D. Nef distributed a chart of the distribution of C1 Premiums paid by college and departments with large enrollment classes. Premiums were a straight line increase to 50% of over enrollment. The College of Science and Math received approximately two-thirds of the total premiums ($1,096,352 of $1,620,354). The remaining colleges (in descending premiums) were: the College of Arts & Humanities ($362,838); the Craig School of Business ($53,016); the College of Health and Human Services ($45,072); the Jordan College of Agricultural Sciences and Technology ($37,541); the College of Social Sciences ($25,534). Kremen School of Education and Lyles College of Engineering received $0.

Discussion focused on whether and how many WTUs were applied per section per enrollment levels. Also, the question of the WTUs raised concerns about equity of workload across colleges and mechanisms by which that might be encouraged. Deans need to know how the model and WTUs work in C1 courses.
