Row over book prices; students 'gypped'?

But TA's petition called 'ridiculous'

By PHIL GARLINGTON

A petition claiming SF State students are being "gypped" at the Bookstore is being circulated by Bill Denardo, a teaching assistant in the Foreign Languages department. Denardo, "outraged" by the high cost of books, has called for an investigation by the College Foundation to determine whether books are being purchased at the lowest possible prices.

According to Denardo, the Bookstore overcharges for foreign language textbooks, and refuses to deal with the European Book Co., which he says offers a 10 per cent saving for students buying French literature textbooks.

Also included in the Denardo petition is the allegation that the Bookstore "invariably marks up the price of the book by covering the publisher's listed price on the book cover with one of its own stickers."

In answering the charges, Bookstore assistant manager Charles Soto called the Denardo petition "ridiculous."

He said the reason the Bookstore didn't do much business with the European Book Company is that European is a small operator that can't always fill the needs of the college.

"But," said Soto, "we do deal with them from time to time, because they can sometimes ship us books faster than our usual dealer."

Most purchases in foreign language texts are made through the Paris Book Center in New York.

Soto was particularly irritated by the petition charge that the Bookstore hiked up prices by covering the jacket prices with its own stickers.

He said the big book publishers regularly jump their prices every six months. "So a paperback formerly selling for 50 cents, with the price printed on the cover, has to have a new price sticker when its price is jacked up to 60 cents."

Soto emphasized that all books "are being sold for the list price," that is, the price asked by the publisher.

The Bookstore makes its profit on the 20 per cent discount given to college store retailers, and all profits go to the College Foundation.

Another charge made by Denardo is that book prices would be lower if the Bookstore bought from foreign dealers.

Soto said orders aren't usually placed with foreign dealers for two reasons. In the first place, the foreign companies don't always take back unsold books, which is bad because the required texts are frequently changed from year to year.

Secondly, Soto said, instructors at SF State demand free desk copies of the texts they require for their classes. Foreign distributors don't give free desk copies.

In connection with the petition, a student came up with a list of French literature texts he said could be purchased up to $2 cheaper at the Cal Berkeley associated students' bookstore.

The manager of the Cal bookstore, however, told the Gater that all textbooks are sold for the publisher's list price, the same as at SF State.

After reading the petition, Soto said Denardo might have had his questions about Bookstore prices answered if he'd come in for a talk.

He also invited any students interested in Bookstore matters to visit his office.

Boycott in hick city

By PHIL GARLINGTON

Last Saturday, the rag-tag band of Delano grape strikers left the vineyards and descended en hoard on the quiet, peaceful, jerkwater town of Delano to conduct what turned out to be the great big downtown Delano wine boycott.

Although last Saturday started out as a typical day for the strikers belonging to Cesar Chavez's upstart Farm Workers' Association (FWA), the exigencies of nature were destined to disrupt the even tenor of their protest.

The pickets, as always, left for the vineyards at 7 a.m., planning only the usual activities of trying to get the scabs, through a combination of persuasion and harassment, to walk out of the fields.

Early on a spring morning, the drab Kern-Tulare vineyards have a sort of stark and desolated appeal, like a ruined ghost town or a bombed out city.

But by midday, the vineyards were obscured by a blanket of rain. The picket captains pulled their crews back to Delano, and decided, more or less spontaneously, that the time had come for the big Delano wine boycott.

Across the nation in recent months, the FWA has attempted to clamp a boycott on Schenley products. Schenley is the maker of Roma and Cresta Blanca wines, and has large holdings in Kern county.

Although pickets have succeeded in removing much of Schenley wines in the Mission District of San Francisco, Roma and Cresta Blanca were sold, up until this time, with impunity by Delano liquor stores.

After gathering at the Filipino Community Center, the pickets loaded into a car-cade and set off through downtown Delano. They passed by the Caterpillar and International Harvester showrooms, by Delano's one theatre, which featured that evening "Voodoo Witch Doctor" and "Frankenstein Meets the Space Monster"; they passed by the center of Delano nightlife, the Cuckoo Inn, and arrived at last in front of their first target, H and D Liquors, proprietor Frank Rosales.

At first, Rosales refused to remove his Roma, but after five minutes of watching the chanting, rasty band of picketers block the driveway entrances and razz his customers, he had a change of heart.

Next stop for the picket line was Stardust Liquors, owned by Doug McFarland. He said he was willing to post a notice saying the wines were boycotted, but wouldn't refuse to sell Roma to anyone asking for it. In a few minutes 80 picketers were swarming in front of the Stardust.

McFarland's first customer for Roma was none other than Mrs. Ann Mariano, who the day previously had held an extemporaneous debate with Steve Allen at his press conference during his visit to Delano to publicize the strike.

She turned up at the Stardust with her three equally fat friends from the Kern Tulare Independent Farm Workers Association, which the FWA says is backed by the growers.

After making her purchase, Mrs. Mariano went outside to brandish her bottle in front of the demonstrators. A roar from the crowd as, Roma held high, she braved the line.

Sporadically, during the rest of the day, Mrs. Mariano bought Roma, until there was some danger she might deplete the stock to such an extent everybody would have to go home, since she'd almost singlehandedly accomplished the removal of the banned product.

Meanwhile, the six-man Delano riot squad had arrived, under the direction of police chief Jim Ailes, Although maintaining strict neutrality, it was perfectly obvious to him that the demonstrators were wrong.

Referring to the alleged large numbers of outsiders, he pointed out the agitators in the picket line from CORE and SNCC. He could tell by their boots that they were from Delano.

Out on the street, Stardust owner McFarland, a plastic whistle clenched between his teeth, was directing traffic as he chatted with one of the picketeers. Since everyone seemed to know one another, little hostility was generated by the clash between the FWA militants and the Delano establishment.

At 10 p.m., the picket line disbanded, and the first day of the big downtown Delano wine boycott, with its grinning teenagers cruising by in old Fords, its six-man Delano riot squad at the ready, its Doug McFarland directing traffic with a plastic whistle, its Mrs. Mariano brandishing yet another bottle of Roma, and the wet, cold picketers marching around in circles chanting "Don't buy scab wine, don't buy scab wine."

KRTG talent search today and tomorrow

In preparation for its resumption of broadcasting next Monday, campus radio station KRTG will hold auditions for staff disc-jockeys today and tomorrow.

Tryouts are in CA 117 from 2 to 4 p.m. today and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow.

"All who think they'd like to air their ego—come down and try out," program director Tom Minor of the Radio-TV Guild said.

KRTG's format, named "Wild Side," runs from 4

Air force reps recruiting here

Representatives from the Air Force Recruiting Center will be on campus today between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in AD 179 and near the Commons.

Two captains, one a Woman's Air Force representative of the northern California area, and Sgt. John Phillips will talk with students interested in becoming commissioned pilots and navigators in the Air Force, or who have degrees in science and engineering.

p.m. to 10 p.m. every school day, featuring a "Top 30" sound.

"We don't play sick songs," Minor said, "and we play a lot of records other stations won't touch."

Among specials of the broadcast year will be a remote broadcast, in March, from one of the dormitories. The necessary turntables, speakers, and other equipment will be moved to the lounge, along with a few Bay Area radio celebrities, and the show will go on the air from location.

The station's audience, Mary Ward and Merced Hall residents, may also hear "Fillet of Soul" in the second week of March. The emphasis will be on "soul sounds," Minor said.

At present, reception of KRTG is on 880 AM, via a closed-circuit line, on dorm residents' radios. A new transmitter is being installed, however, which will allow a "leak" onto the campus. According to Minor, students will then be able to tune in on KRTG through transistor radios.

Art movies start with 'Clean Shirt'

One of the more controversial subjects screened at the New York Film Festival, Alfred Leslie's "The Last Clean Shirt" will be featured at the first Art Movies program of the spring semester today at 12:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the Main Auditorium.

Leslie, who created "Pull My Daisy," has made a 40 minute feature which tells the same story three times with different soundtracks projecting the thoughts of its characters. The two actors are Richard White, a young Negro, driving Rugh Cazalet about a city.

Other films include "Canon," a color short with both cats and humans illustrating musical scores, and "Trut," which reveals the lively effect of wind, woods, and water in nature.

Still other films are "Underworld of Paris," a ten-minute French drama, and "Toronto Jazz," which portrays the life and ways of local jazz musicians.

The Art Movies, sponsored by the Associated Students and conducted by the Motion Picture Guild, are presented without admission charge.

Mailliard's 'report' on Congress today

Congressman William Mailliard (R-SF) will "Report on the 87th Congress" in the Gallery Lounge today at noon. The lecture is sponsored by the SF State Young Republicans.

Mailliard, along with Congressman Philip Burton (D-SF), was recently denounced by the Vietnam Day Committee because he refused to debate current American foreign policy in Vietnam.

Cagers beat Hayward

84-70 win wasn't ever very funny

By ROBERT NEUBERT
Gator Sports Editor

Vestiges of superiority prevailed over nothing Tuesday night as the Gator basketballers smashed CS Hayward, 84-70, at SF State.

Although the Gators weren't nearly as efficient in piling up points as in the previous four when they averaged about 102 a game, they held the vastly outclassed Hayward Pioneers at bay after quickly running off 14 straight points in the first half.

SF State led, 43-26, at intermission, and coasted to its fourth Far Western Conference victory in six games, and resultantly maintained sole possession of second place, two games behind the University of Nevada with six to go.

The Tuesday contest was a makeup of the January 26 game in which Pioneer forward Roosevelt Dunn collapsed and died during half-time. The team decided to wear strips of black cloth on the left shoulder straps of their uniforms for the rest of the season in remembrance of Dunn.

Both teams started off cold, and only 24 points had been scored by both teams midway through the first half. But then the Gators, led by Everett (58 points) Adams, center Jon Crawford and forward Joe Galbo, zipped to its 17-point halftime lead.

Sloppy play was renewed with the start of the second half, but the Gators retained their margin.

An encouraging note was the excellent rebounding and scoring of sophomore Mike Paulle, who replaced forward Bill Smith in the first half and finished out the game, totaling 10 points and 12 rebounds.

Otherwise, the game looked at times like two P.E. department teams working out. The Pioneers narrowed the final margin by a few points, but SF State was never in trouble after its 14-point first half burst.

Paulle was joined in double figures by Adams, who led all scorers with 25 points, Crawford with 10, and Galbo and guard Rich Henderson with 17 apiece.

Forward Howie Foster led the Pioneers with 24 points and 14 rebounds in an excellent all-around performance. Only elbowy John Langenheim, Hayward's aggressive and lanky center, could add as many as 10 points to the losing cause, and that's just what he contributed.

For the statistically-minded, SF State outshot the Pioneers from the floor, 47.6 per cent to 37.8, from the free throw line, 69 per cent to 60.9, and outrebounded Hayward 56-43.

SF State's next game is another FWC affair, Friday at Arcata against Humboldt State. Humboldt is dead last in the FWC with a 5-0 record.

Swimmers look for first win

Coach Walt Hason's varsity swimmers invade the Northland today in search of their first dual meet win of the season. The opposition is the defending Far Western Conference champions — the Chico State Wildcats.

Last Saturday the Gators were scheduled to meet Sacramento State, but bad weather caused a postponement.

Chico, fielding another strong club, is a heavy favorite to hand the SF State team its fourth setback.

Hanson admits his team's chances of a victory are slim, but hopes for a winning performance by Dirk Van Gelder in the 200-yard breaststroke and individual medley, and Mike McColley in the 200 yard backstroke.

The Gators' first home meet is Saturday at 11 a.m. against Humboldt State.

All not bleak for golf team

Despite the loss of five lettermen, all is not bleak for SF State's golf prospects this season.

Last year's squad, which went undefeated in Far Western Conference play, boasts returnees Bob Davis and Vic Kulik, and Gary Hofstad, who lettered two years ago.

Additionally, according to coach Guido DeGhetaldi, more than 15 golfers with handicaps of eight or less have gone out for the team. DeGhetaldi insists all six varsity berths are wide open, and adds he can use even more interested students.

A meeting for prospective Gator golfers is scheduled at noon today in Gym 213.

Accidents have sidelined two golfers who had been expected to play an important role on this season's squad. Dave Harney, a 1965 letter winner, currently is hospitalized with fractured vertebrae and fingers of his right hand as the result of an auto accident between semesters. Gerald Hoffman broke both legs in a car accident over Christmas vacation, and will not be able to compete this semester.
