

Anderson memorial fund to be set up

An educational memorial fund is being established by friends and colleagues of Albert T. Anderson for the benefit of his son and daughter, Timothy and Megan.

The fund will be held in trust until the children enter college and will then be distributed equally between them.

Contributions should be addressed to the "Albert T. Anderson Memorial Fund" in care of Bernice P. Biggs or Thurston Womack, Department of English, SF State.

Poland still jailed; no 'drug' charge

By PAT CONNAL

Jefferson Poland, SF State "beatnik" is still in city prison today in charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and possession of a hypodermic outfit.

Poland and two other adults are facing a tentative trial on October 26 before Superior Court Judge Leland Lazarus.

The charge, possession of "dangerous drugs," was dropped after an investigation of 125 ampules seized in the Page Street raid showed that they were only vials of vitamins, novocain, and procaine.

Police officials refused to comment on reports that Poland was being charged with statutory rape, along with the other two charges.

At press time none of the adults arrested had retained a lawyer.

A third man, jailed after the raid, 23-year-old James R. Shaw, is being held on three warrants from last year charging marijuana selling.

In a city prison interview with Poland by a Gater staff writer, Poland maintained that the hypodermic outfit of which he was in possession did not belong to him. He also stated that the only time the vials of drugs and the syringe and needle had been used was on a sick kitten. Poland also denied any knowledge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

It has been rumored by Ernie Berry, one of the "beatniks" cited for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, that all of the residents of the Page Street apartments have been given 14 days by the Health Department to evict. The San Francisco Health Department has not been available for comment on this charge.

Culture-politics wall must be broken down -- Dr. Haack

Adriaan van der Veen, Dutch literary critic, was the first speaker of the College Lecture Series in the Little Theater Thursday.

In his speech titled "National Art and European Unity" he pointed out similarities in contemporary European literature that expressed a feeling of nationalism.

Van der Veen showed how French, Dutch and British writing exhibit national characteristics and at the same time a feeling of concern for the spiritual and philosophic European situation.

Dr. Hanns Erich Haack, head of the cultural department of the German Embassy in Washington, opened the second lecture.

Dr. Haack stressed the need for a greater program of cultural exchange between countries today in his topic of "The Interdependence of the Cultural Policies of the U. S. and Europe."

He said that people "Must break the sound barrier between politics and culture ... we must form an impregnable front line of optimism and hope."

Cancelled game set for holiday

Saturday's SF State-Santa Clara football game, which was cancelled because of rain, will be re-scheduled for Thanksgiving Day.

Platform dedication features Dr. Dodd

SF State President Paul A. Dodd will be the featured speaker at today's 11 a.m. ceremony to officially open the outdoor speaker's platform.

An emergency meeting will prevent State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke from appearing at the dedication. However, a statement by Dumke will be read.

Other speakers will include AS President Jay Folberg and Lloyd Crisp, chairman of the on-campus speakers committee.

Following the dedication ceremony a Town Meeting on "Cuba—What to Do" will be held. All faculty and students are invited to speak.

Construction to start soon

Psych building to be 'tops' in US

One of the most advanced psychology laboratory facilities in the country will be housed in the new four-story psychology-air science building to be built adjacent to the Student Health Service building, according to Dr. John Butler, dean of campus planning.

A bid of $1,131,000 was accepted for the project last Friday. Construction is expected to get underway by October 29.

Designed by Charles Luckman Associates, the new building will be four stories high and will have a one-story "stub" wing.

An additional half-story will be added to the main structure, and two more stories will be built onto the wing if a National Science Foundation Grant is awarded next February.

There is no projected completion date on the building, but Butler said that the total time would be about 18 months to two years.

"The state requires a lot of safeguards not normally specified in private buildings, so construction takes longer," he said.

The building has a gross floor space of 52,000 square feet. It will be used primarily for upper division and graduate psychology research. The stub wing will house the air science division. There will also be some faculty office space which can be converted into small classrooms at a later date.

Located between the Student Health Center and the Main Gym, the building is a short walking distance from the ED building, which houses most of the psychology lecture rooms.

Butler pointed out that in spite of the new building, there will be space limitations.

"We can't afford the luxury of building one structure for one department," he said. "We do, however, try to group buildings according to function."

Butler said the building will also act as a windbreak against the familiar northwest winds that sweep across the campus.

Money for the building has already been appropriated for the construction: the $250,000 for equipment will come from funds from Proposition 1-A, if it is passed by the voters in November.

"The structure will be virtually useless without equipment," said Dr. Daniel Feder, head of the psychology department.

"We are planning to equip the building as if we were doing it over a 10 to 15-year period," he said. "At the present time, we simply have no room for a lot of our present equipment. We have to store it."

Gater briefs

- The natural order and disorder of nature will be the theme of poems read by Dorothy Pettit, associate professor of English, today in the Gallery Lounge.

- The German Club is sponsoring a luncheon with homemade German food, tomorrow from 12 to 2 p.m., in AD 168. The purpose of the luncheon is to get more students interested in German to attend.

- Contributions for the Campus Committee for Proposition 1-A campaign will be accepted by Jordan Churchill, Dan Knapp and Edward Cassidy in the HLL Division.

- The Sword Club will hold a business meeting in Gym 217 Wednesday at 7 p.m.

- A cake sale will be held by recreation majors in front of the Commons on October 17 from 10 until 2 p.m. Cost will be 10 cents per slice.

- The Women's Recreation Association will start their Intramural Bowling Tournament October 25 at Westlake Bowl. The tournament will continue for the following six Thursdays from noon to 2 p.m. Entry blanks are available at the WRA Intramural Bulletin Board in the gym. The event is open to all campus organizations and to individuals.

Speakers' Platform must be free

TODAY THE SPEAKERS' Platform will be dedicated.

After a long struggle, the work of Dave Tucker, Lloyd Crisp, Jay Folberg, and many others is finished. SF State now has a facility which will furnish any sized audience with a place to hear a speaker, at least in dry weather.

The task that is left is to insure that we do have speakers.

SF State has a tradition, albeit a young one, of free speech. We have more freedom in this area than the University of California. Frank Wilkinson, for instance, was not allowed to speak on the Berkeley campus, but he was here.

LAST YEAR, WE heard Mickey Lima, a self-declared communist, speak. This at a time when other schools are quibbling about whether or not someone who at one time may have been suspected of being subversive, should be allowed to address students.

The gubernatorial candidates have made this tradition a campaign issue. Richard Nixon has definitely committed himself against it and Edmund Brown has taken a rather weak stand which will enable him to turn whichever way he wants.

ONE POINT WHICH neither candidate has yet brought out is that both the Regents of the University of California and the Board of Trustees of the State Colleges are independent of the Governor. The Governor appoints these people, but there is no guarantee that he can formulate their policies.

We now enjoy free speech on this campus. We are getting a new place to exercise it. Let us dedicate the platform to free speech, free speech for anyone and everyone. And let's make sure this is the way it works.

Letters to the Editor

Self control is answer

Editor:

In an effort to relieve the perplexity of Mr. Jefferson Poland (as expressed in the October 8th issue of the Golden Gater), and any other advocates of the use of contraceptives regarding a means of reducing the tragedy of illegitimate pregnancy, I would like to remind him of man's God-given preventative for this problem—self-control.

Contraceptives are certainly not the answer to Mr. Poland's question.

The failure of contraceptives is documented by the very existence of the birth certificates of those people who advocate the use of contraceptives.

Sex has its responsibilities as well as its enjoyments, and, in attempting to frustrate the responsibilities of sex through contraception, men (and women) will inevitably frustrate its pleasure and purposes as well.

Therefore, I feel that the only answer to Mr. Poland's question of birth-control IS self-control. I hope this will ease Mr. Poland's frustration.

Indicative of GOP?

Editor:

I call attention to the action of the Republican committee in refusing to the representatives of our college an audience with former President Eisenhower. This action is indicative of the Republican attitude towards the student and to the student endeavor.

Mr. Eisenhower is the leader of the People-to-People program. But he was not in San Francisco only to meet students. He was here for one purpose: to shore up the sagging Republican effort to elect Richard Nixon Governor. The important thing to remember is that this purpose overshadowed every other in the minds of the Republican officials. Nothing else mattered except the amount of votes which could be squeezed from the visit of a great American. Certainly Mr. Eisenhower was not to blame for this front. But his party was! Let us remember that the Republican Party wasn't interested in our affairs. Let us remember it on election day.

Dr. Holmes to discuss 'perception' in speech

Members of the SF State student chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) are invited to a meeting of the San Francisco CEC chapter at the School for Cerebral Palsied Children, Lake Merced Blvd. and Winston Dr., today at 4 p.m.

Dr. Jack Holmes, chairman of the department of Educational Psychology at U.C. at Berkeley, will speak on "Perception, the Basis of Learning."

There will be a tour of the school preceding the meeting at 3 p.m.

The Associated Students Legislature needs students to work on the following committees: Elections, Welfare, Activities, Finance, and Rules. Contact the Associated Students Legislature Office in HLL 207 for further information and applications.

Fingerprints

Students who expect to receive credentials at the end of the Fall Semester must have two sets of fingerprints on file when the application for the credential is sent to Sacramento.

Finger prints will be taken for credential candidates attending the College in AD 162 from Monday, October 8 through Friday, October 19, except October 10 between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. These hours will be in effect Monday through Friday each of these two weeks. In addition to the said hours, fingerprinting will be done between 6 and 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, October 16.

Finger prints will not be taken on the campus for credential candidates at any other time during the Fall semester. Questions pertaining to fingerprinting will be answered in AD 160.

Master's theses

In order to qualify for a master's degree at the end of this semester, candidates must file theses in the Office of the Dean of Graduate Studies, AD 116, no later than Friday, January 11, 1963. The appropriate number of copies, in proper form and approved must be accompanied by a receipt of payment of the binding fee. Complete information is available in the Graduate Study Bulletin and in the office mentioned above.

Credentials

All degree and credential candidates applying for January, 1963, graduation, must have applications for all degrees and California teaching credentials on file in the Registrar's office no later than Friday, October 19, 1962.

US policy 'hinders' peace in Yemen

(Editor's note: Naji Naim, of Lebanon, comments on the United States foreign policy, particularly non-recognition of the new revolutionary government in Yemen, a neighboring Arab state.)

By NAJI NAIM

A new age is knocking at Yemen's door. The airplane, motor car, telephone and neon lights have entered; other modern conveniences will follow soon.

For centuries, Yemen was ignored and neglected in world affairs — a political dead-end street. In reality, however, it will occupy a strategic position as long as the Red Sea remains one of the major shipping lanes between Europe and the Far East.

(Hodeida, Yemen, occupies the area at the southern end of the Suez Canal.)

Col. Abdullah Alsallal, premier and commander-in-chief of the army, announced last week "the Western countries are making a big mistake in not recognizing the new republic we have decreed." Several days later he told a London Daily Express reporter "We are living in the 10th century here and starting from zero."

Alsallal added, "Our most important need now and what we want most from the world is technical aid."

Russia will try every possible way to please the new government. She has already offered aid for the "freedom-loving people of Yemen" as an example of the Soviet Union's "selfless assistance" to the people of Africa and Asia who are striving for economic advancement.

The Soviet Union's two official newspapers, Pravda and Izvestia, boast of a new Soviet port at the city of Hodeida on the Red Sea.

More than 300 Soviet specialists have worked at Hodeida during the last three years. With the aid of long-term credit and Soviet equipment, they have constructed a port with modern docking, loading equipment, radio and electrical facilities.

The United Arab Republic has already sent troops and military aid to support the new regime. Gamal Abdel Nasser's experts are in Sanaa, the capital, to help the Yemeni troops establish the new rule for the young republic.

Other countries have also recognized the new regime, but Washington still plays a "wait and see game."

The people in Arab countries claim that the United States has lost many friends because of the "over-cautious" attitude of the government.

First it was Nasser who was forced into the communist bloc for a short time when the U. S. refused to help the young struggling United Arab Republic. When Cuba's Fidel Castro was denied all the U.S. aid he needed, he turned to the Kremlin.

Both Castro and Nasser might have become U.S. allies if Washington had reacted at the proper time.

Yemen today is facing the same problem that Egypt and Cuba encountered.

Again Washington is silent — watching.

Arabic newspapers report the communist propagandists are using US silence as an effective tool in attempting to convince the Yemeni leaders that the United States disapproves of the new regime.

Middle East observers claim that Washington should break the silence-barrier before it is again too late. In the eyes of the Middle East, the American foreign policy has always been weak and shaky. These policies have turned friends into enemies but have yet to turn enemies into friends.

This time US policy makers should act before the curtain falls.

As with ties, cigarettes, religion, and the colour of hair, selecting a bookstore is a personal matter.

You may have hit upon the school, and be restricted in picking one or another instructor, but the choice of a bookstore is (since we freely acknowledge the assortment — for better or worse — of stores in the area) high unlimited. And what habit, ritual, institution is potentially of such quintessential concern to the student? — We ask you.

After this, one may anticipate some propaganda, replete with extraordinary claims, superlatives, and the like. But we recognize that The Library (and this is, indeed, a bookstore — an extraordinary, superlative one) is not the common choice among competitors. Indeed, we do no carry contraceptives; and certainly you have acquaintances (for rhetorical purposes, we assume that you personally know better) who flit from one to another place, finding each partially satisfying, or who tolerate (with much complaint) the store which handles most of their business. Furthermore, we have a fairly healthy disdain for the common man which rules this out a priori.

Nonetheless, certain scholars and other financially repressed persons find that The Library (which for years has offered a discount to students and teachers who so identify themselves) satisfies the first requirement of their "personal" store — that is, a maximized purchasing power. For us, it is a moral obligation to attempt to have on display, with the rest, the least costly edition of any mend for your browsing. In

This, in itself, is not enough for persons of discretion. More positively, and pervasively, the entire stock is geared to the textual and supplementary reading needs of the student. Insofar as we cut aside ninety percent of the average bookshop's merchandise (cards, stationery supplies, best-sellers, children's books, "how-to . . ." books, and so forth), what remains is an integrated, selective nucleus of books which can become the core of one's education — in the fullest sense of that term. Hence, many of the books which you might care to see and fondle before buying are permanently on display.

Admittedly, there are still drawbacks in our operation. For one thing, we do not carry used books. This function is more than sufficiently fulfilled by stores surrounding us, all of which we recommend for your browsing. In addition, The Library emphasizes the humanities, philosophy, literature and poetry, criticism, and the like, to the exclusion of many titles which you might require. However, we are happy to order any book for you (and generally we can cut a few days off the waiting time), in which case the student discount still applies.

What all this is leading to is simply an invitation to come in, browse, and decide whether we can be of service to you. We are open afternoons and evenings six days a week, and during the day on Sunday.

Thank you for your attention.

Dodd denies ex-nazi teaching at SF State

SF State's President Paul A. Dodd said that there was "no element of truth" to an allegation that a former Hungarian fascist, in collusion with the Nazi regime in the thirties, is now teaching at this college.

The question was asked of Dodd by a radio listener when he appeared on KCBS "Spectrum 74" for a news interview last week. The program's format permits radio listeners to phone in and ask questions of the particular guest.

Dodd said he was surprised by the question and told the listener he would look into it. His inquiry turned up nothing. He said it was "a crackpot question made by an irresponsible person."

Cage practice starts for Gators

By GREG SPENCE
Gator Sports Editor

While the public eye may still be upon the thundering gridders, basketball season at SF State is drawing nearer—much nearer.

Varsity cage practice opens today for the upcoming 1962-'63 campaign, announced basketball head coach Paul Rundell.

The Gators' opener will be at home Friday, Nov. 30, against Cal Poly of Pomona.

"We're going to be improved personnelwise," promised Rundell, a five-year veteran of the Gator coaching scene. "We have a bigger team."

Besides the return of five of last year's 10 varsity lettermen, Rundell's hopes are bolstered by the presence of two Gator hoop stars of the 1960-'61 season—both all-Far Western Conference players.

The two are:

- Jim Brown, 6-2 forward. Brown, who holds the Gators' high jump record at 6-9 $\frac{1}{4}$, laid off competition last year. He will give the casaba squad added scoring and rebounding punch, says Rundell.
- Mike Carson, 5-7 guard.

PAUL RUNDELL
'... improved team'

Carson spent last year in the Armed Services.

Back from last year's varsity are center Tom Cleary, forwards Jim Cunningham, Norm Eliason and Rich Balswick, and guard Bobby Mansfield.

Cleary, 6-7 and a sharp rebounder, topped the Gators' scoring drive last year and was a much improved player during the final part of last spring's play.

Cunningham, a floor leader, is a 6-2 three-year veteran of Rundell's hoopsters.

As soon as football season ends, the 6-4 Balswick, who plays end for Vic Rowen's men, will join the basketballers.

Rundell is "elated" over one JC transfer — Brad Duggan from CCSF.

Duggan's credentials are first class. He was Most Valuable Player on the CCSF squad which won the State Junior College Tournament last year.

Four other CCSF transfers are Bill Nocetti, Dave Roberts, John Cheli and Vince Rocchi. Nocetti and Roberts comprised two of CCSF's four alternating guards. Cheli, a 6-4 guard, also played frosh ball for the UC Bears.

Other transfers include Rich Jeffries, College of San Mateo; Ezell Walls, Stockton JC; Barry Hayward, St. Mary's; Roy Savage, Coalinga JC; and Willy Foggy, Lincoln Univ. in Missouri.

Coach Rundell has still another ace up his jersey—Mahlon Harmon, 6-4 forward. Harmon was a Gator first-string player three years back.

Up from the JV-frosh squad are three good possibilities—Jim Cannon, John Watson and Terry Stogner.

Between 25 to 30 players in all will be turning out for basketball, says Rundell. Of these, some 16 or 18 will make the varsity.

Hornets 'tough'

The Sacramento State Hornets will be "tough" in the FWC this year, says basketball coach Paul Rundell.

Last year the Hornets took second place in the NCAA small college division. Ron Rohrer, a fine 6-6 hoopster, is back with the Sacramentans.

Sacramento 'Oktoberfest' subs gymnasts for beer

Head gymnastics coach Angelo Festa and three of his gymnasts took part in the recent "Oktoberfest" in Sacramento.

Steve Southwell, Harold Wood and George Wilcox put on a trampoline exhibition for some 15,000 fans who attended the annual event.

The team is training hard for the coming competitive season that will start with the Camelia Bowl Championships December 1. This is an invitational meet held annually in Sacramento that draws exclusively from the best gymnasts throughout the state. The Gators figure to be well represented in it this year.

Wilcox, Wood and Southwell—all veterans of last year's squad—are what Festa considers the crux of this year's team. All three will compete all-around.

Competing all-around involves parallel bars, horizontal bar, side horse, long-horse vaulting, free exercise, and still rings. Proving further the value of this trio, Festa added, "I plan to use them in tumbling and trampoline as well."

A major problem with SF State gymnastics in the past has been a definite lack of depth. However, the Gators may have the answer this year in newcomers Jack Ideta, Jerry Crous, Jack Nicholas, Ted McCade, Bob Bendig and Steve Mayer.

Coach Festa feels that with some hard work on the part of the new faces, this year's team could be the strongest in Gator history.

The gymnasts next appearance will be at Balboa High in November. This will be the first of a series of planned exhibitions at Bay Area high schools aimed at stimulating further interest in gymnastics in and around San Francisco.

What happens to the others? "We usually let the boys 'cut' themselves," said Rundell.

"If a boy doesn't have a real chance, we'll usually tell him maybe he can learn more doing something else."

There's a frosh-JV squad, coached by Bob Rodrigo with the assistance of Lou Signa, a Gator cager last year and now a graduate assistant. Signa and another grad student, Jim Eastin from Denver, will also be aiding Rundell.

Varsity practice is set for 3:15-5:45 p.m., daily.

WHAT TO WEAR TILL THE DOCTOR COMES

Now that you have enrolled and paid your fees and bought your books and found your way around campus and learned to hate your roommate, it is time to turn to the most important aspect of college life. I refer, of course, to clothes.

What does Dame Fashion decree for the coming school year? (Incidentally, Dame Fashion is not, as many people believe, a fictitious character. She was a real Englishwoman who lived in Elizabethan times and, indeed, England is forever in her debt. During the invasion of the Spanish Armada, Dame Fashion—not yet a Dame but a mere, unlettered country lass named Moll Flanders—during the invasion, I say, of the Spanish Armada, this dauntless girl stood on the white cliffs of Dover and turned the tide of battle by rallying the drooping morale of the British fleet with this stirring poem of her own composition:

*Don't be gutless,
Men of Britain.
Swing your cullass,
We ain't quittin'.
Smash the Spanish,
Sink their boats,
Make 'em vanish,
Like a horse makes oats.
For Good Queen Bess,
Dear sirs, you gotta
Make a mess
Of that Armada.
You won't fail!
Knock 'em flat!
Then we'll drink ale
And stuff like that.*

In 1589 she invented the laying hen

As a reward for these inspirational verses Queen Elizabeth dubbed her a Dame, made her Poet Laureate, and gave her the Western Hemisphere except Duluth. But this was not the extent of Dame Fashion's service to Queen and country. In 1589 she invented the laying hen, and she was awarded a lifetime pass to Chavez Ravine. But she was not to end her days in glory. In 1591, alas, she was arrested for overtime jousting and imprisoned for thirty years in a butt of malmsey. This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day.)

But I digress. Let us get back to campus fashions. Certain to be the rage again this year is the cardigan (which, curiously enough, was named after Lord Cardigan, who commanded the English fleet against the Spanish Armada. The sweater is only one product of this remarkable Briton's imagination. He also invented the glottal stop, the gerund, and the eyelid, without which winking, as we know it today, would not be possible.)

But I digress. The cardigan, I say, will be back, which is, believe, cause for rejoicing. Why? Because the cardigan has nice big pockets in which to carry your Marlboro Cigarettes—and that, good friends, is ample reason for celebration as all of you will agree who have enjoyed Marlboro's fine, comfortable mellow flavor and Marlboro's filter. So why don't you slip into your cardigan and hie yourself to your tobacconist for some good Marlboros? They come in soft pack or flip-top box. Cardigans or pullovers—it's a matter of taste . . . And so is Marlboro a matter of taste—the best taste that can possibly be achieved by experienced growers and blenders—by science, diligence, and tender loving care. Try a pack.
