAVE NO DOCTOR?

If you have no doctor, check with your local medical society or go to your local Health Department. At the Health Department, you will be given free examinations and tests for gonorrhea and treatment if you need it.

THAT: Although VD has caused suffering and death to mankind since ancient times, it is only recently in history that its cause has been understood and its cure discovered.

THAT: The corkscrew-shaped germ of syphilis was identified for the first time by the German scientists, Fritz Schaudinn and Eric Hoffmann. This was in 1905.

THAT: The first successful test for syphilis — the blood test — was announced by August von Wassermann in 1907. It meant that now physicians could detect syphilis in the body even if no symptoms could be seen.

THAT: The first cure for syphilis was discovered in 1910 by Paul Ehrlich and his Japanese assistant, S. Hata. It was an arsenical compound they called Salvarsan, but because it was the result of their six hundred and sixth experiment, it has also been known as "606."

THAT: When Dr. John Mahoney announced in 1943 that penicillin would cure syphilis, treatment time was reduced to only weeks or days when earlier treatments had taken months or years.

The Comitè Civico Mexicano is spearheading a fund-raising drive to build a community center for the Guadalupe and surrounding areas. The Comitè Civico Mexicano has embarked on this ambitious project knowing that it will take a long time to raise the needed $288,000.

However, the Comitè Civico Mexicano has taken the view, "If we never start this fund, the building will never be built." It is hoped that other organizations, individuals, public agencies, & private foundations will be involved in the fund-raising in the near future. The important fact presently, is that the fund is started. It presently contains $2,650 and is deposited at the Security Pacific National Bank in Guadalupe.

Although definite plans have not been made for the building, the Comitè Civico Mexicano has considered using the building for the following needs: (1) a large ballroom; (2) A large banquet room with kitchen facilities; (3) Space for public meetings, whether small, or large; (4) A youth Center; (5) A senior citizen center; (6) A library; (7) A medical facility; (8) Adult education classrooms; (9) An auditorium for: graduations, plays, concerts, the Mexican Independence Celebration: (10) other community uses.

Pictured above are four members of the Comitè Civico Mexicano. Informing the public that a Community Building Fund has been started. The thermometer will be publicly displayed during fund-raising events to illustrate the organizations progress. Hopefully, it will draw public support. Left to right: Aurelio Lopez, Treasurer; Jesse Sanchez, Promotional Chariman; Charles Rivas, President; & Mike Herrera, Promotional Vice-chairman

The need for such a building is recognized by Guadalupe's residents. It is hoped that the word will spread that this project has been undertaken, and that soon there will be a valley-wide effort to assist in this project. This year, the Comitè Civico Mexicano has scheduled several public dances at Convention Center to raise funds. This year also, the organization will operate a concession trailer at the Santa Barbara County Fair. Each year, in Guadalupe on September 16th. All of these events, plus others that will be planned and announced will be a demonstration of what a community can do for itself.

EACH YEAR, more than 500,000 people die of heart attack in this country. Many thousands of these deaths occur among people in their most productive years—men and women with responsible jobs, with children still in school, and mortgage payments still due.

Can anything be done to prevent this loss of life? Until recently, you couldn't have done much more than hope it wouldn't happen in your family. But now your odds are improving!

Research scientists are getting closer to the secret of prevention. Their studies show that certain physical conditions and living habits increase the risk of heart attack; and for every one of these risks there is a practical step you can take to counteract it. All this adds up to a health program that can be followed, with a doctor's guidance, by everyone in the family—children as well as adults. Children can benefit most of all, if they are trained from the start in eating and living patterns that may protect their hearts in adult life.

1 Reduce saturated fat and cholesterol in the diet

Some meats and dairy foods are high in saturated fats; egg yolks are high in cholesterol. These foods tend to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood, and a high blood cholesterol level may increase the risk of heart attack. Polyunsaturated fats, on the other hand, tend to lower the level of blood cholesterol.

With moderate changes in diet, blood cholesterol usually can be kept at normal levels. This means cutting down on cholesterol-rich food, and substituting some polyunsaturated fats for saturated fats as much as possible. Your diet can still include many satisfying foods if you follow these recommendations:

- Have frequent meals of fish and poultry, which contain less saturated fat than meat. When serving meat, use lean cuts and trim off fat.
- Cook with liquid vegetable oils and polyunsaturated shortenings.
- Use skimmed (fat-free) milk and skimmed milk products.
- Eat fewer eggs.

Diet changes should never be drastic; you can harm yourself by cutting out essential foods.

To help people follow a nutritious meal plan that is moderately fat-controlled and low in cholesterol, Heart Associations provide the leaflet, THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART (EM 455) and its companion booklet, RECIPES (EM 455A).

For heart patients and those diagnosed as being unusually susceptible to heart disease, booklets with stricter diets to lower blood cholesterol are also available from Heart Associations on a physician's prescription.

2 Count your calories—avoid excess weight

Middle-aged men who are thirty per cent over their normal weight have twice the risk of a heart attack compared with middle-aged men of normal weight. Ask your doctor for a sensible reducing diet. If your children are gaining too much weight, your doctor may prescribe a reducing diet for them, too. Food habits are formed in childhood, and overweight children tend to become overweight adults.

3 Control high blood pressure

High blood pressure sharply increases the chances of heart attack if it goes undetected and untreated. Through regular checkups and proper medical treatment, this disease can be brought under control in most cases.

4 Don't smoke

The heart attack death rate among men is 50 to 200 per cent higher for heavy cigarette smokers than it is for non-smokers. But for those who give up the habit, the death rate declines almost to that of people who have never smoked. And chances are, if you don't smoke, neither will your children.

Exercise regularly

Studies show that men who are physically inactive run a higher risk of heart attack than those who get regular, moderate exercise. Your doctor can tell you what kind of physical activities will suit your age and physical condition.

Have regular medical checkups

Regular checkups enable your doctor to detect and treat conditions that lead to heart attack and to other forms of heart and circulatory disease.

Is this a sure thing?

There is still no guarantee that heart attack can be prevented, but medical scientists say that reducing your risks will give you the best chance of avoiding a heart attack in the prime of life. And following the rules for risk reduction can mean good health and physical fitness for every member of the family.

CANTA BOHEMIO CANTA

Canta bohemio, con la sonrisa en los labios, con un sollozo en la garganta la frente muy en alto y mas alto el corazón.

Yo amo las cosas bellas de mis extrañas sensaciones, admiro a los sabios y sufro y siento como artista.

Mi camino es inseguro, las nubes son mi techo y un gran tesoro de ilusiones guardo aquí dentro de mi pecho.

Lucir puedo orgulloso la virtud y con entera llorar con mis ideas y reir con mi pobreza.

Ilusiones y esperanzas vanas son mi pan de cada día, y poco vivo merced a mi ardiente fantasía, porque no vivo lo que sueño, vivo infeliz y miserable viendo mi cuerpo moribundo arrastrado por la verdad de mi destino.

Sin amistad sin amor, huérfano y abandonado con el pecho oprimido, busco la calma y no la encuentro, solo la poesía es mi único placer de infinito gozo que ilumina mi destrozado corazón.

No me doy por vencido aún sintiendome herido, siendo esclavo trémulo de pavor me siento bravo y arremeto feroz y mal herido con el recuerdo de mi vejez en un jardín que aún florece todavía.

Con todo cariño y respeto dedico ésta mi última composición al Sr. Humberto García, director de El Excéntrico periódico que cuenta con lectores aquí en Cuernavaca, Morelos, México, D.F.

"DOCTOR ZHIVAGO" FEATURED IN FABULOUS FILM FESTIVAL

Boris Pasternak's novel, "Doctor Zhivago," was a literary triumph, despite its suppression in the author's native Russia. The best-seller attracted further worldwide attention when Pasternak "voluntarily" renounced the 1958 Nobel Prize for Literature.

Finally, David Lean's film of the bold drama added lasting luster to the controversial work. Receiving six Academy Awards, its impact flowed as far as the worlds of fashion and music. "Doctor Zhivago" may once more be viewed at "MGM's Fabulous Four," a special film festival also including "Gone With The Wind," "Ryan's Daughter" and "2001: A Space Odyssey" playing consecutive one-week engagements.

Omar Sharif stars as Zhivago, with Julie Christie, Geraldine Chaplin, Rod Steiger, Alec Guinness, Tom Courtenay, Siobhan McKenna, Ralph Richardson and Rita Tushingham topping the international cast. However, the motion picture monument was meticulously constructed before serious thought was given to the performers. Director David Lean was determined to use artists who fit the roles rather than tailoring roles to suit stars.

Famed producer Carlo Ponti secured movie rights to "Doctor Zhivago" in 1962 and soon entered an agreement with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Both parties agreed that Lean, whose two previous films, "Lawrence of Arabia" and "The Bridge On The River Kwai," had won 14 Oscars, was the ideal director to realize on screen the full potential of love and destiny interwoven against the flaming turmoil of the Russian Revolution.

The director immediately contacted Robert Bolt, whose play, "A Man For All Seasons," was internationally successful and who wrote the "Lawrence of Arabia" screenplay. The writer caught Lean's enthusiasm for the massive challenge, as did production designer John Box, also part of the "Lawrence" team. More than one year before a camera turned, Lean and Bolt began the arduous task of developing Pasternak's complex story into a screenplay, exploring every nuance of each character and the angles of every situation.

On a ten-acre site near Madrid, one of the most authentic sets in film history was built to recreate the Kremlin-dominated Moscow streets of half-a-century ago. At Soria, 175 miles north of Madrid in a rugged area resembling the steppes of Russia, other huge exterior sets were created, plus construction of a dam to divert a river course, railroad tracks and an entire village. MGM obtained three government-owned trains and 60 cars which were converted into Russian carriers of the period. Interior scenes were photographed at the modern C.E.A. Studios in Madrid.

Other important scenes were photographed in Finland's below-zero weather, only a few miles from the border of Russia, a country immensely interested in "Doctor Zhivago." Additional winter sequences were shot amid the majestic Canadian Rocky Mountains. A phenomenal total of 117 settings were incorporated into the giant picture's turbulent action.

The films of David Lean are as noted for perfection of detail as for boxoffice success. The MGM budget for "Doctor Zhivago" included a large research staff and the inconceivable chore of creating perfectly correct costumes for thousands of extras. Even signs on building facades were appropriately altered to reflect Russian alphabet changes during the 40-year span covered in the timeless masterpiece.

Few motion pictures have achieved the laurels earned by "Doctor Zhivago." Nominated in almost every category by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Oscars went to Robert Bolt for Best Screenplay Based on Material from Another Medium; John Box and Terrence Marsh for Best Art Direction, Color; Dario Simoni for Best Set Decoration; Freddie Young, who later also won for Lean's "Ryan's Daughter," Best Cinematography, Color; Phyllis Dalton for Best Costume Design, Color; and Maurice Jarre, who also created the music for "Ryan's Daughter," Best Musical Score. The Hollywood Foreign Press Association bestowed five Golden Globe Awards, including Best Dramatic Picture, David Lean for direction and Omar Sharif for his dramatic

All of David Lean's films, including "In Which We Serve," "Blithe Spirit," "Brief Encounter," "Great Expectations," "Oliver Twist" and "Summertime" have become classics, part of the motion picture legacy spotlighted by "MGM's Fabulous Four."

Julie Christie, as Lara, with Omar Sharif, portraying the title role in David Lean's film of Boris Pasternak's "Doctor Zhivago." Also starred in the MGM picture, winner of six Academy Awards, are Geraldine Chaplin, Tom Courtenay, Alec Guinness, Siobhan McKenna, Ralph Richardson, Rod Steiger, and Rita Tushingham.

COMENTARIOS

PEDRO DILLON

El nombre de Sadhu Sundar Singh es conocido a lo largo de la India y en muchas otras partes del mundo, debido a su intensa vida llena de viajes y conversaciones con la gente acerca del modo de hallar la paz interna.

Tras años de la mejor instrucción en el hinduismo y una desesperada búsqueda de la salvación de su alma, tuvo un encuentro con Cristo que le transformó y le llenó de alegría.

Los años confirmaron la validez de ese encuentro con Cristo. Sundar se hizo sadhu, término hindú para una persona dedicada al servicio de Dios. Sufrió graves persecuciones por su fe, primero dentro de su propia familia y luego a manos de la gente fanática dondequiera que fuera, todo porque se había hecho cristiano. Nadie sabe cuántas personas se convirtieron a Cristo por medio de sus palabras, pero deben contarse por miles.

Un día en sus viajes vio a mucha gente sentada en torno a un sadhu hindú que se encontraba a orillas del río Ganges. El sadhu tenía levantada una mano sobre la cabeza, y al mirarlo a distancia, decía que estaba dando su bendición a la gente. Sin embargo, cuando se acercó, Singh pudo apreciar que los huesos de su brazo estaban de tal manera agarrados, que era imposible que los moviera o que bajara el brazo.

Terminado el largo discurso, Singh le preguntó cómo se le había secado y paralizado el brazo. El hombre respondió como quien se siente orgulloso de haber vencido a un enemigo en batalla.

"Señor, esta mano ha robado mucho y ha golpeado a otros tantos; pero llegó un día en que tuve tan grande horror que se sacudieron los fundamentos de toda mi vida. Entonces dejé para siempre mi manera de vivir y decidí cortarme esta mano o castigarla como merecía, haciéndola inservible. Consulté a mi asesor religioso y por su consejo, la he mantenido siempre enhiesta sobre mi cabeza hasta verla enteramente seca y fija en esta posición. Este es el orgullo que ahora tengo".

A esto, Sundar Singh le contestó: "Admiro su valor y sus buenas intenciones, pero lamento mucho que usted haya echado a perder uno de los dones dados por Dios. En vez de destruir su mano, debería usted haberla usado para ayudar a otros. De esta manera y hasta cierto grado usted hubiera reparado el mal que con esa mano hizo antes. El valor y la victoria reales consisten, no en destruir inútilmente su mano, sino en usarla para ayudar a otros".

La reacción del sadhu fue inmediata. Se lanzó sobre Singh con tanta ira, que sin duda alguna, si su mano hubiera estado sana, le hubiese golpeado.

Antes de despedirse, Singh trató de explicar que es el corazón el que inspira las acciones, y un cambio que no llega a esa profundidad realmente no tiene valor. La mutilación del cuerpo o cualquier sufrimiento impuesto por uno mismo no toca el problema verdadero. Mientras uno sigue pensando como antes y le falta una relación personal con Dios, es la misma persona de siempre. En cambio, cuando Cristo entra en la vida, trae paz y una orientación totalmente nueva.

Este relato fue tomado del libro Con Cristo y sin Cristo, por Sadhu Sundar Singh.
