COLLEGE

AT

HAYWARD

HAYWARD, CALIFORNIA

VOLUME IV

College is:

a foundation for growth.

where the ambition and awareness of a freshman unfolds into the strength and understanding of a senior.

thoughts may be inspired by the wisdom of classmates.

where appreciation of knowledge builds with each new experience.

dedication of thoughts and feelings may flow into a fountain of creativity.

where enthusiasm
may bring spirit
to a lost shadow.

Where victory and defeat clash,
and yet work together toward one common goal.

the goal to which all strive;
some may achieve it,

and some may fail

but in failing they may comprehend the one forceful idea which would have secured victory.

and they will be better prepared to face the next challenge.

Walter Oyugi finds relaxation in reading the evening paper.

The presence of foreign students on campus brings a new awareness to all concerned of the similarity in problems that exist in all parts of the world.

Intellectual dialogue makes possible the exchange of values on a person-to-person level. Personal contact paves the way toward better understanding of cultures and ideals.

To foreign students at Cal-State, and students participating in exchange programs everywhere, we dedicate the '66 Elan.

The President at Work

The Cal State student body has grown to almost 5000, but President Fred Harcleroad remembers well the fall of 1959 when the student body numbered 293 full- and part-time students and the faculty was made up of 19 professors. In 1959 the Cal-State "campus" consisted of two small offices in the County Building on Winton Avenue and a few borrowed classrooms at Sunset High School.

Now President Harcleroad administers a college that in six years has achieved a reputation for academic excellence. The faculty roster now numbers more than 300 full- and part-time professors of whom approximately two thirds hold doctorate degrees and many have achieved national and even international reputations.

Homecoming

Moves to Fall

The annual Homecoming Ball was moved up from February to October 16 and was held at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. Approximately 650 students, alumni and faculty members attended the colorful event.

At midnight Carolyn Masters was crowned Homecoming Queen and Susan Wooley was named first runner-up. Attendants were Sue Foster, Sharon Lee and Kris Jorgensen. Chairman of the ball was Darby Rust.

The 1965 Pioneer Preview Week was attended by 95 per cent of the freshman class.

In student-led discussions, freshmen discovered how to stay in school. Some brave students at the stormy Hootenanny created new methods of breathing to avoid sand-filled lungs. Others learned to hula at the Hukilau. The week was climaxed by the annual Hello Dance held in the Fine Arts Patio. The music reverberated all the way to Mission Boulevard. Planned by Dean Joan Seavey and Sue Connors, more than 100 Cal-State students joined to make the event a great success.

The fourth annual Cal State production of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," was presented December 5 in the Foothill gymnasium.

The Community Chorus, the two sections of the College Chorus and the College Singers, directed by Prof. Karl Ernst, head of the Creative Arts Division, composed the 450-voice community-college chorus. The choruses were accompanied by the College Community Orchestra under the direction of Harold P. Whelan. Assisting Dr. Ernst were Profs. Rudolph Saltzer and Lee Kjelson.

Soloists were Sharrin Loyd, soprano; Andrea Wolf, contralto; Tom Fettke, tenor; and David Krumpe, bass.

The Cal-State facilities are growing steadily with the addition of approximately one building per year.

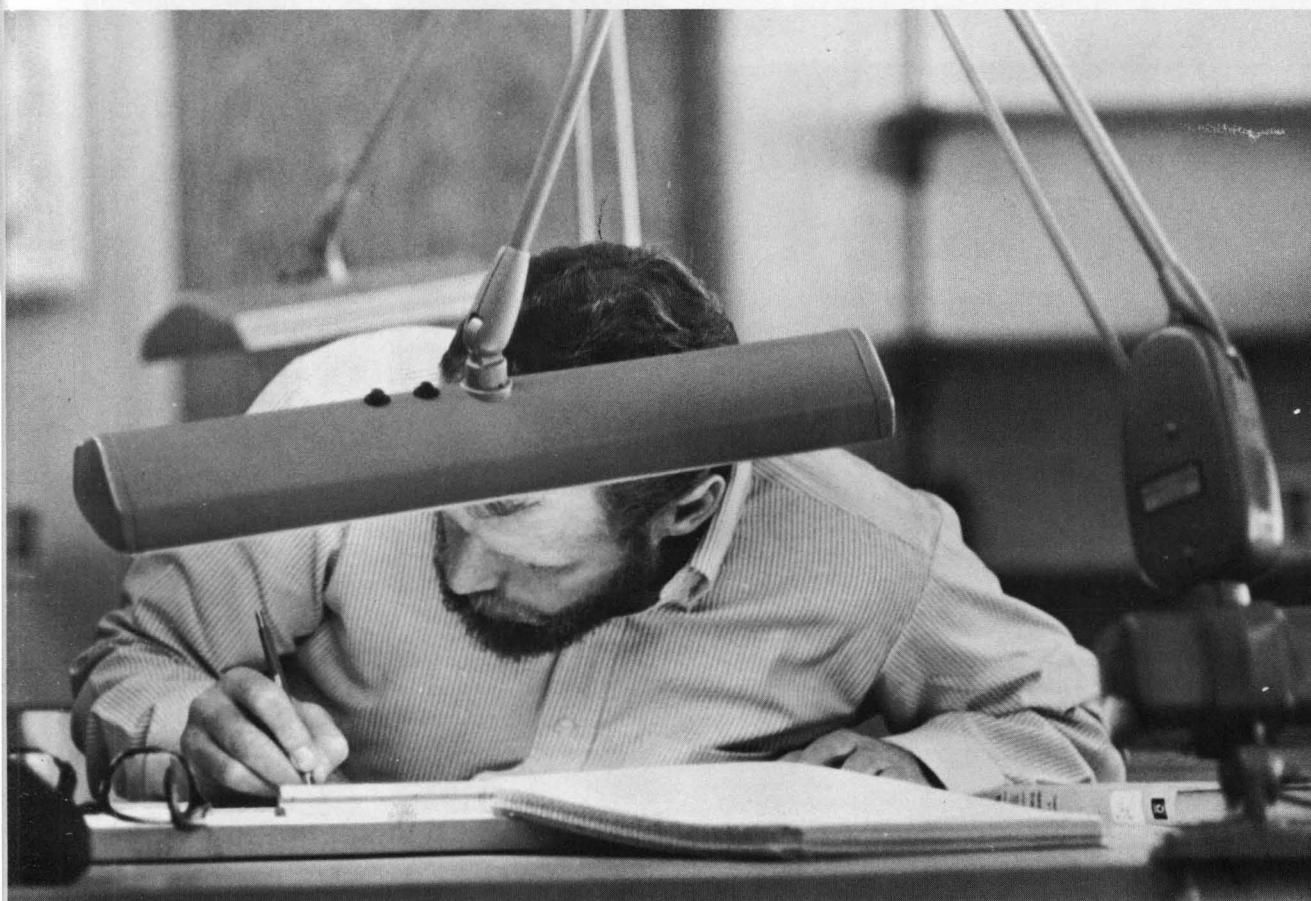

The new 105-room Music Building was dedicated in late October.

Guest lecturer for the ceremony, which was held in the building's brick-bordered peristyle, was Dr. Stanley Chapple of the University of Washington. He emphasized the importance of the arts—"to supply that necessary outlet for the ordinary person."

Featured in January 23 were Ciro and his troupe of Flamenco dancers. Flamenco, the wild dance of the Spanish gypsies, was presented for standing room only crowds.

On January 27 Prof. David Chan, adviser to the Chinese Culture Club, spoke on the nature of Chinese New Year. He emphasized the symbolism the Chinese attach to the coming of the new year. Prof. Chan was also named recipient of a Fulbright Fellowship to study and do research for one year at the Academia Sinica, the Chinese academy of sciences on Taiwan.

Speakers Consider Threat to Survival

The theme of the spring Social and Behavioral Science Division Symposium was "Free Man in the Voluntary Society—1984 Reconsidered."

Prof. Sioma Kagan, internationally well-known economist and communications expert, was the principal speaker. Other speakers were Prof. Robert C. Kimball of the Starr King School for the Ministry, Prof. Lawrence Thomas of Stanford University and Prof. Hilary Fry of Cal State Hayward.

Prof. Fry raised the question concerning man's tendency to pattern himself after the machine he has invented and so admires. "Man has great potential," Prof. Fry said, "but only if he can learn to use it."

In Memoriam

Dorothy Louise Williams, graduated in 1965 as a music major. She returned last fall to complete work for her teaching credential. She died in an automobile accident on November 11, 1965.

While attending Cal State as an undergrad, she was a member of the College Singers, first runner up in the Winter 1965 Homecoming Queen Contest, Creative Arts Division secretary and a member of M.E.N.C. She also participated in the readings of the Trojan Women in the fall quarter.

Thomas Swain

Dr. Edward Billings Ham

Active in numerous college activities, Tom Swain was a pledge for the Cal State chapter of Alpha Phi Beta. The sophomore majoring in political science was also publicity chairman for the Social and Behavioral Science Division Symposium.

Swain was killed in an automobile accident en route to pick up his date for the Homecoming Coronation Ball on Saturday, October 16, 1965.

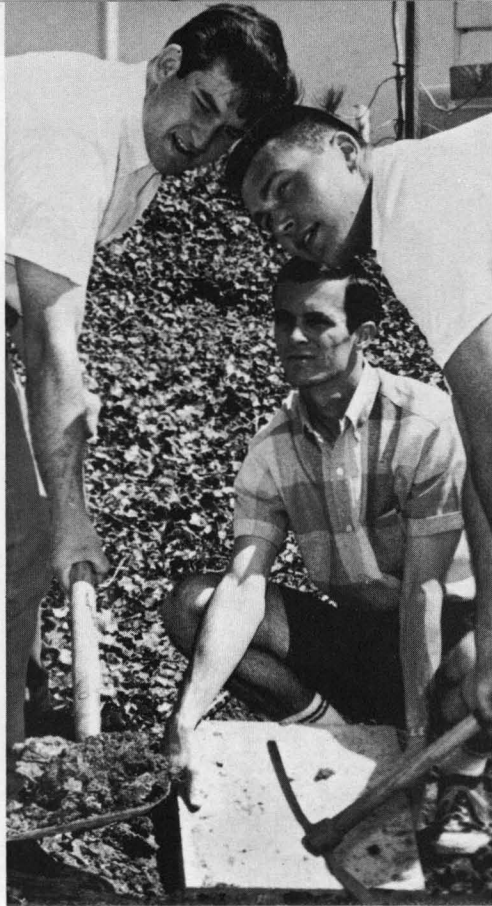

Members of his division later dedicated their symposium "Socioeconomic Evolution" held in January, "In memory of Tom Swain—A Student of the Social and Behavioral Science Division whose promise and potential embodied the future to which this volume is addressed."

Dr. Edward Billings Ham was appointed to the Cal State faculty in 1963 as the first presidential distinguished professor.

Before coming to Cal State he served on the faculties at Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Oxford and the University of Michigan.

Winner of a Rhodes Scholarship (1923), a fellowship in the Humanities given by the American Council of Learned Studies and a Guggenheim Fellowship (1961), Ham was noted for his research in medieval French.

He died at his home on Tuesday, November 30, 1965.

Divisions

Professor Virgil Salera
Head, Division of Business and Economics

Division Of Business And Economics

The Cal State Division of Business and Economics has assumed a leadership position among California college and university business schools in developing and applying new concepts and techniques in the field of business.

Highlighting the 1965-66 year was the establishment of a campus chapter of the Delta Sigma Pi National Honorary and Professional Fraternity. Much credit for this forward step belongs to Council President William O'Brien who persistently worked to have the honorary fraternity set up here.

The year's activities included a trip to Hoefer, Diedrich and Brown Advertising Agency in San Francisco and a tour of the Federal Reserve Bank there. The regular Division business luncheons featured well-known business personalities who spoke on methods in advertising and on company policy development. A visit to the Charles Krug Winery was an added highlight which contributed to the togetherness feeling among Division members.

The language of art is universal. It embodies a desire to express feelings, ideas and hopes of all people that cannot be conveyed through words.

Each part of the Creative Arts division has a different language. The Department of Art places emphasis on the individual's expression. Drama and speech is a combination of both with the balance in favor of the individual.

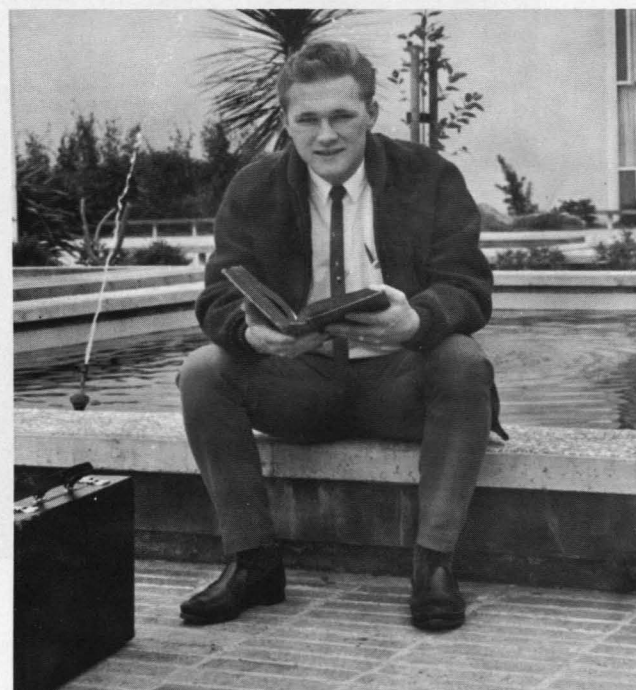

The entire division invites students to add to their general education, and invites the specializing student to participate in creative art activities. The fine arts are not for people with special talents only.

This year the Music and Speech—Drama Departments took a big step forward when they moved into the new Music Building. A Speech-Drama Classroom Building is planned for 1969 and will be a part of the College Performing Arts Center.

DIVISION OF EDUCATION

The Division is pioneering in several areas of education in order to provide the community with teachers who have solid foundations in both theory and practice.

One of the most recent programs concerns pre-kindergarten teaching. Dr. Mildred Sabbath has developed this program which provides opportunity for nursery and kindergarten teachers to obtain teaching credentials in four years.

The Department of Teacher Education is exclusively a graduate department now. During the fifth year of study the prospective teacher engages in a program of advanced study in his major, enrolls in Education classes, and participates in actual classroom teaching. The student is a teacher's helper for one quarter and then serves as a student teacher for two quarters.

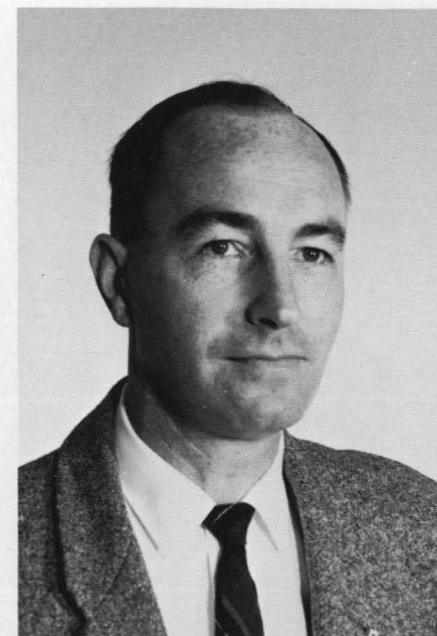

Prof. Lewie Burnett, Head, Division of Education and Chairman, Department of School Administration and Supervision.

The 1965-66 academic year was the first for the new philosophy major at Cal State. The Foreign Languages Department bolstered the Asian Studies emphasis at this college by adding two languages, Russian and Hindi. The additions bring to five languages the total now offered by the department.

The History Department has been busy developing a master's degree program planned to be offered for the first time next year. Highlighting the past year's departmental activities was its active participation in the American Historical Association Convention which was held last December in San Francisco.

All four departments within the Division, English, Foreign Languages, History and Philosophy, have been expanding their programs and will have many additional offerings next year.

One of the principal goals of the division is to encourage the humanistic study of man's ideas and to allow the student to explore the levels and kinds of meaning which shape man's knowledge. The four departments are characterized by their distinguished faculty members.

SOCIAL AND BEHAVIORAL SCIENCE DI-VISION STUDENT COUNCIL. Standing (l. to r.) Prof. Robert Forbes, adviser, and Rodney Brown, president. Seated: Cindy Patterson, secretary, and Linda Gruenbaum, vice-president.

Prof. O. F. Freitag
Chairman, Department of Political Science

Prof. Reuben Mehling
Chairman, Journalism-Mass Communications Program

Prof. Malcolm Smith
Public Administration Program

Social Science is the effort to apply scientific methods of inquiry to the life of human beings living in groups, large and small. Students enrolled in the Area Major and in the several departmental majors, therefore, are encouraged to study and participate in a wide range of the group enterprises by which man lives, grows and modifies his several societies in keeping with a rapidly changing physical and technical environment.

The social science fields — anthropology, geography, economics, history, journalism-mass communications, political science, psychology, sociology, and the broadfield — provide unique opportunities for students to discover their social world, and to develop their own individualities both as to their special interests and their eventual professional careers.

The longer term purpose of a liberal arts education in Social Science is to develop and extend the democratic theory and practice. Special opportunity for students to learn how to use their freedoms responsibly lies in the hands of the Student Council who actively promote and administer the "out-of-class curriculum" by celebrating United Nations Day in the autumn quarter, a Seminar or Symposium on basic social issues in the winter, and the Law and Freedom Day in the Spring.

The summer of 1965 at Cal State set the stage for year-round operation at all the state colleges.

"The first summer quarter was a success," stated Dean Forrest Mayer, director. More than 1,500 students enrolled for the 11-week summer quarter and another 1,100 for the six-week summer session.

Back row—Rod Brown, Charles Herbst, Bill Almy, Olin Covington, Gene DeSchmidt, Ken Wilson, Dave Bluestein, Andy Steele, Bob Parma, Rene Perez and Prof. Vincent Shaudys, one of the advisers.

Alpha Phi Omega and Alpha Phi Beta, Cal State's two service fraternities, and Gamma Delta Epsilon, the lone sorority, perform every kind of service for the college from helping at registration to decorating Christmas trees. With the Slave Sale and Ugly Man Dance Alpha Phi Omega raised over $1,200 for scholarships.

The club took excursions to the Pathology lab at Eden Hospital and to the Radiology lab at St. Rose Hospital. They also sponsored speakers from the medical field.

Pioneer Spirit Boosters

The Pioneer Girls, a women's rally organization formed last fall, promoted interest and enthusiasm with its cheering section at the football games. Pioneer Girls are shown below with Louis "Sachmo" Armstrong at his Cal State concert held last fall where the girls served as usherettes.

The Cal State Young Democrats and Young Republicans strive to encourage an interest in the political affairs of their respective parties. Party ideals are fostered by speakers, films, debates, and discussions, giving students an opportunity for expression and active participation. Other campus political clubs include: Libertarian League, Students for a Democratic Society, and Young Americans for Freedom.

Skimboarding in the surf at Sea Cliff.

The Surf, Rugby and Touring Clubs provide opportunity for Cal Staters to learn about and develop an interest in these particular activities. The Rugby Club participates in intercollegiate competition with college rugby teams throughout the state. The Surf Club accepts the challenge of the waves at Santa Cruz and other surfing locales. Members of the Touring Club enjoy just getting out on the open road.

A medley of moods plays upon the face of Professor Norman Cory as he conducts the Concert Band during the annual Fall "Pops" Concert.

The club also performed on K.T.V.U. in a Thanksgiving Show presented by the College Singers in November.

Hours of diligent practice go into making a successful concert. Here orchestra members follow the command of Prof. Harold Paul Whelan at a Tuesday night rehearsal. The College Community Orchestra presented three concerts this year as well as the musical accompaniment for Handel's "Messiah," in a joint presentation with the college choruses.

"Carols of the Season"—The College Singers follow the hand of Prof. Lee Kjelson during Christmas taping at K.T.V.U.

Interpretation

Harpist Randy Pratt, a member of the College singers, provides harp accompaniment for the group.

The College Singers appeared on Channel 2 three times during the fall quarter for Thanksgiving and Christmas programs. During winter quarter they presented a Memorial Concert for Dorothy Williams to raise money for a scholarship fund. In the spring the group traveled to Santa Barbara to sing at the C.M.E.A. convention and appear at Disneyland and in Carmel.

The group also made a tape for "The Voice of America" and a record for nation-wide distribution.

The Pioneers seemed to be one step behind on this one as Don Chu gives chase to a Cal-Davis back.

It was a rocky year for first year Coach Darryl Rogers and his gridders. Lack of depth was certain to reduce the squad's efficiency at the beginning of the '65 season, but it was not until the season progressed, and after injuries and inexperience had taken their toll, that it became obvious how undermanned the Pioneer eleven was.

Despite their losing season, the young Pioneers showed promise as the defense, handicapped by poor field position in the early going, began to jell in the later stages of the season. The offense, so inconsistent throughout the season, also showed signs of coming to life in the last game against a tough Southern Oregon club. With only four footballers lost through graduation, the Pioneers can look forward to 1966 and the first official season as members of the Far Western Conference.

FOSTER, LANGENHEIM PACE PIONEERS TO EVEN SEASON IN F.W.C.

Coach Glenn Albaugh

Led by first-year coach Glen Albaugh and paced by Seniors Howie Foster and John Langenheim, the Pioneers broke even in F.W.C. competition with a 6-6 record. Foster became the most prolific scorer in Cal State history and now holds the single game, season and career scoring records, plus the single game rebound record. Langenheim copped career and season rebounding honors.

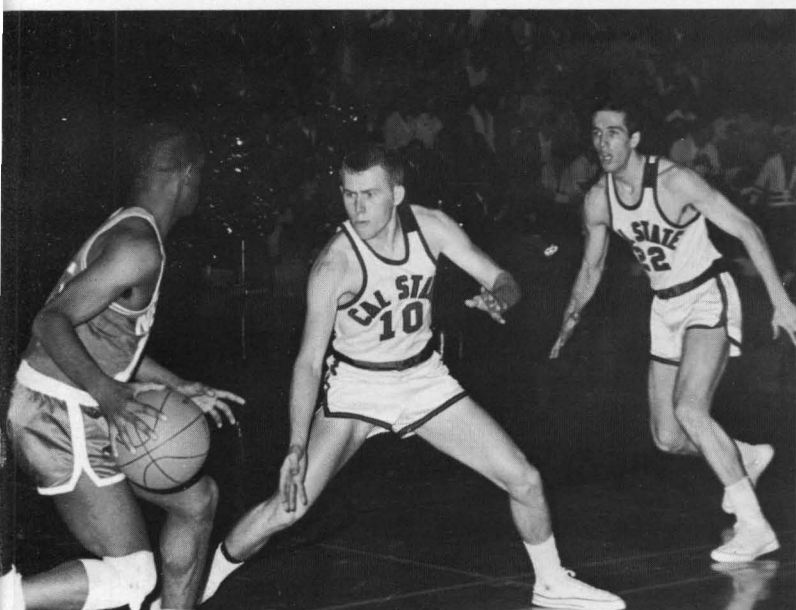

The 1965-66 season was marred by the untimely death of Roosevelt Dunn. Roosevelt, who was doing an outstanding job at forward for the Pioneers, collapsed on the bench during the first San Francisco State game and subsequently died of a heart seizure.

The season was memorable in other ways. It marked the end of an era at Cal State as the Pioneers bade farewell to old Foothill gym which had housed basketball games since the sport's inception at the college. A new 3,000-seat gym is under construction on campus and will be ready for the 1966-67 season.

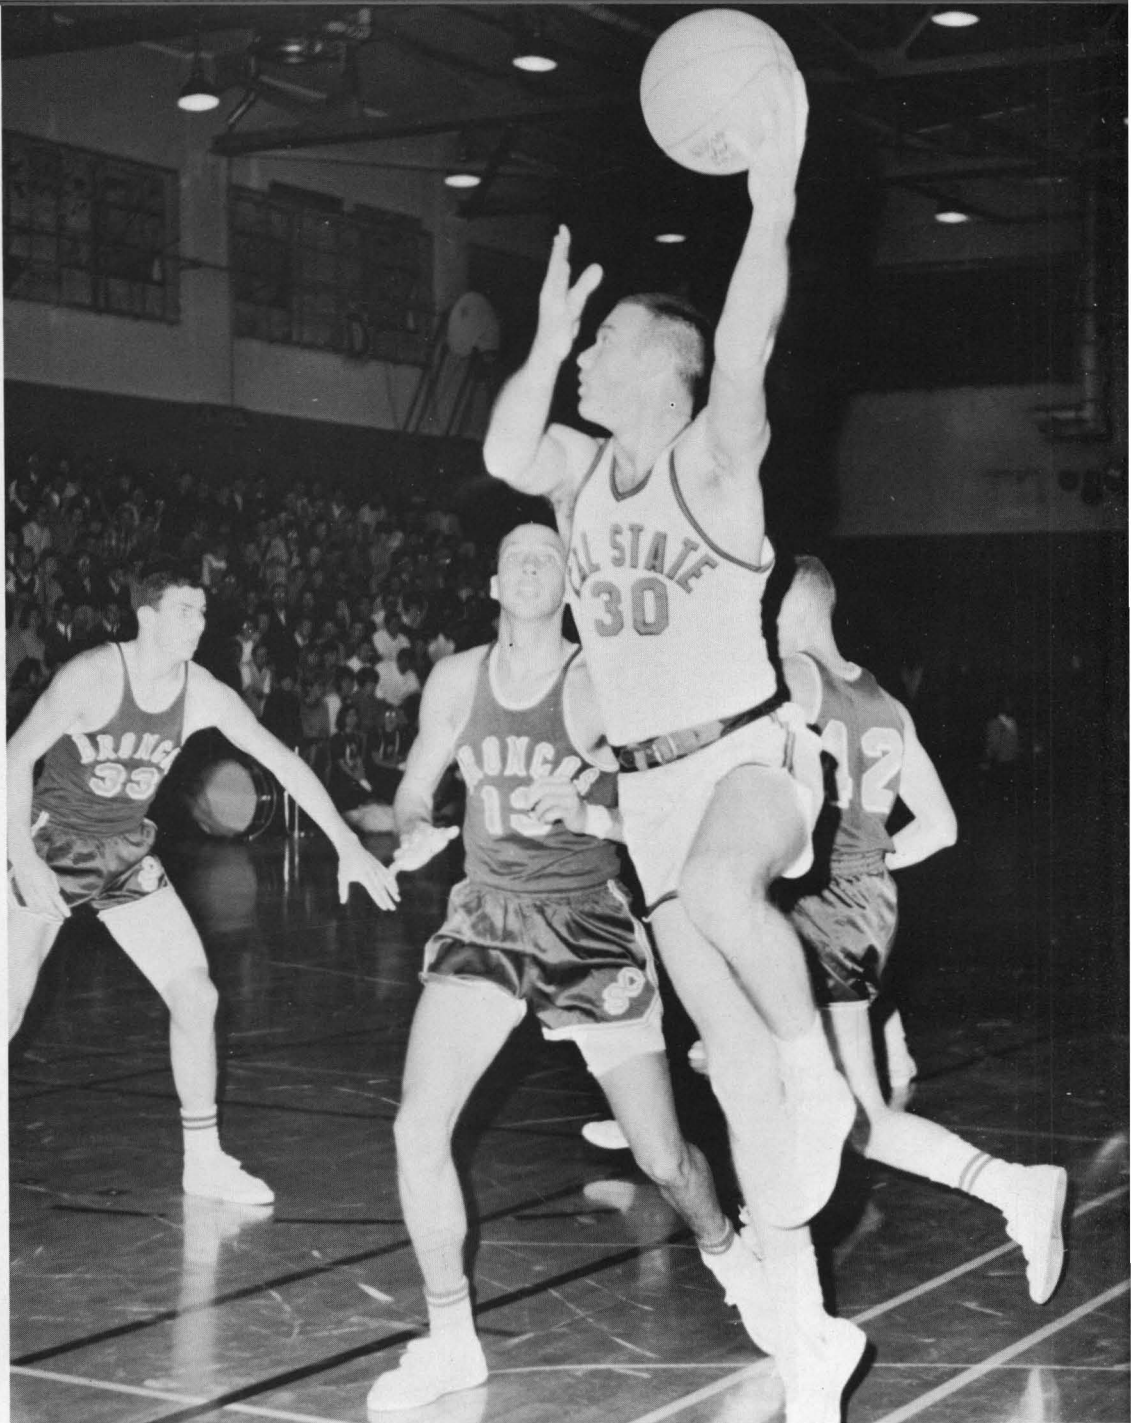

Howard Foster (above) sinks a jump shot despite a straining Santa Clara defender.

With room to spare, Pioneer center John Langenheim pushes the ball towards the basket as Santa Clara defenders watch helplessly.

Extra effort shows on the face of Dave Garcia as he fights for a rebound with UCD players.

Coach Albaugh calls for a time out.

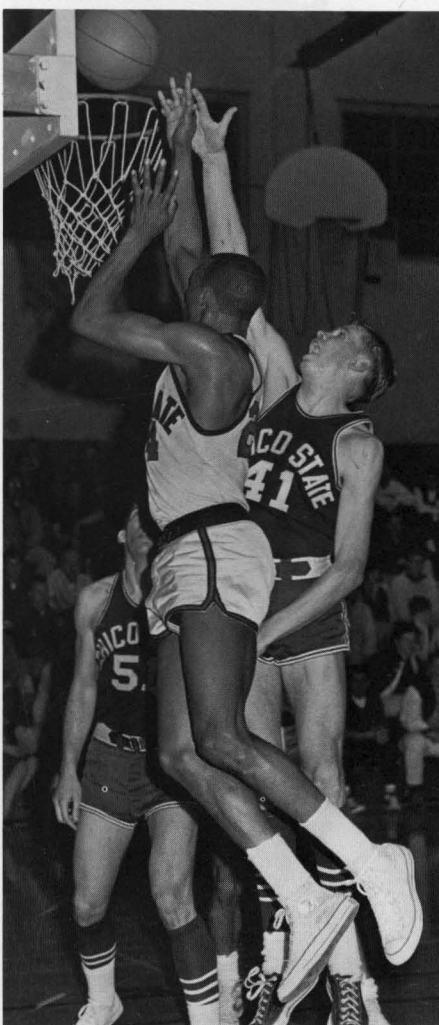

Attentive hoopsters discuss tactics with Coach Albaugh in tense sideline huddle.

Coach Herb Graw

The 1965-66 frosh team was short on talent but long on hustle and desire. Standouts who will bolster the varsity next season were Bill Brink, Fred Noel, Steve Cook and Fred Knott. Center Fred Noel led the frosh with 17.9 points per game despite the fact an injury allowed him to play only 15 games. Noel was also second in rebounding. Bill Brink was the leading rebounder.

A 3-2 win over the California Golden Bears proved to be one of the most satisfying victories for the 1966 Pioneer nine.

When the Elan went to print, it looked as if the Cal State horsehiders would snatch their first F.W.C. crown. The lone heartbreaker for the Pioneers came with a 2-1 loss to Nevada. Coach Mathews' men, however, came back to trounce the Wolfpack 10-2 in the second game of the double-header. At the end of April the Pioneers were in first place with a 5-1 conference record and seemed destined to go all the way.

Pitching and defense were the keys to the success of the '66 baseball team. Bill Remy and transfer Bob McCreery anchored a formidable pitching corps.

Kolbisen, Sutcliffe Pace Pioneer Swimmers

The 1965-66 swim season was a building one for the Pioneers. Cal State finished seventh in F.W.C. competition and had a 1-5 dual meet record.

Breaststrokes John Kolbisen and Dean Sutcliffe were outstanding for the Pioneers. Kolbisen was second in the F.W.C. 100-yard breaststroke and Sutcliffe placed fourth in the conference 200-yard event.

With 11 lettermen expected to return, first-year Coach Don Hudson looks for next year's club to improve upon this season's last place finish.

Best Ever!

Cal State's best ever describes the 1966 golf team. With early season victories over Sacramento State, UC-Davis, Sonoma State and Humboldt State, it looked as if Coach Dale Wren's linksmen would grab the FWC championship. In non-league matches the hilltoppers defeated UC, Berkeley and UOP and lost to San Jose State and the University of Santa Clara.

Lodin Leads 1965 Harriers To Best Record

The harriers, under the guidance of Coach Rivenes, posted the best record of their short history.

Led by Cal State's outstanding distance runner John Lodin, the Pioneers raced to a 7-3 record in dual-meet competition and the Chico State Invationals and fourth place in the FWC championship meet.

Highlights of the season were the triumphs over tough Humboldt State and John Lodin's trip to Illinois for the NCAA Small College meet. Although he failed to win in both the conference and the NCAA meets, Lodin was brilliant throughout the season and set numerous records.

The Pioneers finished the 1965-66 Wrestling dual meet season with a 0-5 Far Western Conference record and were 3-6 for the season. Coach Rivenes attributed the poor win-loss record to lack of depth. "The lack of team strength in practices and meets has hampered the efforts of all the team members" Rivenes said. With most of the team expected to return next year, Rivenes is looking forward to a vastly improved team.

Spikesters Perform Well Against 1966 Cinder Foes

LOW HURDLER Jim Baines beats Santa Clara and Moffett Field men.

CAL STATE'S TOM JONES hurls the javelin 176 feet $5\frac{5}{8}$ inches against the University of Nevada.

Strength in both the field and running events characterized a balanced Pioneer track squad under the direction of coach Lou Comer. The spikesters set their sights on winning first place in the F.W.C.

John Lodin, along with brother Harry, headed the distance runners. John set early season records of 4:15.3 and 9:25.0 in the mile and two-mile races respectively. Lodin also holds the school three-mile and N.C.A.A. six-mile records, both set in 1965.

In the middle distances, Bob Boulton, holder of the school half-mile record (1:55.0) and Rich Begley (1:56.6) gave Cal State a one-two punch. 440-man Calvin King, undefeated in conference competition, has a best of 47.5.

Carl Evans and Dan Waswillos head the sprinters; Evans had times of 10.0 and 22.0 in the 100 and 220 yd. dashes respectively.

These ovalmen were complemented by field stars such as Dave Garcia, who broke his own school record in the triple jump with a leap of 47 feet 1 inch. John Ray provided strength in the triple and long jumps. In the high jump, Larry Cormier, aiming for 7 feet, jumped 6 feet $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches against Southern Oregon. Frank Arias, who stands 5 feet 8 inches, topped 6 feet 8 inches. John Stulgis set a school record in the polevault with a best of 13 feet $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Weightmen Clayton Larsen, Jim Hughes, Darryl Schofield and Jim Wainwright all showed up well. Larsen regularly put the shot over 50 feet and Hughes was a consistent 150 feet with the discus toss.

Victory in the relay events may depend on smooth baton exchanges between runners. Here Calvin King passes the baton to Jim Baines on the third leg of the 440-yard relay.

Anchorman Carl Evans flies across the finish line well ahead of a tired Cal Aggie runner.

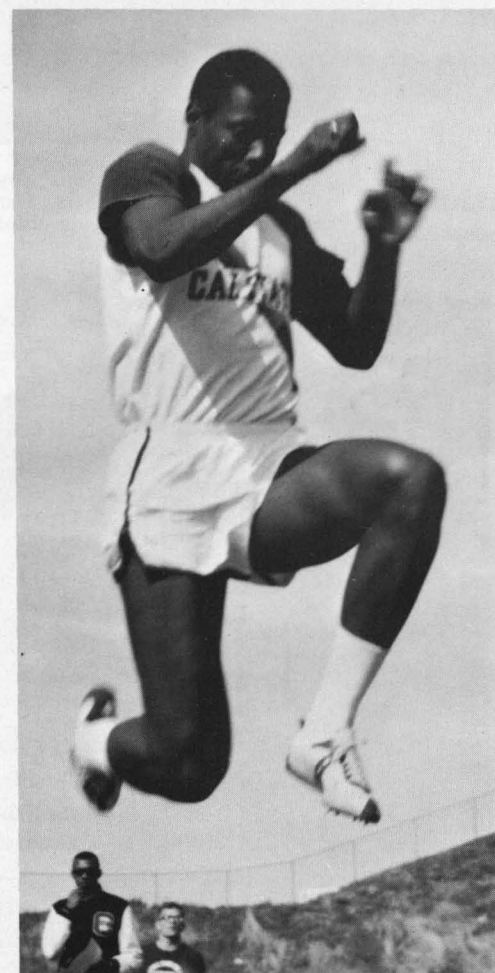

Each muscle of his body strains as Dave Garcia triple jumps against U. C. Davis.

High jumper Larry Cormier sails over crossbars at 6-7 $\frac{3}{4}$ as the Pioneers edged Cal Aggies, 73-72. Cormier, who has cleared 6-9, set his sights on 7-0 feet for the '66 campaign.

Extra emphasis on a quick spin is the object of weightman Jim Hughes as he completes his warmup for the discus.

Darryl Schofield releases another 140 foot throw in the discus.

Demonstrating a devastating defense the Pioneer women finished the 1966 season without a defeat and in so doing gave the women's athletic program at Cal State a much-needed shot in the arm. Highpoints of the season were a victory over Santa Clara and a win in the tournament held at Sacramento State which the distaff cagers won with comparative ease.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA CARNATIONS and ROSES

At right, Union City nurseryman Tom Kitayama presents President Fred Harclerod with two dozen bright red Pioneer Carnations.

The "Pioneer" variety, named for the college by Kitayama, was born as the result of a sport or mutation in the Kitayama Brothers nursery 18 months ago. The sturdy stemmed flower, red in color with 40 to 50 petals, was officially registered this March at the American Carnation Conference.

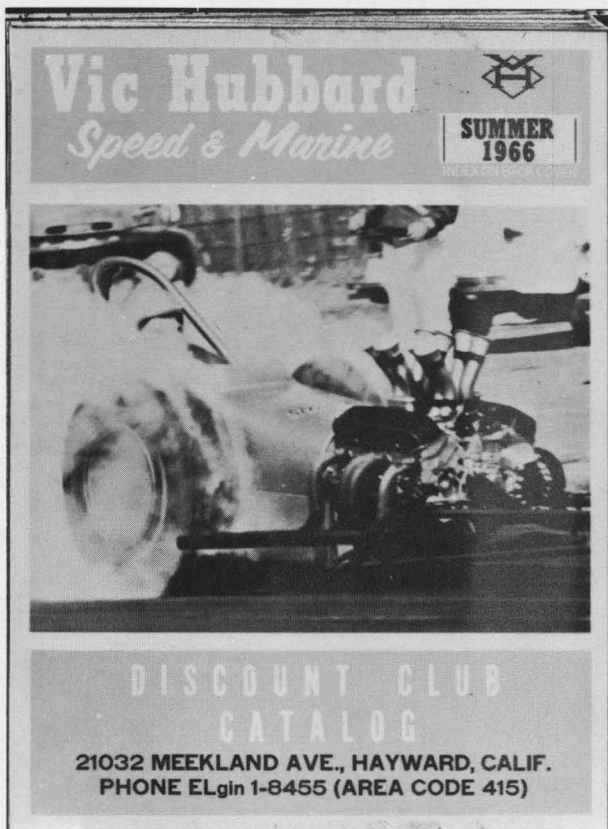

The carnation has been the official Cal State flower since organization of the Hayward campus. A living plant of the Pioneer variety was presented to Cal State in March and is housed in the campus greenhouse.

The "Pioneer" will be on the commercial market early next year, Kitayama said.
