O. M. BRENNAN, Manager.

San Luis Obispo, Tuesday eve. 1890

My Dear Russell.

I came in today. Unfortunately, I had a bad headache and went to bed. I could not stand the intolerable glare of the sun.

Thus it is that I neglected Mrs Janin's strict injunction to get a cook. Will you not please stir up Ah Lue's and make him send one. If word is sent to Eugene, a wagon will meet the Chinaman. It would be better though, for him to stop overnight at Los Olivos with Sing Lee, take the Sta Barbara stage in the morning and he dropped at the ranch by which the stage passes -

We want a good cook which the one we now have is not.

By attending to this you will get me out of a serious scrape with Mr J -

Yours truly
Lewis Janin

My son won't pay our present Chimney in spite of a new one comes. and will collect the passage money due to St Louis -
