

The View

June 8, 1992 Vol. 2 No. 21

From

California
State
University
Hayward

Save these dates:

June 10: Open Forum on the State Budget. 4 p.m. UU 101 A&B.

June 16: Staff barbecue. 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m.

ViewPoint

Norma S. Rees
President

That was the year that was

All around the world, this seems to be a time for endings and beginnings. Even as we follow the extraordinary events in our global community, we pause to note the endings and beginnings in our own place.

Next month marks the end of my second year here. How fast it has gone by! And how much has happened in this short time. Recently, I have titled talks about Cal State Hayward that I give to groups outside the University "The Good News and the Bad News." For certainly we have had much of both.

The kind of University we will have next year and the years beyond will depend not only on the level of state funding but also very much on our ability to protect what is essential for our ability to fulfill our mission.

Among the changes in the year that was were changes in people. Thirteen new faculty were appointed to tenure track positions, and thirteen faculty received tenure. At the start of the year, we welcomed John Rivers as Vice President for Student Services and Frank Martino as Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost. At the end of the winter quarter, Carolyn Spatta stepped down from the position of Vice President for Administration and Business Affairs to take up her faculty responsibilities, and while the search for her replacement got under way, Lee Bateman began his service as Acting Vice President. The new Executive Assistant to the President, Carol Surles, arrived in January, and in April, Bob Trincherro took over the directorship of University Relations and Development. Restructuring in Student Services brought Kathleen Kashima to the position of Director of Career and Counseling Services, and Cathleen Coulman became the Director of Health Services.

The year that was will have been our tenth and last year serving students in Contra Costa County at the rented facilities in Pleasant Hill, and will have seen the completion of our permanent Contra Costa home in Concord. In the process, we have created distance learning classrooms at our main Hayward campus and the Concord campus, allowing us to make use of state-of-the-art technology that brings students and instructors together at both sites simultaneously. All year we watched the progress of construction of the long-planned Carlos Bee bypass extension, and now use the new access route even while the final lanes are being cleared and traffic lights installed. Now that the East Loop Road is no longer an attractive route from the Hayward Hills to Mission Boulevard, will all the stop signs be with us much longer?

Internationalism and diversity

The year that was saw much growth in the University's international activity. The School of Business and Economics launched the Asian International Marketing Program and the Asian Quarter of Study Abroad, in addition to continuing training of managers from the former Soviet Union. Cal State Hayward's first exchange student to that area spent fall in the Ukraine and a Russian journalist spent winter quarter here as a Smith Fellow.

In the School of Arts, Letters and Social Science, the Department of Theatre Arts took two plays to the Edinburgh Festival, to critical acclaim.

cultures that resulted from Columbus' voyages. This popular class, offered at both this campus and the Contra Costa branch campus, drew participants from the community as well as from regularly enrolled students.

Our busy students continued to set a fine example. We should surely recognize the student response to the verdict in the Rodney King beating case; our students were neither silent nor out of focus. Their eloquence at the rallies held in the Agora, and their dignity and strength of expression during their march downtown were moving indeed. As Pogo once said, "It makes you feel humble and sort of proud." And so I do.

Community leadership

Community relations have never been stronger. Our involvement in Oakland has received long-overdue recognition through dissemination of the "Oakland Report," which documents what our faculty, staff, and students do in a wide variety of projects in community and schools. At long last we are receiving improved coverage of University activities in the local press. Our people are sought after for community leadership: CSUH people are found on the YMCA board of past few years. Honored this year were Peter Claus and Glynn Custred in the anthropology department.

A numbers game

But then there is the bad news. Although we entered the year with reduced funding, we knew that the year ahead would almost certainly bring further budget cuts. In the early months of 1992, most of the heated discussion was about the Governor's and the Board of Trustees' proposal to increase student fees by 40% ($372 annually) as a measure to allow the CSU to continue at the current year's level of activity. By March we were hearing ominous rumblings about across-the-board cuts, and when the annual May revision of state revenue projections was issued, we found ourselves faced with potential budget cuts of 8%, with estimates as high as 32%.

What threatens Cal State Hayward now is not so much the prospect of change as pretending that the future will be like the past.

We are still very much at work planning for a reduced budget for next year without knowing for certain the depth of the cut. Knowing we would be experiencing reduced funding, we made the early decision to drop four women's and four men's intercollegiate athletics sports, and found ways to save money in summer quarter without reducing enrollment. For the first time in seventeen years, the University Committee on Layoffs convened. All campus units have been preparing tentative budgets according to various scenarios. At the time of this writing, we know that we will be facing 1992-1993 with a reduced work force, and that the "L" word is a reality instead of an unpleasant rumor.

The kind of University we will have next year and the years beyond will depend not only on the level of state funding but also very much on our ability to protect what is essential for fulfilling our mission. Planning for our future will inevitably require tough and unpopular decisions. These last weeks have been very difficult ones, and worse times are ahead.

I have great faith in Cal State Hayward, and I believe, to paraphrase Faulkner, we will not only endure but prevail. What threatens Cal State Hayward now is not so much the prospect of change as pretending that the future will be like the past. I know that I can count on the help and participation of my University colleagues so that we continue to serve our students well and take advantage of every opportunity to be the best we can. I know I can count on our community friends for support and understanding at this time of endings and beginnings. We'll make it.

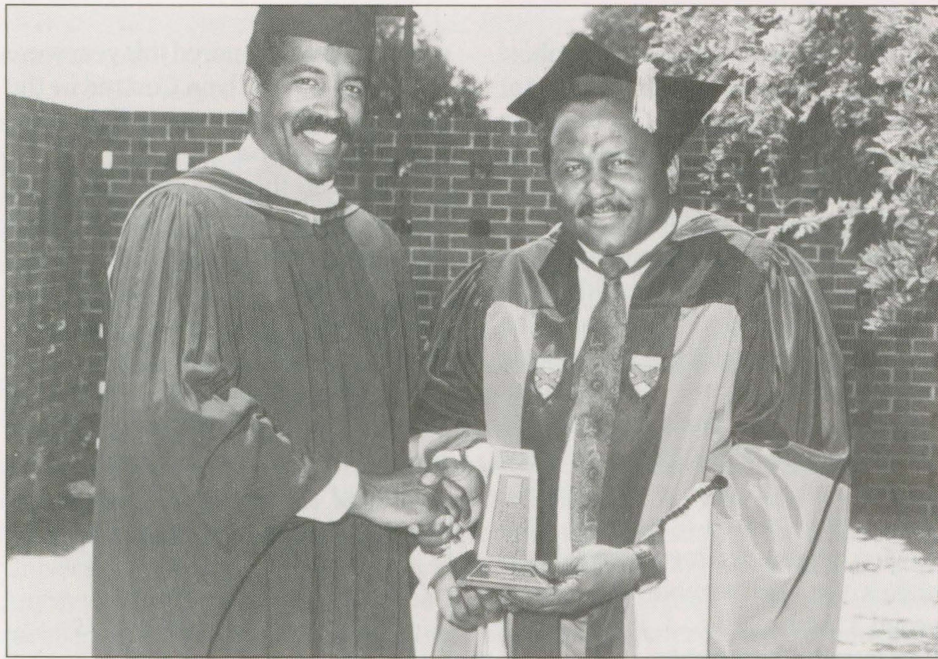

On May 14, a newly revised Cal State Hayward Advisory Board met. Members of the group are, back row from left, Kevin Pursglove, host of "Forum" on KQED; Owen Smith, retired businessman, Castro Valley; Cortland Morris, State Farm Insurance, San Ramon; Allen Meath, publisher, Alameda Newspaper Group, Inc.; front row, Gil Zaballos, R. Zaballos & Sons, Hayward; President Rees; and Gary Giovanni, Director of Community Affairs, SeaLand Service, Inc. Not pictured is Carl Metoyer, attorney, Oakland.

The Center for Filipino Studies initiated a new agreement for faculty and student exchanges with the University of the Philippines. Recently signed agreements with China's Foreign Language Publishing Bureau for, among other things, training of Chinese journalists, indicate that the move towards Asia is firmly established here.

Our leadership in the multicultural arena took many forms. The Institute for the Study of Intercultural Relations held a national conference on the multicultural university of the 21st century, that was the envy of the many attendees from other states and institutions. The Institute also hosted a series of four forums on general education that moved this important dialogue forward. Latin American Studies offered a course on the blending of directors, the board of the regional Heart Association chapter, organizing the leadership training program sponsored by the Hayward Chamber of Commerce, and helping the Haywardwide PTA organize itself for serious action. May 14 saw the first meeting of the new Cal State Hayward Advisory Board, a group of community leaders from our wider service area. Our University's community involvement, I am delighted to tell you, is far too extensive to more than scratch the surface in this column.

Our activity in grants and contracts is growing at a gratifying rate. Extramural funding is close to $4,000,000 for this year. EXCEL and Upward Bound received awards of $287,409 and $230,981, respectively. CSUH has done very well in Fulbrights over the

Stan Hebert, left, president of the Alumni Association presented Bernard Oliver, Dean of Education at Washington State University, with his award at the 1992 Alumnus of the Year. He graduated from Cal State Hayward in 1971.

Bernard Oliver named Alumnus of the Year; honored as charter member of Athletic Hall of Fame in 1986

Bernard Oliver, the "Pioneer's Pied Piper" according to the Pioneer student newspaper in 1969, was back at the May 31 Honors Convocation to be named Cal State Hayward's Alumnus of the Year. Oliver graduated in 1971 with a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

As Hayward's star football player and role model student Oliver rushed 1,507 yards as the Pioneers premier halfback, scored 15 touchdowns and carried as many as 18 to 23 academic units during his peak season. In four years Oliver gained 4,131 yards and scored 293 points. He then went on to earn a masters degree and doctorate at Stanford University and do postdoctoral work at Stanford and Harvard.

Oliver is presently a professor and Dean of Education at Washington State University. He was the Dean of Education at St. Cloud State University from 1988 to 1991. His memberships include the American Association of Higher Education, the National Association of Physical Education in Higher Education, the National Alliance of Black School Educators, the Association for Cultural Diversity, the Association of Teacher Education and many more. Oliver was named a charter member of Cal State Hayward's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1986.

Oliver remembers Cal State Hayward fondly, "It was a great academic and athletic experience for me. I remember a strong sense of community at Hayward and when people ask me if I could do it all again, I tell them I would still go to Hayward." He has maintained contact with friends and faculty at Hayward.—Brenda McConaughy

Dossier submission deadlines for 1992-93 announced

In accordance with the Promotion, Tenure and Retention Policy and Procedures, the deadline dates for dossier submission by candidates for retention, tenure and promotion are announced as follows:

Tenure	October 1, 1992
Promotion	October 1, 1992
Retention
1st & 2nd year	November 10, 1992
3rd, 4th & 5th	January 15, 1993

Section 3.8 provides: "A candidate who submits the dossier after the established deadline will not be considered for promotion that year, and the Department Chairperson shall so notify the School Dean in writing, with a copy to the candidate. In the case of a candidate for retention or tenure who fails to comply with the obligation to provide within the established deadlines a dossier of materials in accordance with Article 15.12 of the Memorandum of Understanding, the evaluation will proceed on the basis of material deemed appropriate by the Department Chair after consultation with the School Dean."

For information, please call the Office of Academic Affairs, ext. 3714.

Commencement correction

The reception for the School of Education following the commencement ceremony will be in Art Gallery Patio.

New mission statement drafted for campus

The development of a new statement of mission for Cal State University represents the first step in the University's planning for its future. Last year, President Rees outlined the steps in Forward Planning as follows: 1) Articulate the vision and prepare a mission statement; and 2) Review and identify the areas in which change is needed so that we are better able to fulfill our mission.

A Working Group composed of representatives from major campus constituencies began its work in summer 1991 by preparing a set of questions for all members of the campus community to respond to. Using the responses to this questionnaire, the existing CSUH statement of mission, and the spring 1990 report of the Strategic Planning Council, the Working Group drafted a revised mission statement and circulated it for comment in December, 1991. From the comments it received, the Working Group prepared a revised version and submitted it to the President in March 1992. After a final round of circulation for comment to the Executive Committee, Staff Assembly, Associated Students, School Deans, and the President's Executive Staff, the statement received final editing and is now being issued in its final form.

President Rees states that the new Statement of Mission for Cal State Hayward will not only form the foundation for further planning but will help the University retain its mission-oriented focus as we go through the difficult steps of budget cutting and adjustment.

The members of the Working Group were: Henry Reichman, Department of History, chair; Donald Wort, Department of Management and Finance; Maria Nieto, Department of Biology; Arthurlene Towner, dean of the School of Education; and Ron Kihara, administrative assistant to the Vice President for Administration and Business Affairs.

STATEMENT OF MISSION

California State University, Hayward is committed to educational excellence for a diverse society. Encouraging and advancing learning is our primary mission. This purpose is achieved mainly by providing instruction for undergraduate and graduate students in the liberal arts and sciences and the professions, including business and teacher education. The University is also a social and cultural center for public enrichment. In partnership with surrounding communities, the University helps identify and address issues of importance to the region.

To further its educational objectives, the University fosters excellence in instruction. It also encourages pursuits to stimulate among its students, alumni, staff, and faculty a lifelong enthusiasm for intellectual activity, including basic research, artistic creation, the integration of knowledge, and the application of scholarship to practical problems.

The Hayward campus serves the higher education needs of the people of California, especially those in Alameda and Contra Costa counties. Upper-division and graduate instruction is offered also at the University's Concord location. Students at California State University, Hayward increasingly reflect the ethnic and cultural diversity of California and the Bay Area. Many students enroll part-time and most are employed. Many transfer from other institutions or resume their educations after lengthy interruptions. The University also serves international students, who add to the heterogeneity of the Hayward campus' growing number of resident students and contribute to education for the global society.

We welcome the great variety of students on our campuses both as a challenge and a strength. The University is dedicated to providing an equitable education within a nurturing environment for all its students. Flexible scheduling, advising, and support programs help fulfill this objective. Respecting and learning from each other's distinctive experiences and traditions, students, faculty, and staff form a community dedicated to free inquiry and the unfettered exchanged of ideas and criticism, as well as to practical accomplishment.

California State University, Hayward provides an education that is rigorous, stimulating, and empowering. Because our students must apply their learning to real-life problems, the University's programs foster active and capable participation in public life. The University is committed to relatively small class size and year-round operation. Its students benefit from close contact with faculty and staff and convenient access to current technology, services, and library materials. Holding itself to high standards of achievement, the University pledges to help its students meet these standards. The University also seeks to arouse a broad range of curiosity in its students and to prepare them for a lifetime of critical inquiry and learning. The educational experience at California State University, Hayward, therefore extends beyond the classroom to include a rich assortment of extra-curricular, research, and service activities that complement effective instruction and help make the University vibrant and welcoming.

Cal State Hayward watch offered through Alumni Association

Seiko has created a limited issue of the official California State University Hayward watch. On its 14kt gold-finished dial, the quartz watch bears a three-dimensional recreation of the university seal. Three styles are offered: a women's wrist watch and men's wrist watch ($200) and a pocket watch ($245). The watch can be paid for in installments. For more information contact University Relations and Development at ext. 3724.

View

The View from California State University, Hayward is published every other Monday except during academic recesses. Deadline for submission of material is Monday, 5 p.m., two weeks prior to publication. Please address all copy to The View, 908 Warren Hall, CSUH, Hayward, CA. 94542. All copy over 50 words must be submitted on a disk or through e-mail to ~view; please do not use all caps or underlining. Copy may be edited for style, length and appropriateness. The View is a publication of the Office of University Relations & Development.

Managing Editor: Linda Schneider
Photography: Chris Chenard

Publication dates—deadlines
July 6—June 22

Printed on recycled paper

June

Through November 13

• "The Ohlone," an exhibit examining Native American arts and artifacts. C. E. Smith Museum, Meiklejohn 4047. 10am-4pm weekdays, closed Saturdays and Sundays. 881-3104. Sponsored in part by a grant from the California Council for the Humanities.

21 Thursday through June 12

• Annual Juried Student Exhibit. Gallery hours: M,T/11am-3pm; W, Th/1-7pm. Reception on May 21. 5-7pm.

13 Saturday

• Commencement. 9:30am: School of Education and School of Business; 3pm: School of Arts, Letters and Social Sciences and School of Science. Football Stadium.

15 Monday through 26

• "Teaching about the Competitive Market Process," Summer Economics Program for Teachers sponsored by The Smith Center in conjunction with The Center for Economic Education. Monday-Friday, 9am-noon.

16 Tuesday

• Staff barbecue.

Small Grants awarded to eleven faculty members

Of twenty-two applications submitted, the Committee on Research approved eleven Small Grants as follows, for a total of $10,600:

Amy O. Rodman (Art), "Caserones in Tarapaca: Pilot Project in Textile Research," $680.

Frank La Rocca (Music), "Divertimento": Orchestra Performance and Recording, $1,200.

James Fay (Political Science), "Women and Minorities in California Local Government," $640.

Nancy E. Fegan (Geological Sciences), "Partitioning of Copper, Lead, Zinc, Manganese and Chromium in Natural and Artificial Sediments of the Hayward Shoreline, San Francisco Bay," $1,135.

Lowell J. Bean (Anthropology), "Cahuilla Women: A Century of Special Adaptations to Crisis Management, Cultural Continuity and Change," $1,200.

Susan B. Opp (Biological Sciences), "Development of a New Food-based Lure to Improve Walnut Husk Fly Detection and Control," $1,175.

Maria Nieto (Biological Sciences), "Mechanism Involved in the Cellular Response to Tissue Transplants," $1,050.

Rhoda H. Kaufman (Theatre Arts), "Master Teacher Script Analysis," $270.

Anna V. Buising (Geological Sciences), "Miocene and Pliocene Sediments of the East Bay Hills: Documenting Landscape Evolution Associated with Early Movements Along the Hayward and Calaveras Faults," $1,150.

Don Warrin, (Foreign Languages and Literatures), "Portuguese Immigrant Pioneers in the Mountain West," $900.

Don A. Gailey (Biological Sciences), "Evolutionary Appearance - Or Disappearance - of an Abdominal Muscle in Adult Male Fruit Flies of the melanogaster Subgroup," $1,200.

Student honors to be published in summer issue of View

Extending a practice that began last year, View will publish a list of students receiving scholarships and others honors from their departments. The list will be published in the first issue of the summer, July 6. Departments which have not yet returned lists to University Relations and Development are encouraged to do so through campus mail or e-mail to ~view. Above is Gene Steinhauer of the psychology department with a new member of Psi Chi, the psychology honorary which was just chartered at CSUH.

Items in this section are printed in the order in which they are received in the Office of University Relations and Development. We receive numerous submissions each week and print them as space allows.

David J. Larson (Geography and Environmental Studies) presented the paper "Asian Investment in the San Francisco Bay Area" in the special session: Western American and the Pacific Rim: Geographical Implications of Trans-Pacific Linkages at the Association of American Geographers annual meeting in San Diego last month. He also is on the editorial advisory board of the recently published Annual Editions: Geography 92/93 (Dushkin Publishing Co.).

Sonja Parker Redmond (Sociology), visiting Fulbright scholar in Bahrain, Arabian Gulf, presented a seminar on "The Uses of Secondary Data: The General Well-Being of Blacks and Whites in the U.S." as part of the College of Health Sciences Research Committee Forum on March 21. She was a member of an international committee which planned and conducted a nine-day World Health Organization research methodology course for physicians, nurses and other health professionals from Qatar, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, Yemen, Libya, and Bahrain at the College of Health Sciences, Manama, Bahrain, April 20-29.

Betty Wenz (Psychology) is a recipient of the John F. Kennedy University's Sport Psychology Medal. She was a speaker at the John F. Kennedy University's Third Annual Sport Psychology Conference, June 6.

Jay L. Tontz (School of Business and Economics) spoke on May 8 to the Mission San Jose Rotary Club on "Economic Forecast 1992 and the Foreign Trade Sector."

Hadi Behzad (Management & Finance) presented two papers at the annual meetings of the International Academy of Business Disciplines in Washington, D.C. His papers entitled "On the Solvency of the Insurance Industry" and "Financial Implications of the 501 (C)(3) Organizations".

Tom Acord (Music) last month sang the role of Count Almaviva in the Berkeley Opera production of "Barber of Seville" by Rossini. This summer, he will be performing with Festival Opera in Walnut Creek in their productions of "Madame Butterfly" and "La Boheme."

Kevin Milligan (KPE) had excerpts from his article "A Student's Tribute to a Master Teacher" used by art critic Alice Thomson for her article "Giving Sight to Artists," which appeared in the March 10, 1992 issue of the Kansas City Star. In addition, excerpts from the same article were published in the Kansas City Art Institute's Assemblage Magazine, Spring Issue.

Jacki Anderson (Educational Psychology) has been appointed to the California Positive Behavior Change Task Force, an advisory group mandated by AB 2586 to assist the State Department of Education in developing and conducting a Statewide study of the use of behavioral interventions with individuals receiving special education and related services.

Leticia Iliana Holbrook (Foreign Languages and Literatures) published an essay—"Automorphic Structures in the Grammatical Space of 'Custodia' by Octavio Paz"—in the last issue of Dispositio Vol. XV, No.40. She also has an essay in press—"Homenaje a Roman Jakobson, Arbol adentro: 'Entre lo que veo y digo' de Octavio Paz"—which will be published in the next issue of Explicación de textos literarios.

James Ahiakpor (Economics) presented a paper, "Africa in the New World Order: Benefits from Relative Neglect," at a conference on "Africa and the New World Order," organized by the African Studies Coalition of the California State University, Sacramento, May 8-9. At the same conference, Dr. Ahiakpor also participate in a panel discussion on "The (Socio-Economic) Causes and Impact of AIDS in Africa."

Bruce A. Glasrud (History) recently had his article, "Jim Crow's Emergence in Texas," reprinted in Paul Finkelman, ed., The Age of Jim Crow: Segregation from the End of Reconstruction to the Great Depression, vol. IV of Race, Law and American History, 1700-1990. The article was published first in the Journal American Studies.

James E. Guffey (Criminal Justice) his article, "The Police and the Media: Proposals for Managing Conflict Productively" appears in the American Journal of Police, Volume 11, No. 1 (1992).

Steve F. Sapontzis (Philosophy) has published "Moralité de tous les jours et droits des animaux," in the April, 1992, issue of Cahiers antispécistes lyonnais.

Loretta Breuning (Management) spoke to the Alameda Democratic Club on "Are We Asking the Right Questions About the Economy?" In March, she presented a paper at the Society for the Advancement of Socio-Economics entitled "How Voters Build Mental Images of the Economy." She was elected vice-chair of the Strategic Planning Sub-Committee of the Mayor's Navy Base Committee in Alameda.

Vladimir M. Ozeroy (Management) participated in the Joint National Meeting of the Institute of Management Science and the Operations research Society of America and presented a paper titled, "Using Expert Systems in Multicriteria Decision Problems" April 29, 1992.

Jay L. Tontz (SBE) spoke on May 15 to the Golden Gate Paint and Coating Association on "Domestic and International Programs: Educating Entrepreneurs for the Global Economy," and on May 19, to the Warm Springs Rotary Club on "CSUH Programs For Soviet Executives." He spoke on May 20 at the First Presbyterian Church of Hayward: Open for Business on "CSUH Programs for Soviet Executives," and at noon at the San Lorenzo Unified School District's Business Partnership Celebration on "CSUH Programs for Domestic and International Entrepreneurs." On May 22, he spoke to the Hayward/Castro Valley Sunrise Rotary Club on "The Economic Recovery of 1992.

Continued on back page

Continued from page 3

Surendra Pradhan (Management and Finance) has published an article, "Political Risk Pricing in Multinational Investment Evaluation," in the summer 1992 issue of Nepalese Management Review.

Joan E. Sieber (Psychology) has published two books this academic year, Social Research on Children and Adolescents: Ethical Issues and Planning Ethically Responsible Research, both with Sage Publications. She was a keynote speaker on legal and ethical issues connected with data sharing in January at a University of Southern California conference entitled "Whose Research is it Anyway?" With Bruce E. Trumbo (Statistics) who is the PI/PD, she is a co-recipient of a NSF grant entitled "Materials for a Computer-Based Introductory Statistics curriculum Using Actual Data." She co-authored a chapter with James L. Sorensen (UCSF, psychiatry), entitled "Community-based Social And Behavioral Research on AIDS," and an article with CSUH student Reuel Baluyot entitled "A survey of IRB concerns about social and behavioral research," both published in IRB: A Review of Human Subjects Research. She also published a chapter with Sorensen entitled "Ethical issues in community-based research and intervention," in J. Edwards, et al. Social Psychological Applications to Social Issues: Vol. 2. Methodological Issues in Applied Social Psychology. New York: Plenum Press. She published two chapters in Renzetti & Lee, Researching Sensitive Topics, Newbury Park, Sage Publications; one entitled "The ethics and politics of sensitive research," and the other with Benjamin Bowser (Sociology and Social Work) as first author, entitled "AIDS prevention research: Old problems and new solutions."

Donald Chu (KPE) participated in the Community Executive Officers fund raising dinner for the Hayward Education Fund. He was awarded the "Most Appreciated CEO" prize for being the top fundraiser. There were a total of 36 local executives who participated in the dinner which attracted approximately 400 community business people.

Steve F. Sapontiz (Philosophy) presented a paper on "Dissecting Animals: Bad Education, Bad Attitude, Bad Morals" at the Institute on Ethics and Agricultural Biotechnology, held at Iowa State University, May 18, 1992.

Shyam J. Kamath (Economics) article entitled "The Myth of Fair Trade" will be published in the July Issue of The Freeman. His monograph entitled Foreign Aid and India: Financing the Leviathan State was published as Cato Policy Analysis No. 170 dated May 6, 1992 by the Cato Institute in Washington, D.C. An abridged and modified version entitled "Statism, Foreign Aid and Poverty in India" was published in Cato Policy Report, Vol XIII, No. 4.

Based on systemwide competition, Glynn Custred (Anthropology) and Benjamin Bowser (Sociology and Social Services) have been selected by the California State University's Social Science Research Instructional Council as Field Faculty Fellows for 1992-93. They will study Californians attitudes regarding language use and public policy as part of the Field Institute's survey of Californians.

Helen Sowers (Biological Sciences) was elected chairperson of the Academic Assembly at their annual meeting held in conjunction with the California Association of Public Health Laboratory Directors Conference in May. She also acted as a judge in the Student Bowl competition sponsored by the California Society for Medical Technology.

Theodore Roszak (History) has had his latest book The Voice of the Earth published by Simon & Shuster.

Lowell J. Bean (Anthropology) co-chaired a symposia on "Tahquitz Canyon: Data Recovery Project" at the Society for California Archaeology meetings in Pasadena on April 24. He also presented a paper "Ethnographic Implications of Archaeological Materials found at Tahquitz Canyon." He is editor and contributor to California Indian Shamanism, published in April by Ballena Press of Novato and co-editor with Sylvia Brakke Vane of two Spanish Borderlands Sourcebooks: volume 3, Ethnology of the Alta California Indians. I: Precontact, and volume 4 Ethnology of the Alta California Indians. II: Postcontact, both published by Garland Publishing, Inc. (1992). On May 29, he presented a paper entitled "Genres of Cahuilla Indian Music" at ISOMATA (Idyllwild School of Music and the Arts) at their "Festival of Indigenous Music Before 1492: A Celebration of the California Indian Spirit," sponsored by the American Indian Studies Center of UCLA.

R.L. Singson (Marketing), director of the Small Business Institute, gave a presentation on "Small Business Planning" on May 6 at the 17th Annual Conference of the International Association of Psychosocial Rehabilitation Services (IAPSRs) in Oakland. On May 9, he gave a talk on "Careers and Community Involvement" at UC Berkeley to the Filipino Students' Association conference "Empowerment."

Dee Andrews (History) was chair and commentator on the session, "Religion on the Periphery of 18th -century Britain" at the annual meeting of the Western Association of Women Historians at the Huntington Library, Pasadena, May 29-31.

Melany Bailey (Recreation and Community Education) presented a session on "Therapeutic Recreation—The Basics: What is it? Why do it? You do What?" at the Sixth Annual San Francisco Recreation Center for the Handicapped conference, April 23. She presented a paper at the Oregon Parks and Recreation Society Conference in Hood River on October 8 entitled "Co-dependency and the Manager' Role." She has recently been appointed educators representative to the California Parks and Recreation Society's conference committee and co-chair of the research committee for the California Parks and Recreation Society-Therapeutic Recreation Section.

The View

From California
State
University
Hayward

University Relations & Development, CSUH, Hayward, CA 94542-3004