... so much of life seems to be in need of justifications, if not for the sake of others then for the self to be able to tolerate the judgements of others...

... it is this stupendous nullification of feeling that one ~~feels~~ needs to understand in view of the extreme degrees of affectation ...

... the ^{Plot}~~pot~~, for me, has come to represent the expression of all that has been learned, that which is now being formed, and... that which can wilfully transpire the revealings of the cyclic phenomina that the Atman smiles within...

... and all loved, embodied in the one form of Vince; a tieing togeather without confinement of the multi-jivamenting ...
