4. City and Regional Planning Program proposal

Discussion of the proposal. Deans DenBeste and Fu, with Dr. Ogunjemiyo, responded to the concerns raised by the committee from the 20 Apr meeting.

MSC The University Budget Committee recommended approval but had the following budgetary concerns.

1. Student demand appeared in the proposal limited. Dean DenBeste, however, was confident that there was student demand for the program coupled with community support including an endowed scholarship fund that would provide additional recruitment incentive for the program.
2. The program includes six new courses, but the details on staffing these course was not indicated relative to current course offerings.

The Dean, however, did not anticipate that offering the proposed courses would affect the College's total course offerings.

3. The program proposal indicated no new Library resources were needed, but there was no sign-off from the Dean of the Library.

5. Budget for the college of Social Science.

Dean DenBeste reported on the Level B allocation for the College. The allocation is exceeded by the personnel costs, but with CERF and some other sources of income, she almost balances the budget. However, there is little to no money for release, travel etc. The College is currently carrying salaries for two deans. The College also offers lots of large courses, but not mega courses. The Dean was unsure about the accuracy of C-course classifications and planned a review of those this coming summer.

The committee was concerned about the level of personnel costs and why the model was not generating more to cover those. D. Nef will review and return to the committee with analysis.

6. Chair election

R. Maldonado was nominated and elected to serve another year as Chair of the University Budget Committee
