

Printed on a Ceres Restaurant, Wash DC
place mat:

Summer '66;

The bum in Washinton Square
he digs in the garbage
he sneers at the young passing he stumps, he disappears

;;; and there -
that green statue
so proud in bronze atire...

A man in a hat...
a pipe; he twitches
his mustach, ge gleams
at the cheap resturant menu
he stops, he stares.

One better than the other
"cause one's cloths are clean"
one a bit prouder
"cause garbage he need not sceen."

No better the viewer
who analyzes the scene.
