TO THE CURRENT GENERATION of San Jose State College students, La Torre is as well-established a part of the campus scene on Washington Square as the Tower after which it was named. And because their knowledge of this institution's history goes back no further than the date of their matriculation here, they assume it is as old. . . . But there was no La Torre in 1916 at what was then the old San Jose Normal. La Torre was born as a flash of inspiration in the mind of Raymond W. Miller, elected editor of the "Normal School Yearbook." Ray Miller had imagination—and a sense of the impressive background and the color of the institution which his publication would represent. The name "Yearbook" was flat, colorless, inadequate, he argued, demanding something more suitable. He got it. "The Yearbook" became "La Torre." And it is to Ray Miller, twenty-three years later, this La Torre is dedicated. . . . With the change of name, Mr. Miller founded a tradition which La Torre editors ever since have endeavored to observe—that each new La Torre should be a little different, a little more original than its predecessors. With this tradition in mind your editor offers you La Torre for 1939. She hopes that it is worthy of the name; that it has caught within its covers something of that spirit of San Jose State College which Ray Miller of the Class of '16 captured in its title.

DRAWING BY MARJORIE SERIO

President's Message

These are troubled times. It is vital that we think clearly and act wisely. We must keep in view the long time good. Courageously must we do our part in the promotion of the general welfare.

With such an amazing increase in college population this year we have had to adjust to crowded rooms and crowded classes. We have had to meet the challenge of a wider range of ability. Has our response been good? Have we contributed to the happiness of humanity, to the stability of our democracy? In the years to come shall we be able to look back to '38-'39 and say, "Well done"?

All But One!

Coming as close to completing an undefeated season as a team can possibly come and still not realize that goal, the 1938 Spartans pounded and passed their way through a twelve game season only to be dumped by a one point margin in their final stand at Honolulu. Again gaining distinction as the highest scoring college team in the nation the Washington Square De Grootmen proved to be the class of the California colleges and kept their mainland record unmarred.

Reg Game---

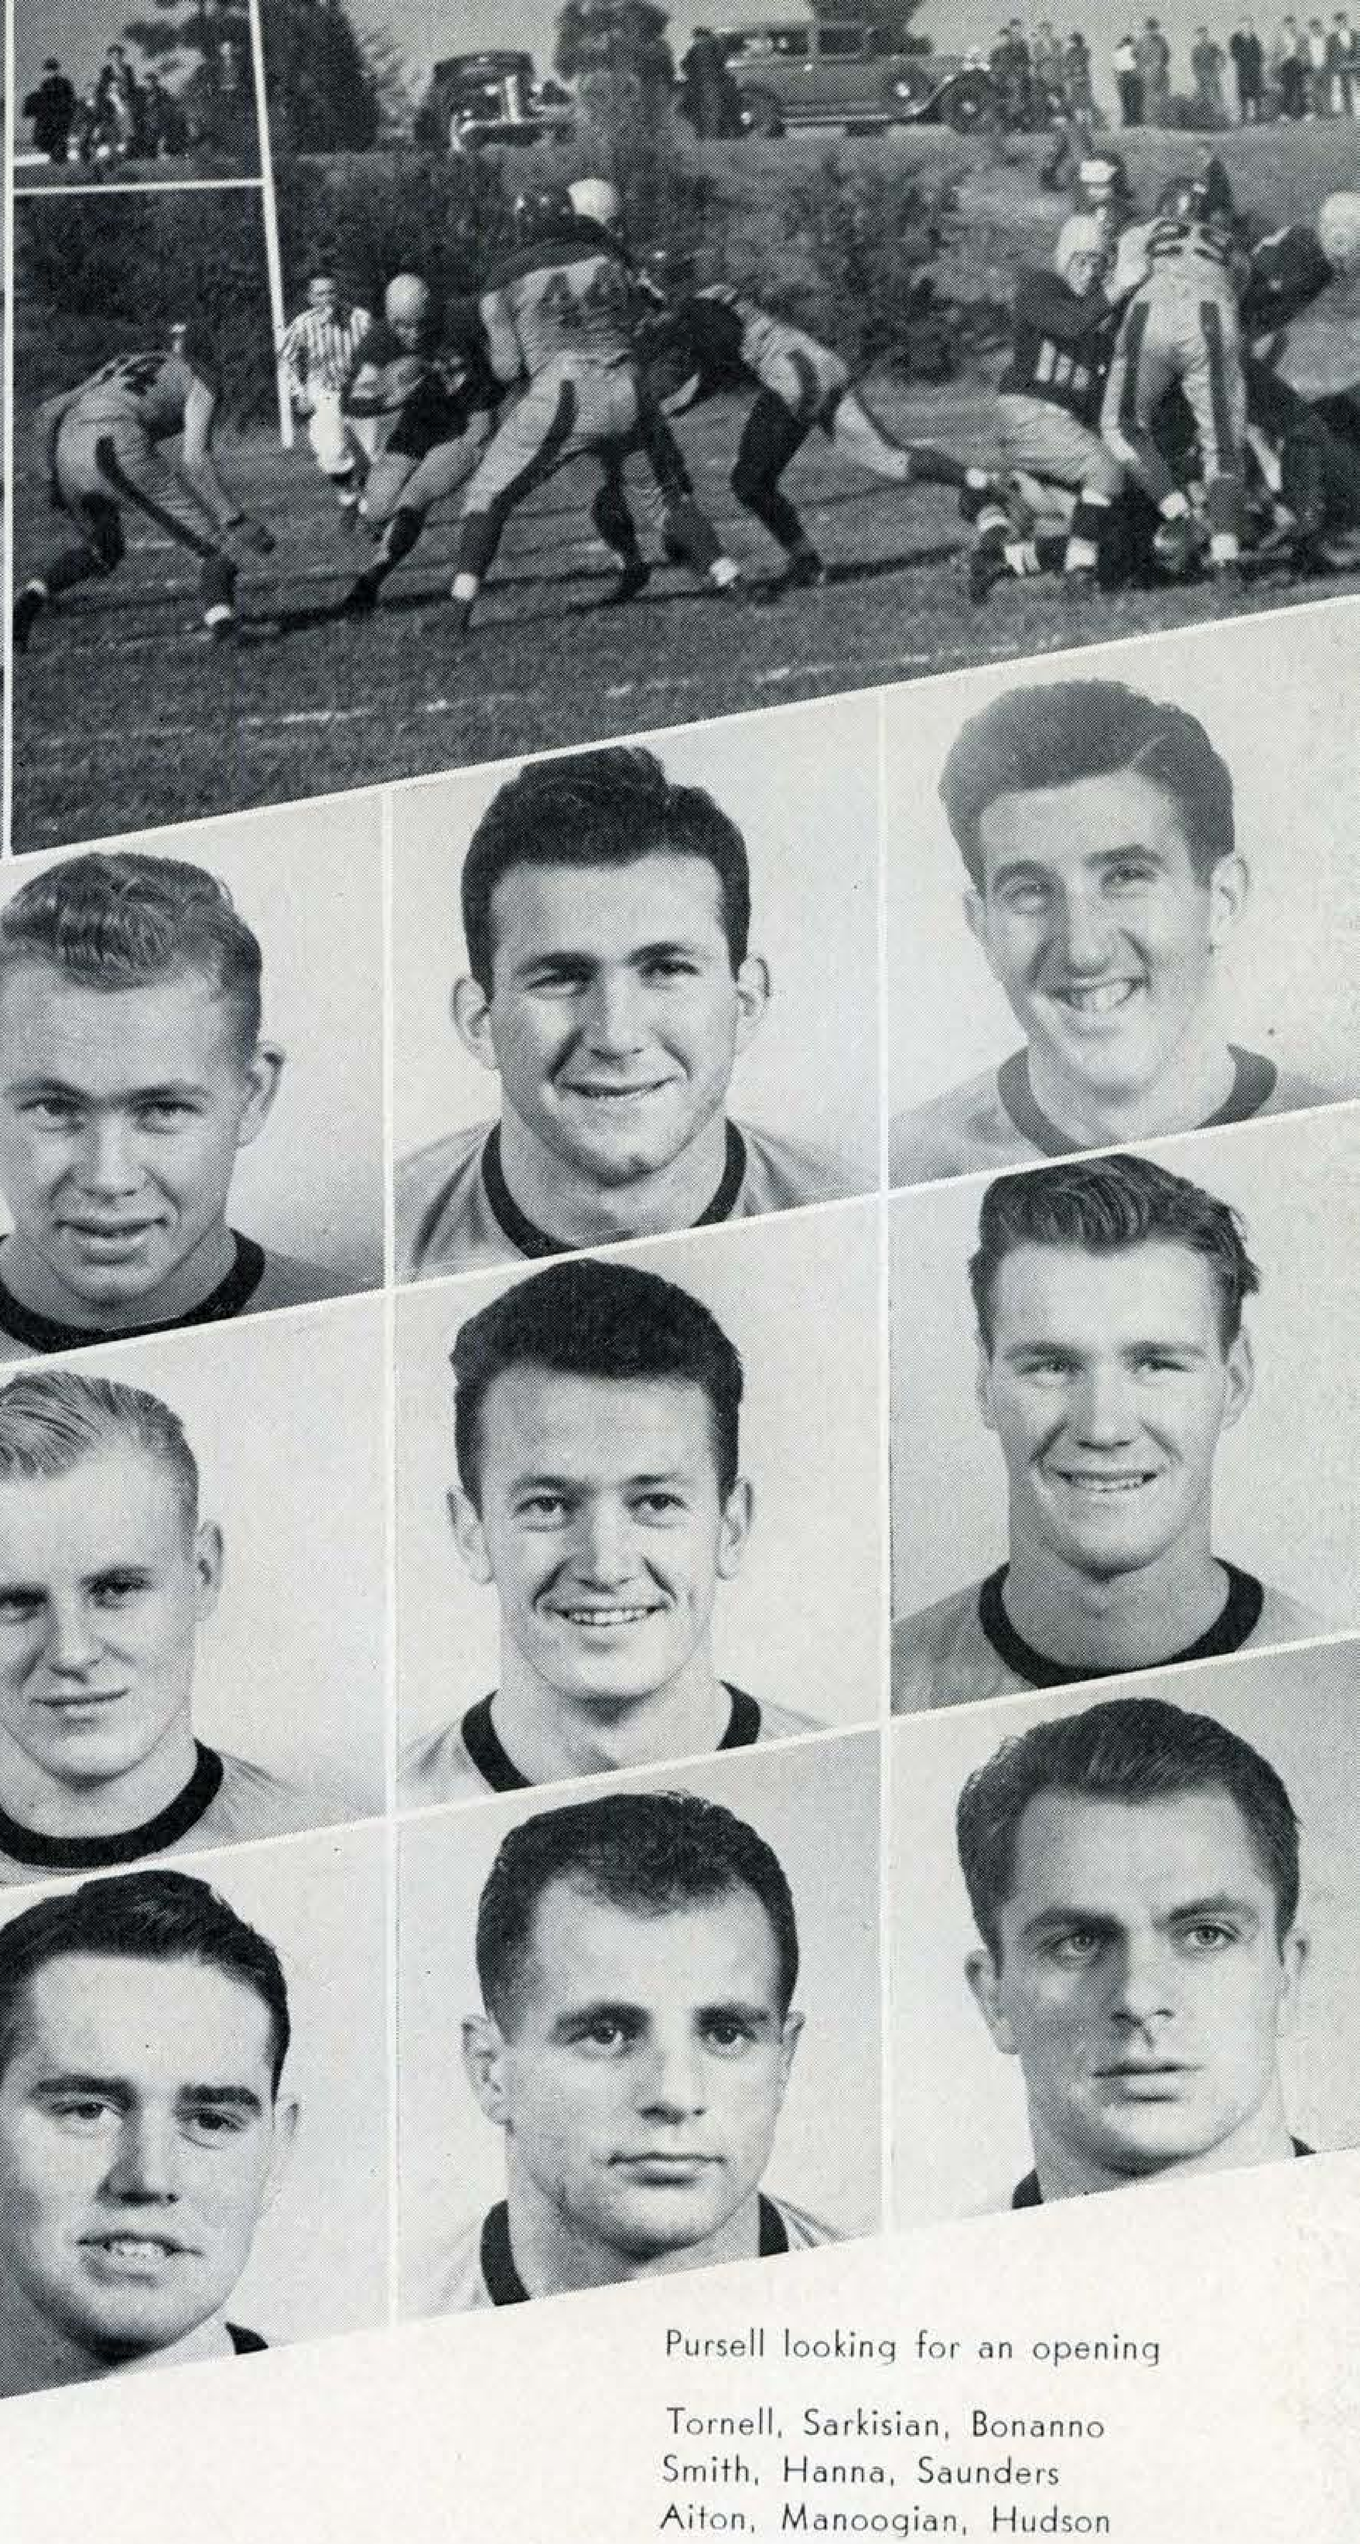

Opening as usual the night of registration, the Spartan gridders started their twelve game season with a decisive 18-7 victory over a stubborn team from Tempe, Arizona. Still following the "two the first week" policy of headman De Groot, the Staters' next victory was chalked up on Friday of the same week against the California Ramblers, the score, 39-12. Then Cal Tech stepped in front of the mighty juggernaught but was pushed aside to the tune of 52-0. Herman Zetterquist and Rex Pursell, halfbacks, both tallied twice in the latter game.

Sweet Revenge---

A few years back, a highly favored Spartan football team went north to play Humboldt State College. That team returned with a 20-0 defeat. This year the boys tasted sweet revenge in the 48-0 victory over the same Lumberjacks from the north. Another team from that section went home on the short end of a large score when Pacific University of Oregon was swamped 39-0. The backs had veritable field days and it was then that the (quote U.P.) "little college in San Jose (pronounced Hosay), California" came to the top of the nation's highest scoring teams.

Big Game---

The annual meeting of San Jose State College and College of Pacific took place in the south Seventh Street Stadium and a brilliant victory was won by the Sparta men. De Groot's men ran in, around, and through the Bengal line and they passed over their heads with such accuracy that there was never a doubt as to the outcome of the fray. Only once did the Tigers show the power with which they later defeated the University of Chicago 32-0 and that was on a sustained drive late in the fourth quarter that finally brought them six points. The "Z" boys, Zim and Zet, paced the attack with the outstanding help of little Gene Rocchi and the entire forward wall.

Breeze Along

The rest of the mainland games were taken in a succession of victories by the Spartans with trouble coming only from the two teams in San Diego. The Aztecs at the southern State institution put up a stubborn defense inside their twenty yard line and although statistics show great superiority on the Sparta side, it took two intercepted passes to bring the game out of the fire. Birlem and Ucovich, both of whom had never scored before and were playing their last season of collegiate football, provided the points.

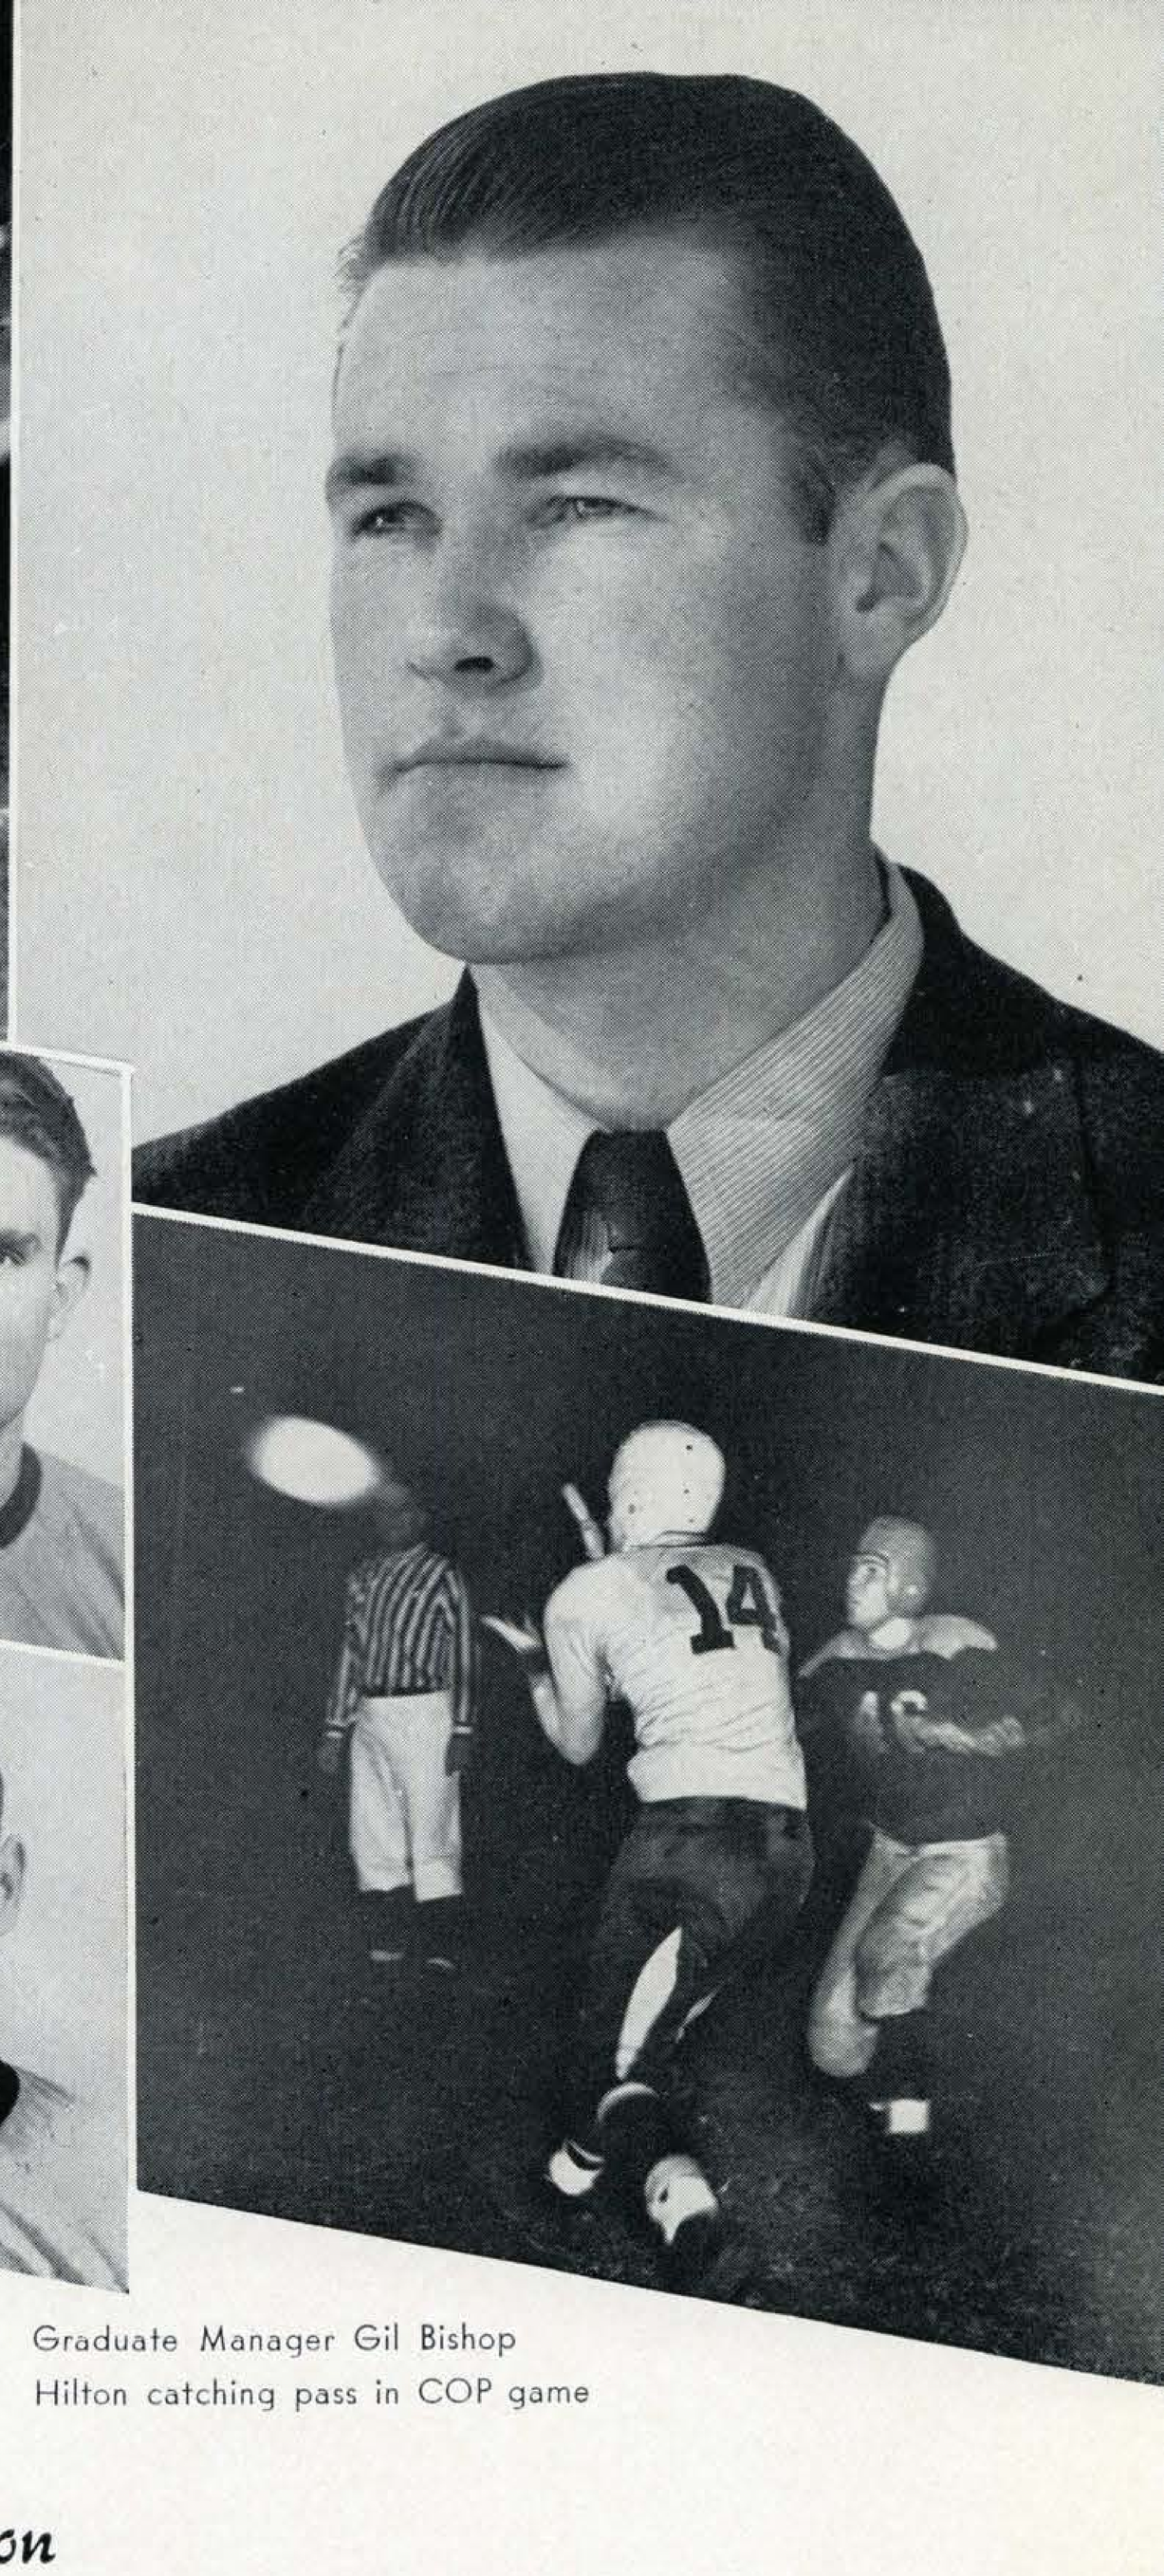

The Marine battle (and it was a battle) was won by Chuck Johnson. The hard driving end stopped all Marine thrusts and caught the pass that scored.

Best Season

All things considered the 1938 football season was the most successful this school has ever seen. Coach Dud DeGroot, Assistants Bill Hubbard and Dee Portal, turned out a team that was the highest scoring aggregation in the nation, that was defeated but once (one lousy point), besides having the longest game schedules of the year. The Spartans ran up a total of 322 points against an aggregate of 56 for their twelve opponents. Several outstanding stars gained national recognition in All-American selection. Lloyd Thomas was named the most, while Keith Birlem, Mitch Ucovich, and Leroy Zimmerman were all mentioned.

Basketball

Dropping two games to the cross-city rivals, Santa Clara, cost Coach Bill Hubbard's Spartan swishers the Northern California Intercollegiate conference title they won last year. The Broncos were the best college team in this vicinity, however, and it was no disgrace to lose to such a splendid outfit. The Spartans ran them a close second, however, in the conference race, nosing out Saint Mary's and USF for the number two position. Mainstays of the team were again Captain Lloyd Thomas, Gus "Chubby" Kotta, and Charley Bendeich. Captain Thomas was again the class of the league with his ultra-superior floor play and defensive work.

Kotta (the chubby peon) and Bendeich took care of the scoring division, the latter with a high score in one game of 24 points. Three newcomers played an important part in the casaba set-up, two of them comprising the toughest pair of guards ever seen at San Jose. Deward "Truck" Tornell and Johnny Allen formed the defensive combine that stopped many an opponent's thrust and broke up play after play. Allen proved to be one of the fastest "ballhawks" in the league, intercepting several down-court passes each game and generally messing up the opposing offense.

Baseball

Completing his first season as baseball coach of San Jose State, Walt McPherson, former three star man and football captain of the Spartans, brought his horsehiders through a long season in fine style. Standout victories of the diamonders were the 1-0 defeat over Santa Clara, and the victory with the same score over the San Diego Staters. The pitching mainstays of this year's varsity were again Carpenter and Zimmerman with Zetterquist and Nasimento providing the rest periods. Captain Jack Riordan, Johnny Allen, Harvey Rhodes, and Manny Sanchez made up an infield that rated with the best in the state. Rhodes led in batting and fielding.

Coach Tiny Hartranft's tracksters this year were the best all-around team in recent years at this school. There were a few outstanding men, but for the most part the team consisted of just good men in every event. Captain Owen Collins was one of the outstanding men, setting a school record in the 440 and winning points in the 220 and relay. Len Herman was also a standout in the half mile, with McNabb and Ruble excelling in the distances. On the field "Ticky" Vasconcellos was the most consistent point getter in the high jump and broad jump. Don Presley boosted his shot put record, and "Mickey" Finn set a new high in the pole vault.

SPARKS

Spardi Gras

Written and compiled by ARTHUR VAN HORN, BEN JOHNSON, and GEORGE PLACE

Friday, May 6, 1939, saw San Jose State's tenth annual Spardi Gras pass into history. A spark ignited a decade ago by two San Jose undergraduates, Jim Chesnutt and Dick Russell, has grown into a roaring fire that envelops Washington Square for nearly a week every year . . . but let's look back ten years.

"CAMPUS READY FOR SPARDI GRAS"

Four hours after the above headline appeared in the State College Times of February 22, 1929, Washington Square's first traditional Spardi Gras was in full swing. Fashioned somewhat after Derby Day, Bum's Day, and the Leap Year Frolic of 1928, Spardi Gras made its debut. In 1928 to add merriment to the celebration small fires were built in the Quad; students galloped to school on moth-eaten nags and stubborn donkeys which pastured in the Quad during classes; classes were abruptly halted when skunks, roosters, and other barnyard favorites were lugged into classrooms. Another frivolity was the battle for a plaque which symbolized the rivalry between the freshmen and sophomores. After the frolic in the Quad which included eats, dancing, and impromptu acts, a parade was made to Spartan Field to the accompaniment of the Delta Theta Omega band. At the field, a mixed field day was held including inter-class activities and many skits. As a climax to the day, San Jose played Marysville a basketball game in the gym. A dance culminated the day's activities.

A year later, February 20, the school again ran riot over the campus. "Marble" and "tops" contests were held in the morning, while at noon the bread line and bean feed was again held in the Quad followed by a dance. So realistic were the "Bums" that a real hobo wandered in from the railroad tracks and helped himself to beans and coffee. Later in the afternoon a few impromptu acts were held in the auditorium, after which the "Bums" paraded to the field to finish off with many athletic events (and several free-for-alls).

MOVIES TAKEN OF 1932 FESTIVITIES

The next two years brought little change in the day's activities, although through the efforts of the 1931 Chairman Leon Warmke, there was better organization. The show that year was a climax to a La Torre-Spardi Gras week which was sponsored by the college annual for the purpose of promoting sales. That year and again in 1932 the "Bums" idea was still in vogue. Mr. Newby and Dr. Wood put on a skit in the auditorium. The Western News Reel Company took pictures of the day's events to be shown in the San Jose theatres, and La Torre sponsored a dance to climax the day's celebration.

Leon Warmke was chairman again in 1933. It was this year that concessions were featured for the first time. A colored edition of the Times started things off with a bang; concessions were open from 12 to 1. From 12:30 to 1:30 there was a dance, followed by a minstrel show. In the middle of the afternoon a few stage numbers were presented in Morris Dailey Auditorium.

History

FIRST REVELRIES APPEAR IN 1934

In conjunction with the Spardi Gras of 1934 headed by Dario Simoni, Randy Fitts brought the first actual Spartan Revelries to the campus. A special razz edition of the State College Times was published; there were concessions, noon dancing, a whiskerino contest, an exhibition football game, and free feed at 6 o'clock.

Carmen Dragon and his orchestra furnished the music for this first revelries which was staged early in the evening. Those who took leading parts in the Fitts Production were Ronald Linn, Bob Leland, Paul Becker, Tommy Gifford, with Saxon Downs as master of ceremonies.

Hugh Staffelbach chairmanned the 1935 Spardi Gras which featured a "grand" parade in costumes, but no concessions. A swimming meet was substituted for the football game, and the feed was held in the afternoon. Randy Fitts' Revelries in the evening featured original music written by students.

CONCESSIONS BROUGHT BACK

With Robert Schnabel as chairman, 1936 saw the return of the popular concessions sponsored by the various campus organizations. Frances Cuenin and the Daily Staff put out a razz sheet entitled "The Vinegar Jug"; football was revived; and Dee Portal made his first appearance in his bear skin coat and old hat that were destined to become one of Spardi Gras' permanent fixtures. Randy Fitts again directed the Revelries with Carmen Dragon's orchestra featured and Paul Becker back at the mike.

SPARDI GRAS GOES ON THE RADIO

In 1937 Jack Gruber was chairman of the annual carnival in the Quad, Harold Randle handling a KQW microphone and broadcasting the results of the cinderella, pie eating, whiskerino, and various other contests. Jim Bailey directed the Revelries in the form of a continuity show representing four years of college life highlighted by the comedy team of the Four Continental Brothers, Bailey, Randle, George Ryan, and Bill De Diego. Through the facilities of KQW one-half hour of this show was broadcast.

REVELRIES MOVED TO CIVIC AUDITORIUM

Outstanding events of the 1938 Spardi Gras, with George Place at the helm, were the drawing of an automobile and the moving of the Revelries from the Morris Dailey Auditorium to the San Jose Civic auditorium. Contest judging was held in the south Quad with the Faculty contest drawing much attention, as Dee Portal, Doc Newby, and Mrs. Hayes vied for blue ribbon honors. Featured by Joe Rapose and Elree Ferguson in the leading roles and Gail Harbaugh singing the title song, "Hop, Skip, and Cheer," the all-college show for the first time followed a definite plot. KQW again broadcast one-half hour of the program.

As for 1939, some of the highlights of this year's celebration are pictured on following pages.

And there you have it . . . Sparta's most prized possession. A tradition that promises to gain in fame and renown as the years go on . . . San Jose State's . . . Spardi Gras . . .

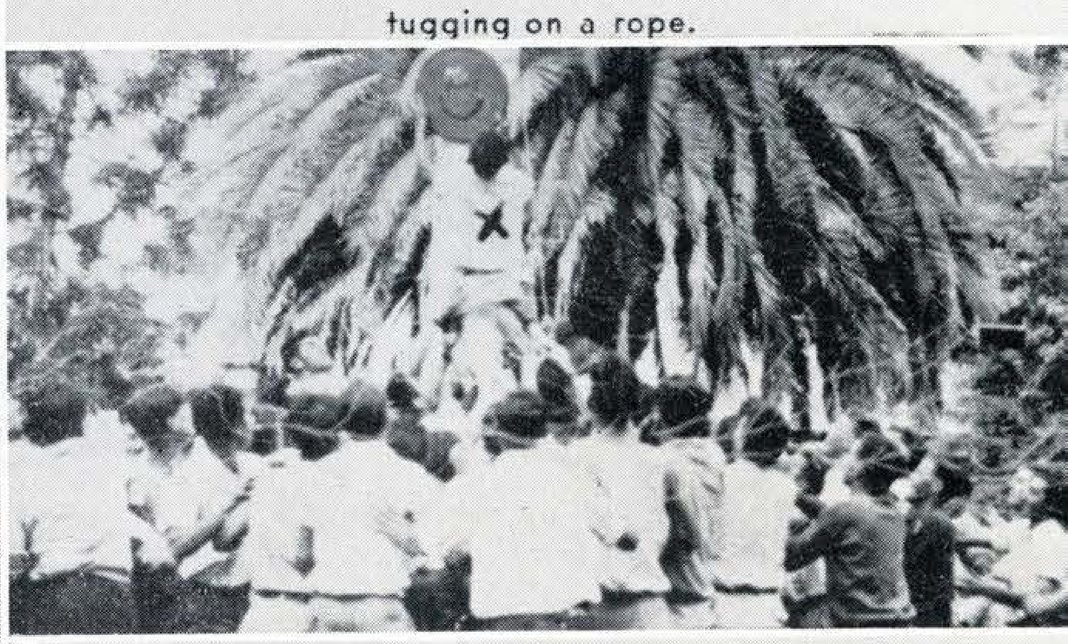

Aren't we the cute ones, though! Back in 1929 this couple helped to make the first Spardi Gras the success it was which led to the adoption of this festival as the traditional day of relaxation by Washington Square. The following pages will, in more or less chronological order, trace those events and developments in pictures as outlined in the written commentary.

For the '37 Spardi Gras "Dee" Portal put on his bearskin coat, police badge and old felt hat and then went into hibernation. One year later he came out and established a tradition. Also featured this year were cinderella, beard and banana-eating contests.

The 1938 committee incorporated all of the best features of former carnivals and gave us concessions of every type, costumes galore, contests, football game, free feed, dancing and the Spartan Revelries. With a wealth of material gathered from past riotous days, this year promises a glorious holiday for all.
