

2. American Government and Institutions (3)

Meets the United States Constitution requirement and the federal, California state and local government requirement. Not open to students with credit in Pl Si 3101. The development and operation of government in the United States; study of how ideas, institutions, laws, and people have constructed and maintained a political order in America.

3. Political Analysis (3)

For Political Science and Public Administration majors; not open to students with credit in Pl Si 1. Classical and contemporary political analysis of the structures, functions, and processes of macro- and micro-political systems; fields of political science; research techniques.

4. The Purposes of Government (3)

A general introduction to the enduring questions of politics which have helped shape Western Political cultures. The centuries-old quest for justice, power, freedom, order, peace, and meaning in history examined in its past and present forms.

5. Government and Society (3)

An ethical and descriptive examination of the scope, role, and direction of government activity; of government as an agent of stability and change; of government as an influence on the realization of personal and social needs and values.

6. Global Politics (3)

Fundamental political problems in a changing international context. Contemporary issues raised by the interdependence of nations and peoples. Includes such subjects as national liberation, energy and resource problems, population problems, the superpowers, and the politics of violence and threat.

10T. Contemporary Issues in Politics (1-3; max total 9 if no topic repeated)

Significant contemporary uses in political theory, world politics, comparative government, American government, local government, public administration, or public opinion.

90. Methods of Quantitative Political Analysis (3)

A quantitative approach to hypothesis testing and problems of evidence and inference in political science. Methods of acquisition of quantitative political data, including aggregate data analysis, content analysis, elite studies, and survey research. Basic statistical analysis.

101. American Constitution, Institutions and Ideals (3)

Meets the United States Constitution requirement. Not open to students below second semester sophomore or with credit in Pl Si 2. Executive, legislative, and judicial functions of our government under the constitution; federal, California state and local governmental relationships.

102. California Government and Institutions (1)

Not open to students with credit in Pl Si 2, 101. Open only to students who have satisfied United States Constitution requirement but have not satisfied California state and local government requirement. Examination of legislative, executive, judicial, and local government problems in California.

POLITICAL THEORY (Pl Si)110. Seminar in History of Political Thought to Machiavelli (3)

Prerequisite: Pl Si 2, and 1 or 3, or permission of instructor. Development of political thought from Plato to Machiavelli: law, justice, the state, authority, forms of government, and church-state relations in light of the philosophy of history.

111. Seminar in History of Political Thought Since Machiavelli (3)

Prerequisite: Pl Si 2, and 1 or 3, or permission of instructor. Freedom and individual rights, democracy, majority rule, equality, law and authority, power, constitutionalism, property, social class and structure, and revolution traced through the writings of Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Hume, Burke, Bentham, Hegel, Tocqueville and Mill.