

School of Social Sciences

Anthropology Department (Anth)
 Economics Department (Econ)
 Ethnic Studies Program
 Asian American Studies (As Am)
 Black Studies (Bl S)
 La Raza Studies (La R)
 Native American Studies (N A S)
 Geography Department (Geog)
 History Department (Hist)
 Political Science Department (Pl Si)
 Sociology Department (Soc)
 Speech Communication Department
 (Spch)
 Urban and Regional Planning
 Department (U R P)

School of Social Work

Social Welfare Department (S Wel)
 Graduate Department of Social Work (S Wrk)

Special and Interdisciplinary Programs

Computer Sciences (C S C)
 Honors, College (Honors)
 Honors, Departmental (H D)
 International Studies—Campus
 (I S C)
 International Studies—Abroad
 (I S A)
 Library (Lib)
 Mass Communication (M Com)
 Moss Landing (M L)

COURSE NUMBERING SYSTEMDEFINITIONS AND ELIGIBILITY*Lower Division Courses

Numbers 1-99 designate lower division (ld) courses designed for first- and second-year students, but open to others.

Upper Division Courses

Numbers 100-199 designate upper division (ud) courses designated for third-, fourth-, and fifth-year students. Such courses will count as graduate work when taken by students who have graduate status but require departmental approval for use on a master's degree program (also see Post-Baccalaureate Credit). Freshmen and first-semester sophomores are not normally eligible for upper division courses; but second-semester sophomores who have completed a minimum of 45 units are permitted to enroll in the upper division courses for which they have adequate preparation. Course number 190 designates independent study. See Regulations and Procedures and specific course prerequisites.

Graduate Courses

Numbers 100G-199G designate courses which combine and intensify material normally offered in undergraduate courses. Designed for use in the first year of two-year master's degree programs, these courses are open only to graduate students.

Numbers 200-299 designate graduate courses designed for use on masters' degree programs. They are open only to holders of bachelor's degrees and to second-semester seniors with superior preparation and ability who are admitted by the instructor. Courses in the 200 series are generally conducted as seminars, requiring original research; some are lectures based upon instructors' research; all involve originality, initiative, and independence of judgment. Course number 290 designates independent study at the graduate level; 299, a master's degree thesis or project. See Regulations and Procedures; Degrees and Credentials; and specific course prerequisites. When 200 series courses are taught by extension and carry the designation E after the number, they are counted as upper division courses (100 series) in master's degree programs. For limitation of credit in these courses, see School of Graduate Studies—Program Requirements.

Numbers 300-399 designate courses designed to meet professional needs not served by established undergraduate or graduate offerings. Completion of the bachelor's degree and professional competence in their professional service is assumed for students enrolling in these courses. Although primarily for purposes other than use on degrees and credentials, in individual cases and subject to prior departmental