

2/16/09

Dear Mishele,

I can not believe you live in el rio because I use to live there my dad still lives in el rio. There is the second time I see a writere in life. A Belated Victory made me whant to cry in the part when Reese B said "stupid mexican". I thought that writeres never write about what happen to them. one day I told my family about the poem dead pigs revenge they asked me what happens when you eat Chicharrones I said it makes you eat, make you fart, Scatter your skin with tipped pimples. I can not waite to read youre book Chicana Falsa I wonder if they Sale youre bok in california. I told my dad the tithe of youre book also youre name he told me if he finds youre book he would send it so I could read it.

✓ Love, Brissa